INTRODUCTION

The Minnesota Employment and Wages by Economic Region and County is published quarterly by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training. The data contained in this publication includes two digits of industry detail wherever possible. To avoid violating data privacy laws and to maintain the mandated confidentiality of individual firm data it was necessary to combine industries wherever there are too few firms in an industry cell. For this reason, some counties show less industry detail than others.

The source of the information is data developed and analyzed by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training. The data is selected from quarterly tax reports submitted by employers covered under the Minnesota unemployment compensation tax law. All individual employer data is confidential. The data selected is reviewed for accuracy and organized in accordance with the U.S. 1987 Standard Industrial Classification Manual. Approximately 97 percent of the total nonagricultural wage and salary employment in Minnesota is included. There are eight categories of workers excluded from coverage under Minnesota State law:

- 1) the self-employed;
- 2) farms with less than four employees in 20 weeks;
- 3) all railroad transportation employment;
- 4) insurance and real estate salespeople who work only on commission basis;
- 5) students working for the school while a full-time student;
- 6) those employed by a church or synagogue for religious work;
- 7) minor children, spouse and parents working for owner of a business;
- 8) elected officials at the Federal, State and Local levels of government.

TERMS

This section defines a number of key terms necessary to use this data.

The term units refers to the number of plant locations or work sites within the industry and county. For example, there are seven units of the U.S. Post Office in Morrison County.

Monthly employment is reported by job site, not residence of the employees and represents a count of workers on employer payrolls for the week including the 12th of the month.

Average employment is calculated by summing the three monthly figures and dividing by 3. Sub-totals do not necessarily add to totals because of rounding.

Total wages represent wages paid during the entire quarter.

The average weekly wage is calculated by dividing total wages paid by average employment and then dividing again by 13. Average weekly wage figures should be used with caution. Some industries have more temporary or part-time workers than others and this has the effect of lowering the average weekly wage. Also, average weekly wages in some industries may be high because of bonuses paid at the end of a year, or because lower-paid seasonal workers were laid off.

Unallocated employment is listed on page 31. It represents employment of traveling salespeople who have no attachment to a specific work site or those few employers who are not able to report multiple business locations separately.

EMPLOYMENT AND WAGES FIRST QUARTER 1993

Covered employment in Minnesota in the first quarter of 1993 declined 2.4 percent from the fourth quarter of 1992 to an average monthly figure of 2,111,121. The average decline in the comparable period in the previous nine years was also 2.4 percent, so employment conditions in the winter of 1992-93 can be said to have been normal.

TRADE suffered the largest seasonal decline, losing an average of 18,457 jobs, a drop of 3.4 percent. A part of this job loss, however, was the result of a survey conducted during 1992 of all covered firms in TRADE, a survey to verify the classification and location codes assigned to these firms. The verification survey resulted in a number of firms being moved to other industrial classifications, with a net loss to TRADE of 3,087 jobs, about one-sixth of the total drop from fourth quarter. Over 2,800 of these jobs were in firms recoded to MANUFACTURING.

As usual CONSTRUCTION was the other big seasonal loser during this period, bottoming out at an average of 63,062 during first quarter 1993. While this figure represents a loss of 17,190 from the previous quarter, it is almost 2,000 more than in first quarter of 1992, and perhaps indicates some improvement in the economy of the region.

MANUFACTURING in Minnesota almost always shows a drop in employment from fourth quarter to first, mainly because of cutbacks in Food Production, which peaks during and right after the harvest, and Concrete Products. Because of the verification survey of firms in TRADE mentioned earlier (modified by an outmigration of firms to other industries from other sources of information), MANUFACTURING showed a drop of only 2,500 jobs. Without the paper increase of reclassification, the loss would have been double that, about 5,060 or 1.3 percent. However, this drop was smaller than in any comparable period since 1988-89.

