

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 1 JANUARY 11, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

What is 'Session Weekly'?

Session Weekly is part of the Minnesota House of Representatives public information service. Each week it includes: 1) a list of bill introductions, 2) the weekly advance committee schedule, 3) House floor and committee action on bills, and 4) highlights of committee and House action.

Coverage of committee action will tell you if the committee recommended a bill to pass, pass as amended, recommended that a bill not pass, or rereferred it to another committee for further consideration.

Coverage of House action will follow what happens to bills on a calendar for action by the full House. (See "How a Bill Becomes a Law" in this issue.)

The House also has two call-in telephone lines: 1) "House Calls," a committee information line, (612) 296-9283, a recorded listing of committee meeting times and agendas; and 2) House Bill Status Line, (612) 297-1264, a recorded message of each day's committee action on bills.

For further help in following the Legislature, or for answers to general questions you may have, call the Minnesota House of Representatives Information Office, (612) 296-2146.

Minnesota House Opens 74th Session

"He was smart enough to get into law school, but had the good judgment to leave after a year," said Rep. Kathleen Blatz (IR-Bloomington), herself a newly admitted attorney, in her nomination of Rep. David Jennings (IR-Truman) for speaker of the Minnesota House. It was Tuesday, Jan. 8, the first day of the 74th legislative session.

Nominee for speaker on the DFL side was Rep. Willard Munger (DFL-Duluth), a 13-term veteran of the House and respected environmentalist. Jennings as nominee of the new IR majority, won the election on a 69-65 party-line vote.

The session focused on formalities—the election of the speaker, the swearing in of members, the election of House officers, and the adoption of temporary rules—all necessary to get the House ready for business as usual.

All revenue bills must originate in the House, and in the first year of the biennium, legislators will take up the major appropriations and tax bills. They'll also determine the state's budget for the next two years.

Under the state constitution, the Legislature can meet up to 120 "legislative" days each biennium, a legislative day being one on which either the House or Senate is in session. The '85 session is likely to last until May 20—the constitutional deadline for adjournment.

House committees will begin meeting Jan. 16. And the full House will convene on Monday and Thursday afternoons at 2 p.m. until the schedule requires daily meetings.

First House action

On Jan. 10, in one of the first actions of the 74th legislative session, the Minnesota House voted 67-59 against a motion to vote on a bill allowing the deductibility of individual retirement accounts (IRS's) on Minnesota income tax returns.

Author of the bill, HF31, Rep. Wes Skoglund (DFL-Mpls) made the motion to suspend the constitution and have an immediate vote on the $64 million proposal.

- For up-to-date committee meeting times and agendas, call:

HOUSE CALLS
(612) 296-9283

Speaking against the motion was Rep. John Himle (IR-Bloomington) who said there was no emergency to pass the legislation prior to committee hearing and debate.

So far, legislators have introduced 31 bills. (See "Bill Introductions" in this issue.) Eighteen of those went to the Committee on Taxes, three to the Committee on Rules and Legislative Administration, and two each to the Local and Urban Affairs and Environment and Natural Resources Committees.

One bill each went to committees on: Agriculture, Governmental Operations, Education, General Legislation and Veterans Affairs, Judiciary, and Transportation. All committees meetings are open to the public.

The House will convene again on Thursday, Jan. 17 at 12 noon.

High Tech Conference

The Minnesota House of Representatives will not convene on Mon., Jan. 14 to allow legislators to attend the High Technology Conference at the Minnesota Science Museum on Jan. 14 and 15.

'State of the State is better' — Perpich

In the first prime-time broadcast of the State of the State message Gov. Rudy Perpich, Jan. 10, told legislators and television viewers about his vision for the state in the mid-1980's.

"The state of the state is greatly improved and getting better," said Perpich, updating his speech of two years ago when he called the state of the state "not good." Perpich says Minnesota has more people working now than ever before, an improving credit rating, money in the bank, and an economy that's turned around.

"The key to Minnesota's success," said Perpich, "lies in our ability to adapt the state to a nation and a world of profound change."

Perpich asked lawmakers to take action that he says would make the state more competitive: cut personal income taxes and simplify tax forms; control state spending and guarantee fiscal stability; improve education; and increase efforts in economic development and international trade.

The governor says his plan to cut personal income taxes would save Minnesotans $604 million, and put the state at number 18 instead of number one in taxation in the 50 states, for some wage earners.

Budget plans for 1985-'86, says Perpich, include holding average spending increases to less than six percent a year, and keeping a $500 million budget reserve. Perpich also announced his support of a constitutional amendment to require a balanced federal budget.

Calling education the "fuel that drives the engine of economic growth and job creation in American's modern society," Perpich touched on his "Access to Excellence" plan to improve the state's education system. He said his proposal will strengthen local control and allow parents and students to make more decisions about education.

Finally, Perpich pledged to continue to support those suffering from unemployment and troubles on the farm. "I will not rest in my efforts until all Minnesotans share in our improving economy," he said.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, Room 9, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-2146.

