A MESSAGE FROM GOVERNOR ARNE H. CARLSON

The State of Minnesota is emerging as an international leader in the environmental industry. Environmental legislation first enacted in Minnesota has in many areas become the standard for the United States.

Because Minnesota respects the environment and recognizes the importance of supporting the development of environmental technologies, the state is home to an innovative, thriving environmental industry.

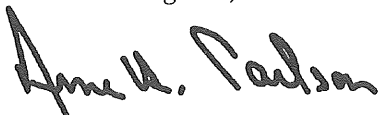

Minnesota companies hold a special leadership position in the areas of wastewater treatment, solid waste management and industrial pollution source reduction.

As the birthplace of the Mississippi River and with more than 10,000 lakes within its borders, Minnesota is especially attuned to water quality. Approximately 120 water purification and treatment companies are located in the state. Ground water and wastewater treatment are specialties among many of our environmental consulting firms.

This compilation of 300 environmental technology firms in Minnesota is proof positive that Minnesota is one of the world's leading providers of environmental technology, products and consultation.

I hope you will find this directory a practical business tool. Should you require more information on Minnesota's environmental technology industry, please contact the Minnesota Trade Office.

Warmest regards,

ARNE H. CARLSON
Governor

INTRODUCTION

Since the publication of the original Minnesota Environmental Protection Industry Directory in 1992 and the Supplement in 1993, the Minnesota Trade Office (MTO) has conducted several surveys of this growing industry sector. The result is this 1995 edition of the Minnesota Environmental Technologies Export Directory.

Minnesota has been recognized nationwide for environmental management excellence and as one of the leaders in the field of environmental technologies. The state's strict regulatory guidelines together with innovative voluntary programs by businesses, communities and individuals have helped Minnesota preserve its beautiful and plentiful resources.

The directory lists 290 environmental technology companies with international experience or who are prepared to enter international markets. They are ready to discuss joint ventures and licensing agreements, agent representation and distributorships. Also included are 16 auxiliary organizations that can provide a wide range of information and assistance in matters concerning the environment.

The directory is one of the most comprehensive listings of Minnesota's environmental technology companies today. We would like to acknowledge the assistance of Minnesota Trade Office interns Tauna Szymanski and Greg Garramone in compiling and organizing this directory.

INDEX — Industry Sector Introduction

The following index was designed for simplicity in identifying companies providing products and services. It is divided into four major categories, air, water, soil, and waste, plus a miscellaneous section to include a variety of services and products not directly related to the major categories identified.

For example, if you are looking for storage tanks, or landfill liners, conveying systems, or bio-degradable loose fill packing material, go to the “equipment/materials” column under the miscellaneous section. Then turn to the page with the company’s description to find your supplier.

Or, if you need architectural services for eco-tourism designs, you would turn to the “services” column under the miscellaneous section.

We hope that this category system will make the directory easy to use. We welcome any suggestions and comments that would assist us in making the next edition even better.