In seven of the previous ten years, SERVICES showed a loss of employment from the fourth quarter of one year to the first quarter of the next, partly seasonal. This change averaged a minus 4,880 jobs. Employment actually rose in three of the years, averaging a gain of 2,800. During the same period in 1992-93, however, employment in SERVICES fell by 9,130 jobs. Fully fifty percent of this decline came in Personnel Supply Services, which had grown rapidly in 1992 because many firms preferred hiring through temporary agencies, rather than hire permanent employees of their own who might later have to be laid off. The downturn in other industries then caused the layoff of many of these temporary agency employees. The rest of the decline in services from the previous quarter can be explained mostly as a seasonal downturn in Hotels and Lodging Places (minus 1,575) and the reclassification of firms from Engineering and Management (minus 1,610).

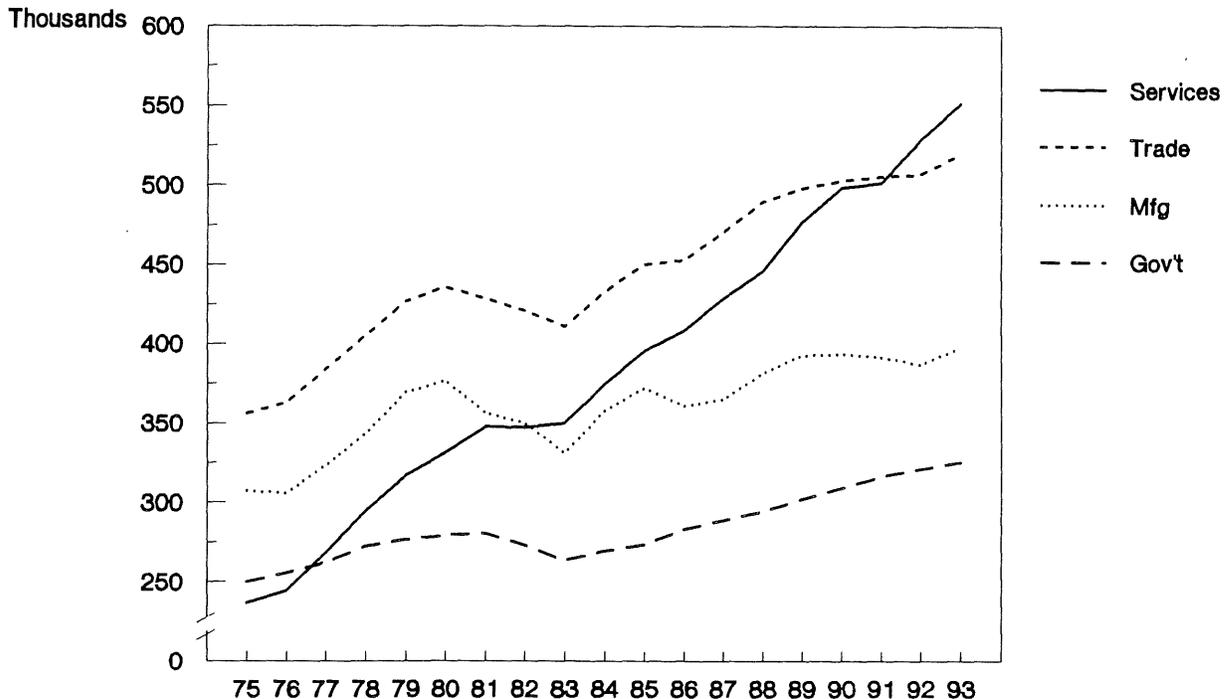

Changes from First Quarter, 1992

Compared to first quarter 1992, average employment in Minnesota rose by 57,385, a 2.8 percent increase. This amounts to both the largest numerical increase and the largest percentage increase in the comparable quarters since 1988-89. The increase from first quarter 1990 to first quarter 1991 was just 0.8 percent and from 1991-92 only 1.4 percent, so again perhaps there is evidence of an improving economy.