INFO

How a bill becomes a law

● A bill is an idea for a new law, or an idea to abolish or change an existing law. Several thousand bills enter the legislative process in Minnesota each time the Legislature meets.

● Minnesota has a bicameral Legislature, or two groups of elected citizens—senators in the Senate—representatives in the House of Representatives—who study, discuss, and vote on bills, acting for the people of Minnesota. Bills begin their legislative journey in either the House or Senate, or both. To become a law, all bills must pass both the House and Senate and go to the governor for his approval and signature.

● The Idea

Anyone can propose an idea for a bill—an individual, a consumer group, corporation, professional association, a governmental unit, the governor. Most ideas come from members of the Legislature. The revisor of statutes puts the ideas into proper legal form as a bill for introduction. Only legislators can introduce bills into the process.

● Chief Author

The legislator who sponsors and introduces the bill in the Legislature is the chief author. The chief author's name appears on the bill with the bill's file number to identify it as it moves through the legislative process. The chief author may select other authors, whose names also appear on the bill—no more than five authors on a bill.

● Introduction in the legislature

When the author introduces a bill in the House, it gets a House File

(HF) number (HF264, for example), indicating the chronological order of the bill's introduction. In the Senate the bill gets a Senate File (SF) (SF224, for example). Each HF usually has a companion SF in the Senate. All revenue-raising bills must begin in the House.

● Committee consideration

At introduction, the bill has its first reading (the Minnesota Constitution requires three readings for all bills—on three separate days). The presiding officer of the House or Senate refers it to an appropriate standing committee for committee action. All committee meetings are open to the public.

A committee may: recommend passage of a bill in its original form; recommend passage after amendment by the committee; or make no recommendation, in which case a bill may die when the session ends. After acting on a bill, the committee sends a report to the House or Senate, stating its actions and recommendations.

● General orders

After adoption of the committee report in the House and Senate, the bill has its second reading and goes onto General Orders of the Day. In the Committee of the Whole, legislators discuss bills on General Orders. They may debate the issues, adopt amendments, and present arguments. They may vote to recommend that a bill "do pass," recommend postponement, or recommend further committee action.

● Calendar

The calendar is a list of bills the Committee of the Whole recommends to pass. At this point a bill has its third reading. Amendments to the bill must have the unanimous consent of the entire body. Legislators vote on it for the final time.

By committee recommendation, non-controversial bills can by-pass General Orders and go directly onto a Consent Calendar, usually passing without debate. Every bill requires a majority vote of the full membership of the House and Senate to pass.

● Conference committee

If the House and Senate do not agree on a bill, a conference committee of three to five senators, and an equal number of representatives, meets to reach an agreement. If both bodies then pass the bill in compromise form, it goes to the governor.

● Governor

When a bill arrives at the governor's office, he may: sign it, and the bill becomes law; veto it (return it, with a "veto message," stating his objections); pocket veto the bill (after final adjournment of the Legislature); exercise his right to line veto portions of appropriations bills.

If he does not sign or veto a bill within three days after receiving it, while the Legislature is in session, the bill becomes law.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 2 • JANUARY 18, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

Appropriations hears two commissioners

Department Commissioners Sandra Hale of Administration and Gus Donhowe of the Finance presented their department overviews, requests, and highlights for the coming year to the full Appropriations Committee Jan. 17.

Hale said her department's mission is "to assure state departments spend wisely", and continue to manage the state government's information and telecommunication resources. Her budget request for fiscal year 1985 is $31.6 million. Hale also introduced a new management program, "STEP," (Strive Toward Excellence in Performance) for improving efficiency of state agencies. She said, too, that the employees' suggestion box yielded ideas worth $600,000 in savings in 1984.

Donhowe announced his forecast for the state budget legislators will work on this session as they decide on state spending for the 1986-87 biennium. According to current projections, the state will have $12 billion. Subtract from that the governor's proposed $600 million tax cut and $500 million reserve fund and the legislators have about $11 billion to pay the state's way for the coming biennium.

MIA resolution gets committee approval

A resolution memorializing Congress and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam to take all possible action to determine the fate of service people missing in action (MIA's) got the approval of the General Legislation and Veterans Affairs Committee on Jan. 17.

Author Chuck Dimler (IR-Chanhassen) said the resolution, HF89, is "making a strong indication that Minnesotans wish to encourage the speedy compliance with the Paris Peace Accord that was signed on Jan. 27, 1973."

The Minnesota Chapter of the National League of Families is sponsoring a candlelighting ceremony on Sunday, Jan. 27, at the St. Paul Armory on behalf of those families who still have members missing in action in Southeast Asia, said Dimler.

According to the league, 2,483 Americans, including 50 Minnesotans remain unaccounted for. The bill now goes to the Rules Committee.

State employee pay system reviewed

On Jan. 17, members of the Governmental Operations Committee heard an overview of pay systems for state employees and heads of state agencies.

Mark Shepard, House Research staff, told members that about 90 percent of the state work force is unionized. Therefore, the majority of compensation setting takes place in a collective bargaining process the Legislature set up (the Public Employment Labor Relations Act).

