INTRODUCTION

The Minnesota Employment and Wages by Economic Region and County is published quarterly by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Economic Security. The data contained in this publication includes two digits of industry detail wherever possible. To avoid violating data privacy laws and to maintain the mandated confidentiality of individual firm data it was necessary to combine industries wherever there are too few firms in an industry cell. For this reason, some counties show less industry detail than others.

The source of the information is data developed and analyzed by the Research and Statistics Office of the Minnesota Department of Economic Security. The data is selected from quarterly tax reports submitted by employers covered under the Minnesota unemployment compensation tax law. All individual employer data is confidential. The data selected is reviewed for accuracy and organized in accordance with the U.S. 1987 Standard Industrial Classification Manual. Approximately 97 percent of the total nonagricultural wage and salary employment in Minnesota is included. There are eight categories of workers excluded from coverage under Minnesota State law:

- 1) the self-employed;
- 2) farms with less than four employees in 20 weeks;
- 3) all railroad transportation employment;
- 4) insurance and real estate salespeople who work only on commission basis;
- 5) students working for the school while a full-time student;
- 6) those employed by a church or synagogue for religious work;
- 7) minor children, spouse and parents working for owner of a business;
- 8) elected officials at the Federal, State and Local levels of government.

TERMS

This section defines a number of key terms necessary to use this data.

The term units refers to the number of plant locations or work sites within the industry and county. For example, there are seven units of the U.S. Post Office in Morrison County.

Monthly employment is reported by job site, not residence of the employees and represents a count of workers on employer payrolls for the week including the 12th of the month.

Average employment is calculated by summing the three monthly figures and dividing by 3. Sub-totals do not necessarily add to totals because of rounding.

Total wages represent wages paid during the entire quarter.

The average weekly wage is calculated by dividing total wages paid by average employment and then dividing again by 13. Average weekly wage figures should be used with caution. Some industries have more temporary or part-time workers than others and this has the effect of lowering the average weekly wage. Also, average weekly wages in some industries may be high because of bonuses paid at the end of a year, or because lower-paid seasonal workers were laid off.

Unallocated employment is listed on page 31. It represents employment of traveling salespeople who have no attachment to a specific work site or those few employers who are not able to report multiple business locations separately.

AA 1993

THE MINNESOTA ECONOMY IN GENERAL

The Minnesota economy continues to expand after the recent business recession. During calendar year 1993 average covered employment in Minnesota rose by 55,668 to a total of 2,172,081 jobs. This was a 2.6 percent growth rate, a slight increase over the 2.3 percent increase seen between 1991 and 1992, and a big improvement over the 0.4 percent rate seen between 1990 and 1991. In absolute terms this is the best annual performance since the five year high of 2.94 percent seen between 1988 and 1989 when almost 58,000 jobs were added to the state economy. The annual figures confirm declining unemployment rates seen particularly during the last half of 1993. The overall picture is one of continuing recovery from a business recession.

DATA BASE CHANGES

The data base used to build the state industrial profile is actually a large file of individual employer reports that come in each quarter to the reemployment insurance system. Minnesota employers are a dynamic group. Businesses are created or terminated every day as employers enter or leave the marketplace. Businesses change their product groups or substantially modify the type of work they do. Businesses change location, either by physically relocating or by opening/closing a new plant location. One characteristic of the employers is that they can change faster than the tax file can change.

Each year, as part of a three year cycle, the Department of Economic Security contacts one third of all Minnesota employers to verify their industrial activity and their location. Verification allows us to update our master file and catch changes we would otherwise miss. These changes, both in industry coding and geographic coding, represent changes that we did not learn about at the time they happened. To protect our sample programs, we make these changes only once a year. Between fourth quarter of 1992 and first quarter of 1993 we changed the coding of approximately 4,150 firms.

Part of the location verification process includes our continuing effort to have employers with more than one physical location in Minnesota report their employment and wages by work site locations instead of to their corporate headquarters locations. This tends to make it look as if the Twin Cities is losing employment, when in fact all that is occurring is correct reporting of employment where it already exists. These geographic changes also take effect between calendar years.

DISTRIBUTION OF GAINS NOT EVEN

While nearly all sectors showed positive change, growth in the economy is not evenly distributed. FINANCE, INSURANCE, AND REAL ESTATE led the growth with a 4.4 percent increase, primarily in non-depository credit institutions. SERVICES was close behind with a 3.9 percent increase. These two industries accounted for 43.4 percent of the employment increase. Only MINING showed declining employment, however, losing 311 positions between the two years.

MANUFACTURING continued to expand in 1993, adding 9,159 jobs. Industrial and Commercial Machinery and Computer Equipment had the strongest growth with 2,834 additional jobs. This increase is actually even more impressive since 1,674 jobs were recoded to other industries and only 900 added through the coding verification process. Printing and Publishing grew by an apparent 1,000 jobs. Of this increase, however, 895 jobs came in from other industries while only 175 jobs moved to other industries. It appears that the growth in Printing and Publishing is slowing. Miscellaneous MANUFACTURING increased by just over 1,500. But 840 jobs were moved into this industry with only 337 jobs moved to other industries.

AGRICULTURE and TRANSPORTATION had smaller increases than anticipated because of the summer flooding. CONSTRUCTION and GOVERNMENT both grew by less than two percent. The strongest growth in CONSTRUCTION was in the area of Special Trade Contractors. This industry exported 300 jobs to other industries and still grew by 2.7 percent. The growth leader in Special Trades was Plumbing, Heating, and Air Conditioning with an increase of about 600 jobs. GOVERNMENT growth was strongest in Local Government. Within Local Government, school employment increased by three percent or 3,600 jobs.

The growth in FINANCE INSURANCE AND REAL ESTATE did not come from other industries and is tied to lower interest rates for mortgages.

TRADE increased between 1992 and 1993 by 12,666 jobs or 2.4 percent. Wholesale Trade showed only moderate growth, with the strongest growth in Retail Trade in Bars and Restaurants, Food Stores, and Miscellaneous Retail. Bars and Restaurants increased by 4,100 jobs. While the industry netted 500 jobs from other industries, the rest of the growth is additional jobs. Food Stores netted only 132 jobs from other industries. The rest of the 1,500 increased jobs were new. Miscellaneous Retail Trade grew by 2,400, with just over 600 of those jobs coming from other industries. The largest gains occurred in Nonstore Retailers, up 11 percent, and Liquor Stores, up nine percent.

The growth in SERVICES comes partly from code changes, but mostly from employment gains. The industries within SERVICES that gained over five percent were Business Services with strong growth in Temporary Help Agencies and Computer Programming and Related Services; Motion Pictures where Video Tape Rental continues to expand; Amusement and Recreation where a decline in Commercial Sports was completely obscured by the continued expansion of Minnesota's casinos; and Social Services where residential care showed steady growth throughout 1993. The growth in Private Household employment occurs every four years.