MINING and TRANSPORTATION were the only Private Sector industries that experienced a drop in employment over the one year period from first quarter 1992. The Iron Mining industry lost 358 jobs, a 5.8 percent drop. While only a tiny jolt in the total state economy, those lost jobs are significant in the affected areas of Northeastern Minnesota. Total wages in Metal Mining were down 13.6 percent from first quarter 1992, meaning a loss of $8.4 million on the Iron Range. The Motor Freight, Water Transportation, and Air Transportation industries together saw a loss of just 530 jobs statewide, a 1.0 percent decline. Total Wages were down about $15.8 million for the quarter, a drop of 3.8 percent.

All other industrial divisions reported some gain in employment over the previous first quarter, again led by SERVICES. Despite the downturn from fourth quarter 1992 mentioned earlier, SERVICES provided 22,500 more jobs than a year ago, a 4.3 percent gain. Approximately 60 percent of this employment increase came in the areas of Business Services (6,580), Health Services (4,200) and Social Services (2,580).

First Quarter Employment in Four Major Minnesota Industries 1975-93

Employment growth in TRADE was mostly limited to Retail which rose by 12,850 or 3.4 percent. Most of this increase over first quarter 1992 came in Eating and Drinking Places (3,800), Miscellaneous Retail (2,200), Apparel and Accessory Stores (1,840), Food Stores (1,640), and Furniture and Home Furnishing Stores (1,620). The fact that 7,258 of these new retail jobs are in Hennepin County probably reflects the opening of the Bloomington Megamall in August of 1992. Wholesale Trade actually gained about 2,400 jobs since the previous first quarter, but the coding verification survey mentioned earlier wiped out that increase by sending firms with about 2,530 employees to other industrial classifications.

After adjusting for the results of the survey and reclassification mentioned earlier, MANUFACTURING posted 7,540 actual new jobs since first quarter 1992, a 1.9 percent growth rate. New jobs came mostly in Food Production (1,175), Printing and Publishing (1,140), Miscellaneous Manufacturing (1,015), and Lumber and Wood Products (890). FINANCE, INSURANCE and REAL ESTATE provided 4,832 more jobs, most of them in Nondepository Credit Institutions (1,539) and Security and Commodity Brokers (1,172). Finally, the CONSTRUCTION industry posted 63,062 jobs in this first quarter, a 3.2 percent increase over 1992. Approximately 1,400 of the 1,720 actual new jobs were in Special Trades.

Total Government employment in Minnesota in first quarter 1993 was up by 4,878 over the previous year even though both Federal and State employment were down slightly. Federal employment in Minnesota fell by 951 jobs, or 2.8 percent, and Federal wages paid in Minnesota dropped by over $9 million. State employment over the year shrank by 614, almost exactly 1.0 percent. Local Government employment rose by 6,430, a gain of 2.9 percent, 4,878 in Metropolitan Region 11 and 1,942 in Greater Minnesota. The areas of greatest growth were Schools (3,470), Executive and Legislative (1,314) and Health Services (724).

Employment Distribution by Size of Firm and Industry

Each year the Research Office of the Minnesota Department of Jobs and Training prepares a survey of all firms covered by the state Unemployment Insurance Laws showing the number and percentage of establishments that fall into various size groupings and the number and percentage of employees in those establishments. The survey also includes the percentage of establishments in each major industry and the percentage of employees in each industry. The size codes are established by the Bureau of Labor Statistics

The word establishment as used in this survey means any "employing unit" of any firm, and in Minnesota we have over 6,600 firms that are "multiple unit" accounts with over 28,000 employment units or establishments. For example, a large retail firm might have over 5,000 employees who work in 30 stores around the state. The firm would not be counted as one establishment in the 1,000+ size range, but rather as 30 establishments in the 100-249 size range.

Another important point is that the distribution is based on employment reported in March of each year, and employment in Minnesota can be strongly affected by the season. If a summer month had been chosen for the survey probably the number of establishments reporting zero employment would go down; the percentage of employees in the Agriculture and Construction industries would probably be up considerably.

The results of the 1993 survey are printed below and ensuing studies will appear in each first quarter publication. There is a historical series available, as well as Twin Cities SMSA data, and interested parties may receive previous surveys by calling (612) 296-3727.