The process goes like this: Union representatives and the commissioner of Employee Relations work out a bargaining agreement for any of the state's 16 bargaining units. The Legislative Commission on Employee Relations (LCER) reviews the agreement and gives it to the Legislature for approval. Bargaining takes place in odd-numbered years of the biennium.

People in managerial positions come under the commissioner of Employee Relations' "Managerial Plan", Shepard says. Another "Commissioner's Plan" covers non-unionized state employees in miscellaneous fields, such as the Bureau of Mediation Services. Both plans need legislative approval.

The Legislature sets pay ranges ($40,000 - $70,000) for state agency heads, and the governor decides what commissioners' salaries will be. His salary recommendations then must get legislative approval.

Junior legislators meet

The 31st annual "Youth in Government" convention meets in the State Capitol Jan. 17-20. The Minnesota YMCA sponsors the convention to "encourage life-long, responsible citizenship." Twenty-five delegations attending include 800 high school students from all over the state.

Rep. Peter Rodosovich (DFL-Faribault), in his second year as state director of the Y's "Youth in Government" program, sees the program as an opportunity for participants to "understand the process and what it's like to be a legislator." Rodosovich is one of three former program participants currently in the Minnesota House of Representatives. The others are Craig Shaver (IR-Wayzata) and Mark Piepho (IR-Mankato).

Health and Human Services Committee organizes

The Health and Human Services Committee met for the first time Thursday, Jan. 17.

Chair Tony Onnen (IR-Cokato) said he wants the committee to play an important and realistic role in determining public policy.

To do this, Onnen created two subcommittees: Health Care and Social Services to allow people full opportunity to testify.

The full committee meets Tuesday, Jan. 22 at 10 a.m.

Committee OKs tax-free mortgage subsidy bonds

Holders of mortgage subsidy bonds would get tax free interest under a bill the House Tax Committee approved on Thursday, Jan. 17. Author Sidney Pauly (IR-Eden Prairie) said the state has previously allowed this interest tax free, but federal tax changes require Minnesota to pass HF2 if the policy is to continue.

Jim Solem, executive director of the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency, said these bonds finance the low interest mortgage loans first-time home buyers receive from the state. Failing to adopt the bill would seriously jeopardize the program. Investors would find taxable bonds much less attractive than non-taxable bonds, he said.

The committee failed to adopt an amendment which would have made the interest on 1984 bonds taxable.

The bill now goes to the floor of the House.

Governmental Operations Committee hears from Pension Commission

"The Legislature established the Pension Commission as an interim commission in 1955 when Public Employees Retirement Association (PERA) was going bankrupt, and there were no regular evaluations of how pension plans were functioning," said Karen Dudley. Dudley, from the commission's staff, gave an overview of Minnesota's public pension plans to the House Governmental Operations Committee at a Jan. 16 meeting.

The Pension Commission became a permanent body in 1967. It's made up of five representatives and five senators (not yet appointed for this biennium). Dudley said duties include: studying public pension plans and funds; recommending action for sound pension policy; reporting to the Legislature; and analyzing legislation and amendments.

Monitoring the plans has become a big job over the years. At the end of fiscal year 1983, Dudley said, active pension fund members totaled 227,303; liability for all funds came to $9.3 billion; and total assets amounted to $5.8 billion. The $9.3 billion is the expected value in benefits that funds will have to pay members after retirement.

Committee chair, Rep. Gerald Knickerbocker (IR-Hopkins), said the committee will meet the week of Jan. 21-25 to take up legislation the Senate's worked on dealing with the PERA leadership issue.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. ## Crime and Family Law becomes standing committee

For the past two years, the Criminal Justice Division of the Judiciary Committee heard issues relating to crime. This year, Crime and Family Law is a separate committee. Rep. Kathleen Blatz (IR-Bloomington), chair, says the committee will handle bills that give criminal penalties and deal with family issues, such as sexual abuse of children.

In a Jan. 16 organizational meeting, committee members heard from the departments of Corrections and Public Safety, Minnesota Sentencing Guidelines Commission, and Attorney General's Office.

Commissioner of Corrections Orville Pung said the department employs 1,856 staff members, and runs on a 1985 budget of $107 million (figures include federal funds). Pung said the department's responsible for a number of functions from operating prison systems and juvenile programs, to providing programs for battered women and sexual assault victims.

Debra Dailey of the Sentencing Guidelines Commission said a three-year study of the guidelines (enacted in 1980), shows they're achieving their goals. An increased number of offenders who commit crimes against other people go to jail; fewer property offenders get jail sentences; and sentences are more uniform.

The committee plans to take a look at Stillwater and Oak Park Heights prison facilities on Monday, Jan. 21.

House Ag Committee meetings begin

"Free, fair, and open discussion," is what Rep. K.J. McDonald (IR-Watertown), chair, said he expects from Agriculture Committee members this session.

McDonald outlined committee procedures and goals at a Jan. 16 meeting. And the committee heard a briefing from the Department of Agriculture and the University of Minnesota's Agricultural Extension Service on their programs and services.

Rollin Dennistoun, deputy commissioner of the Department of Agriculture, said the department will introduce legislation that would change the family farm security program, and a bill on soil conservation this session.

Dennistoun said the department, the only state agency that deals with agriculture and agri-business, continues services in areas of trade and promotion, soil and water conservation, dairy and grain inspection, livestock licensing and weighing, and farm programs including the ag development grant program and the farm advocate program.

Pat Borich, dean of directors for the University's Agricultural Extension Service, told committee members that "helping farm families" is what the educational outreach program "is all about."

The nationally recognized Extension Service offers educational programs in: agriculture, home economics, 4H, and community and natural resource development.

New House members review law-making process

New House members reviewed the ins and outs of the legislative process at an orientation meeting with Chief Clerk Edward A. Burdick on Wednesday, Jan. 16.

Wednesday's session was part of a "Wednesday at 2" series of meetings to brief new members on the techniques of the legislative process. The meeting on the 16th began with a capsule history of the House chamber and a step-by-step look at the process a bill follows on its way to becoming Minnesota law.

Burdick explained the use of the sound and electronic voting systems in the House, the meaning of legislative terms, calendars, and parliamentary rules and procedures that make the process work.

The "Wednesday at 2" series of meetings for members continues on Jan. 23, 30, and Feb. 6 in the House chamber.

House members look at high technology industry

Legislators met with high tech industry leaders Jan. 14-15 to learn and to share ideas about the future of the industry in Minnesota.

The two-day seminar, "Minnesota's High Technology Industry — Its Impact: Now and in the Future," under the sponsorship of the Minnesota High Technology Council, the Office of Senate Counsel and Research, and the State Planning Agency, was part of Minnesota High Technology Week, Jan. 14-20.

The week began with panel discussions on the current and future role of high technology in Minnesota's economic development, and what the industry needs in order to grow and prosper in Minnesota. The state is currently "home" to more than 2100 high tech companies.

Discussions focused on: the character, scope, and trend of these industries; their impact on rural and urban Minnesota; and how the Legislature can help assure growth for the benefit of Minnesota residents.

The week ended with demonstrations at the Science Museum of Minnesota and tours of high technology industries in the area.

Bills

Need a copy of a bill?

The Chief Clerk's Office can give you copies of bills and resolutions.

Want to know a bill's author, status, or committee assignment?

The computerized House Index tracks all bills through the legislative process. You can get the information you want about bills on the CRT. House Index lists bills by committee and by over 150 topics (e.g. environment, taxes, education) on the CRT.

You can call the House Bill Status Line, a 24-hour recorded message on the day's committee action on bills, (612) 297-1264).

Which bills became law?

Bills that became law are on the CRT in House Index, and the House Information Office publishes brief summaries of new laws each session. Contact the Information Office to get on the mailing list for the summaries.

Committees

For committee meeting schedules

Call House Calls, (612) 296-9283, for a 24-hour recording of up-to-date information on committee schedules (time, place, and agendas). The House Information Office and the Chief Clerk's Office have copies of daily schedules.

Committee action during interim

The House Information Office summarizes committee action during the interim (the time between the end of one session and the beginning of the next) in Interim magazine. (Same mailing list as for new law summaries).

Standing committees and committee assignments

The Members Directory and the Official Directory, list committees and committee assignments. Both are available in the House Information Office and Chief Clerk's Office.

Government

The Legislature—how it works

The House Information Office has brochures on Minnesota and its government, including: How a Bill Becomes a Law; Citizen's Participation Course, a test-yourself quiz on the legislature; and the Government is for Everyone information packet with single sheets on: how to contact your legislator, where to get information, Minnesota facts, how legislators make voting decisions, and an explanation of the differences between state and federal government.

For youngsters, the House Information Office provides The Road to Minnesota Laws, a cartoon version of how a bill becomes a law; and Joey's Visit, a coloring book.

Proceedings in the House

House Agendas

Structure of Government

HIGHLIGHTS

Seminar for legislators

For legislators and staff:
"Groundwater: A Renewable Resource for Economic Development in Minnesota", a seminar at the Science Museum of Minnesota in St. Paul.

The date: Wednesday, February 6. The time: 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. The cost: $20 for legislators and other government employees. Fee includes materials, lunch, and reception. For information call (612) 221-9438.

Seminar topics are: current issues and economic implications of groundwater use and protection in the state; legislative concerns in the monitoring of groundwater; groundwater as a renewable resource, its potential uses, and its role in future economic development in the state.

Speakers include: "Mr. Groundwater", Dr. Jay Lehr, president of the National Waterwell Association; Calvin Alexander of the University of Minnesota; Linda Bruemmer, State Planning Agency; and Jerrold Peterson from the U of M, Duluth. All are specialists in their fields, ranging from geology, geophysics, and hydrology to economics.

Sponsors are: The Minnesota Science and Technology Resource Council and The Science Museum of Minnesota, in cooperation with the Minnesota House Research Office, the Legislative Reference Library, the State Planning Agency, and the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources.

Business issues

On Jan. 24, members of the Commerce and Economic Development Committee had a briefing on issues they can expect to confront this session. The committee covers the areas of consumer affairs, economic development, and business regulation (including liquor laws), and housing.

Issues to expect include: updating Minnesota liquor laws; the sale of wine in grocery stores; raising the drinking age to 21; corporate takeover law; credit card interest charge; small business legislation; manufactured homes; and state housing programs, according to members of the House Research staff.

The committee meets Tuesdays and Thursdays at 10 a.m.

Tax study commission

Minnesota's current tax system "hides more than it reveals," says St. Paul Mayor George Latimer. Latimer chairs the governor's 16-member Tax Study Commission, and he and other commission members gave the Tax Committee a general review of their findings and recommendations at a Jan. 24 meeting.

"This is a great opportunity for us in a bipartisan way to reform this tax policy and make it more plain, more competitive, and more fair," said Latimer. The commission studied tax policies for the past 18 months. Its recommendations present a major overhaul of the state's tax system.

The report calls for sharply reduced personal income taxes, extension of the sales tax to clothing and personal services, simplification of property taxes, and other changes. The committee plans several more hearings to study the report in depth.

Rep. Gordon Voss (DFL-Blaine) questioned one of the commission's goals - distributing the tax burden according to benefits received and ability to pay - and the commission's recommendations. Voss said expanding the sales tax would hurt those who could least afford it. Latimer said the commission findings disagreed. Its study showed an expanded sales tax would be slightly more progressive, taxing consumers on their ability to pay.

PERA

Throughout the week, the House Governmental Operations met to determine the fate of the Public Employees Retirement Association (PERA) board. On Jan. 21, Senate Committee Aide Mike Norton briefed House members on Senate findings about PERA.

Norton said the PERA acting interim director, now under suspension with pay, the former executive director, and some board members were responsible for numerous abuses and questionable practices.

On Jan. 23, Rep. Gerald Knickerbocker (IR-Hopkins) presented to the committee a proposal he said will help restore confidence in the organization among PERA retirees. Knickerbocker said, at this point, he wants to look at the issue of board reorganization and set personalities aside.

Knickerbocker's proposal would abolish the current 15-member board, and replace it with 11 members—5 elected, 5 appointed, and the state auditor. The Senate version of the bill calls for a 7-member appointed board.

In a Jan. 24 meeting, members discussed the board makeup and whether members should be appointed, elected, or a combination of both.

Carol Ogren, an elected minority member on PERA's divided board, supports appointment. "I think the elective process only works when there's an informed electorate. Under the present situation, I don't know how you can have an informed electorate voting for members of the PERA board," says Ogren.

The committee meets next week to hear further testimony and take up reorganization legislation.

Highways

Highway jurisdiction—the question of who owns the roads and who ought to own them is an issue as old as the century, John Williams told members of the Transportation Committee Jan. 23.

Williams, a staffer from the House Research Office, reviewed a report the Highway Study Commission put together. It covers such areas as highway financing, road network, and the history of the state highway systems.

The report noted that Minnesota has too many roads with inappropriate jurisdiction; it recommends the Legislature set up a jurisdiction realignment process.

In other business, the committee passed a resolution memorializing Congress to enact an Interstate Cost Estimate bill.

Agricultural trends

Members of the House Agriculture Committee tracked agricultural trends at its Jan. 23 meeting.

Staff members from state departments, farm businesses and groups, and lending institutions warned members that Minnesota could lose 1300 farmers in the next two years if farm prices continue to drop, operating costs and land prices continue to climb and fall, farm debts go unpaid, and interest rates stay on the upswing.

Carroll Rock, Department of Agriculture, said trends show most farmers earn more income off the farm than on. He said farm income which peaked in 1973, has not kept pace with inflation in the state. Rock said interest expenses and rising farm costs take up most of the pay farmers do get.

Outlining farmland price trends, Dr. Phillip Raup, University of Minnesota, said the state has now come out of the worst inflation in land values. Land that once sold for $1310 per acre in 1981, has now dropped to below $1000 per acre.

Raup warned legislators that using a meat-axe to solve a problem (land price declines) that calls for a scalpel is going to risk doing more damage. He calls for a write-down in interest rates and debt renegotiation.

Lenders at the meeting pledged their continued support and commitment to Minnesota agriculture. Others shared their views on some of the farm issues legislators will hear this session.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, Room 9, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-2146.

Pressure on schools

For the first time since 1967, public school enrollments have increased in Minneapolis and are likely to go up throughout the state. Minnesota kindergarten enrollments are also climbing fast.

Growing numbers of children with learning problems, large numbers of student pregnancies, and a steady influx of out-of-state children with learning difficulties will continue to put increasing pressure on Minnesota's public education system.

These were some of the concerns public education groups aired at the Education Committee's meeting Jan. 23 as committees continue to gather background information on legislative issues they'll need to act on this session.

The Education Committee next meets at 8 a.m., Monday, Jan. 28.

Higher education funding

The extension of state scholarship funds to older and part-time students was one of the proposals of Dr. David Longanecker of the Higher Education Coordinating Board. Longanecker appeared before the Minnesota House Appropriations Committee Jan. 23.

Scholarship money for part-time students would go up from $600,000 to $9 million under the proposal. And Longanecker said funds would be "targeted to those who need it most" and that "we have to increase quality and define standards and let the students know early what is involved in a post-secondary education." The state plans to give out $110 million in loans and grants in 1985.

Commissioner of Education Ruth Randall's budget request was for $23 million in state funds for 1985. She also introduced to the committee the Governor's Education Plan which would ultimately return most responsibility for student curriculum and education to local districts.

Ken Keller, interim president of the University of Minnesota, presented his institution's requests, including $120 million for capital improvements. Buildings would include electrical engineering centers in Minneapolis and Duluth and an animal sciences building.

Keller said the University ranks last or near the bottom among Big Ten schools in spending on equipment, faculty, students, engineering, physical science, and computer science. He said the system "will need a 12 percent increase or $100 million in addition to the $870 million base to stand still, to simply not lose any ground, and an additional 12 percent to deal with the quality issue of the instructional problem."

DWI laws are not new

Drunk driving laws have been on Minnesota's law books since 1911. In 1957, the law included the concept of blood-alcohol concentrations and illegal levels. Four years later, the state adopted the implied-consent law. Under implied consent, arrested motorists can lose their licenses for refusing to take a chemical test for drunkenness.

In a Jan. 23 meeting of the House Crime and Family Law Committee, House Research analysts gave committee members a historical account of DWI laws, and talked about the impact recent legislation is having.

Currently, drivers with an alcohol concentration of .10 or more, or who drive under the influence of alcohol, are subject to criminal penalties, such as jail or fines, and stand a chance of losing their licenses. And, drivers who refuse chemical testing lose their licenses for a year.

House researchers say changing social attitudes about drinking and driving and the fear of getting caught are increasing public awareness on the issue. As a result, many people have changed their drinking and driving habits and influencing others to do the same.

Though DWI arrests have stayed about the same, researchers said their studies of public perceptions, professionals' observations, and statistics show the number of people drinking and driving is down.

State budget outlook

Forecasting how much revenue the state will have for the 1986-87 biennium got the attention of both the House Tax and Budget Committees during the third week of the session. Finance Commissioner Gus Donhowe presented the state's budget outlook to the legislators at Jan. 22 and 23 committee hearings.

Donhowe projects that the state will have $12 billion for the next biennium, with $500 million for a reserve, $600 million for a tax cut, and $11 billion for spending. The $11 billion for spending represents a 12.8 percent increase over last biennium.

Speaker David Jennings (IR-Truman), chair of the newly created House Budget Committee, said the committee plans to look at the state's revenue picture and what the economy is likely to do over the next couple of years, and then come to some decision as to what the state budget should be. The committee will then adopt a resolution on that budget.

Jennings said the Budget Committee and the budget resolution is a "bit of an experiment in Minnesota, but we believe it is a responsible approach . . . that will bring better revenue planning to the budget process."

The Budget Committee will meet next week to review the governor's proposed budget along with responses to the budget. Commissioner Donhowe said his department will release the budget on Monday, Jan. 28.

Unemployment insurance

"Workers' compensation is going to take a back seat to unemployment insurance this session," Subcommittee Chair Steve Sviggum (IR-Kenyon) said at the first meeting of the Minnesota House of Representatives Unemployment Insurance-Workers' Compensation Division.

The system could be as much as $300 million in debt by April of this year; Rep. Jim Heap (IR-Plymouth) said that although the compensation debt is seasonal, "unless something changes the system is doomed to debt."

Health and human services

"Smoking related diseases are the primary cause of death in Minnesota," announced Sister Mary Madonna Ashton, Commissioner of Health. She appeared before the Minnesota House Appropriations Committee to present an overview of her department Jan. 22. According to Ashton the three primary causes of death in the state are cancer, heart disease, and stroke.

Ashton also introduced six major issues her department plans to push for in the session:

- omnibus nonsmoking bill
- block grant funds for maternal and child health care
- community health service subsidy
- licensure of home health care
- swing bed limit and licensure
- mosquito control study and program

Commissioner Len Levine of the Human Services Department reviewed the department's structure. "Welfare programs are designed to be short term, our programs are structured to promote independence and self-sufficiency," he said.

The total 1984 spending for the Human Services Department was $1.9 billion, of this, the state provided $845 million.

Levine cautioned lawmakers about the economical affects of the rising number of aged in our society. Aid to nursing homes and to people over 65 make up nearly 45% of the medical assistance payments. Their numbers of older Minnesotans will continue to grow, said Levine. By the year 2010 the number of women in that age group will be up 250 percent from 1985, he said.

Environment program

A $603 million, ten-year program to improve the state's $1 billion-a-year hunting and fishing industry is coming up for consideration in the House Environmental and Natural Resources Committee. That's what Rep. John Rose (IR-Roseville), chair of the committee, told reporters at a Jan. 22 press conference where he outlined the committee's session agenda.

Changes to the state's hazardous waste superfund law, now under discussion in a governor's task force, and remedies to the sewer overflow problems in the metro area are among other issues that will also go on the agenda, Rose said.

The committee will look, too, into a proposal that would mean an added six cents to the tax on leaded gas, he said.

"The potential for causing lead poisoning is of great concern for many people, particularly in the metro area. It is suspected that brain damage in children is caused by the continued use of leaded gas," said Rose.

He said alternatives to the six-cent increase include lower taxes on unleaded gasoline, or a combination of the two options.

In addition to those four issues, Rose said other upcoming legislation may deal with trespassing laws relating to hunters and fishermen, peatlands, landfills, and recreation laws.

Health Economics Office

"We are becoming very aware that no matter how good our services are, unless they're affordable and accessible to the people in the state, they have very little meaning," says Sister Madonna Ashton, Minnesota Department of Health Commissioner.

She made her comments when she explained the recent establishment of the Health Economics Office to the Health and Human Resources Committee at its Jan. 22 meeting.

Other Health Department officials at the meeting described functions and goals of the department and answered committee members' questions.

State departments report

"One of the most unique and modern maximum security facilities in the nation" is Orville Pung's description of Minnesota's new Oak Park Heights maximum security prison.

Pung, commissioner of Corrections, was one of three commissioners who reported on the health and well being of their departments at a Monday, Jan. 21 meeting of the full Appropriations Committee. He said that Minnesota has one of the smallest prison populations in the country and a low 20 percent rate of people who return after release (over a period of three years). It also has 30 percent of the prison population working in the prison industry.

Barbara Beerhalter, commissioner, Department of Economic Security, says her department, needs $330 million for fiscal year 1985. The state will provide $80 million, this includes funding of MEED, the Minnesota Emergency Employment Development program.

The department helps with the problems of the unemployed and disadvantaged in the state. And Beerhalter said, in Minnesota, the increase in the number of single parent families is the largest single cause of growth in numbers of people living below the poverty line.

Nina Rothchild, commissioner, Department of Employee Relations, announced that Minnesota has fewer public employees per population than the national average. She also said the number of minorities in the state work force and women in managerial positions in state employment has gone up.

Utility rates

Utility regulations was the topic of the first meeting of the Regulated Industries and Energy Committee Jan. 21.

Cynthia Kitlinski, chair of Public Utility Commission (PUC) and Commissioner Ray Bohn of the Department of Public Service (DPS) briefed committee members on day-to-day functions.

Kitlinski said the commission regulates the rates and practices of the state's 301 gas, electric, and telephone utility companies and reviews requests for rate increases from these companies.

After the commission reviews the request, she said DPS begins investigations to enforce the commission's order. The department, which until 1980 was part of one organization with the Utility Commission, works to protect Minnesota ratepayers from unfair rates.

Plus its regulatory duties, the department and commission govern such matters as:

- miscellaneous tariff changes
- fuel and purchased energy adjustments
- depreciation certification
- cold weather rule

The department also has a Weights and Measures Division that handles commercial weighing and measuring transactions.

Farm crisis rally

After their hour-long farm rally on the Capitol steps, many farmers on Jan. 21, piled into the St. Paul Armory where members of the Agriculture Committee set up microphone and podium to continue hearing public testimony on the farm crisis.

At the Armory, farmers told members that they need their help. They asked legislators to support a moratorium for agriculture, to give them a fair price for their crops, lower loan interest rates, guarantee farm operating loans, and help them restructure farm debt.

The committee will hear more about the farm crisis when it meets with the Groundswell Farm Crisis Group.

More on the farm crisis

"The people of rural America are suffering severe financial stress," rally organizer Bobbi Polzine told an overflow crowd at the State Capitol Jan. 21. The rallying farmers, businesspeople, and supporters, an estimated 10,000 people, came to call attention to Minnesota's troubled farm industry.

Among the group's demands is a moratorium on farm, home, and business foreclosures, a program of guaranteed farm operating loans, and support for high enough prices on farm products to give farmers a 15 percent return on production.

Polzine says the goal of the Groundswell group, organizers of the rally, is to reclaim rural Minnesota for family farmers, independent businesspeople, and laborers, and to fight social and economic injustice.

"We're threatened by corporate control of our nation's food supply and economic disaster in our rural communities," says Polzine.

Gov. Perpich and legislative leaders at the rally pledged to work with farmers for improved policies at the state and federal levels.

Perpich said he planned to appoint a panel of farm leaders, legislators, and lenders to review the group's requests and make recommendations on farm relief to the Legislature.

After the rally, some attended a meeting of the House Agriculture Committee, while others visited the offices of state representatives and senators.

Budgeting for education

At a Monday meeting, the House Education Committee re-emphasized the role of education in Minnesota.

Noting that 41% of the 1984 state budget went to education, Chair Wendell Erickson (IR-Hills) said education is the single most important function of state government.

Rep. Gloria Segal (DFL-St. Louis Park) also pledged her continuing strong support for "Minnesota's fantastic education system."

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 4
FEB. 1, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

PERA board

The Governmental Operations Committee continued this week to discuss a bill that would reorganize the Public Employee Relations Association (PERA) board.

Internal struggles and allegations of abuse have rocked the board over recent months. On Jan. 29, Acting Interim Director John Allers, under suspension with pay, defended himself against numerous charges by the Senate.

Allers also told committee members if they find he is the problem, "I would tender my resignation as a result of a vote of this committee within 24 hours notice."

In a Jan. 31 meeting, John Chenoweth, executive director and chief investment officer of the Minneapolis Employees' Retirement Fund (MERF), pointed out problems in abolishing a board where PERA members have elected 11 of the 15 members, as legislation suggests.

Chenoweth asked legislators to preserve the current PERA board structure, and take Allers up on his offer to resign.

"There's a very simple answer to all of this," said Chenoweth. "Take John Allers' resignation. If you don't like the current board, it's very simple — you can add members to the board, and no one can fight you in court on that."

The committee plans to meet again on Feb. 4 for more testimony and possibly a vote on a reorganization bill.

Dram-shop insurance

Minnesota's Dram-Shop Act dates back to 1911. It requires any licensed establishment that sells intoxicating liquors to have liquor-liability insurance.

At a Jan. 31 meeting of the Commerce and Economic Development Committee, Commissioner Mike Hatch said dram-shop insurance is the first of many issues the Department of Commerce will face this year.

Hatch says problems with dram-shop insurance traditionally exist across the country. For Minnesotans in the business, Hatch says the rates are too high and coverage isn't good. Also, he says many insurance companies aren't selling dram-shop insurance.

The Department of Commerce, which regulates securities, real estate, and financial industries in the state, is holding a hearing Monday, February 4. At that meeting, Hatch hopes to come up with a decision on whether to authorize an assigned risk plan that would set up a state-operated dram-shop insurance fund for those without insurance.

Outdoor recreation fees

Fees for outdoor activities may have to go up, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) testified at the Environment and Natural Resources Committee meeting Jan. 31.

The Department says it needs more money to cover expenses in providing outdoor recreation.

Don Davison, Division of Parks and Recreation, says cost of park permits may have to increase from $10 to $15 to pick up part of the tab on next year's budget.

Also, the DNR may ask legislators to increase fees on hunting and fishing licenses, and require senior citizens to pay for licenses. According to Dr. Larry Shannon, Division of Fish and Wildlife, if Minnesota's senior citizens paid fishing fees, the state would be eligible for an estimated $700,000 ($3 per license) in federal aid.

Mandatory seat belts

Mandatory seat belt legislation with a $25 penalty for violators was one item on the legislative agendas lobbyists brought to the Jan. 30 meeting of the Transportation Committee.

Other issues include:

- The transfer of the motor vehicle excise tax from the general fund to transportation. Under current law, three-fourths of the tax goes to the state highway fund, another fourth to the transit assistance fund, and the remainder to the general fund.
- Indexing state gasoline taxes. This tax would increase automatically as gasoline consumption drops and highway maintenance costs go up.
- Raising the drinking age to 21. If the state does not raise the drinking age to 21 by Oct. 1986, it risks losing federal highway funds.
- Easing truck weight restrictions. The plan is to open all state roads to 80,000-pound trucks. The problem is how to pay for the added maintenance costs.

Some of the lobbying groups attending the meeting were: Seat Belt Coalition, Minnesota Permit Trucking Association, Motor Transport Association, and Minnesota Good Roads.

Farm aid

An interest "buy down" program is the first of a series of ideas the governor is proposing to solve the state farmers' financial crisis, said Tom Triplett of the State Planning Agency. At an Agriculture meeting Jan. 30, Triplett said the governor has set aside $9 million for such a program.

Triplett says the governor has declared an economic emergency for some parts of the state. And he's setting up a special commission of legislators and some state agency heads to review and give advice on pending proposals. The proposals include use of state funds to help underwrite farm operating loans and determining a way to target aid to farmers who can best benefit.

The commission expects to meet with the governor within 30 days.

Plea bargaining

Plea bargaining. Some see it as wheeling and dealing with criminals — an easy sentence in exchange for a guilty plea.

People who work in the judicial process gave their opinions in a Jan. 30 meeting of the Crime and Family Law Committee. Among them, Judge Joseph Summers of Ramsey County District Court.

"Prosecutors generally have two reasons for negotiating pleas," said Summers. First, alternatives such as the workhouse or treatment sometimes protects the public's best interest more than sending a defendant to prison.

And second, plea negotiations stand a better chance of getting convictions than jury trials because juries hesitate to convict, said Summers.

He cited a recent St. Paul case where prosecutors went to trial on the top charge of murder and got an acquittal.

"That's the kind of case that frequently ends up in acquittals," said Summers. "It makes more sense to plea bargain and get a conviction than have the defendant take a walk."

The committee is looking into the practice of plea bargaining and whether prosecutors should follow more strict guidelines when negotiating pleas.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. ## Commissioners' reports

On Jan. 30, Finance Commissioner Art Roemer told the Appropriations Committee that in 1984, his department: processed nearly 5 million returns; collected $4 billion in income, sales, and corporate taxes; and returned $1.7 million to individuals. All returns were machine audited, and three out of four errors were in the taxpayers favor. As a result, the state collected $15 million last year.

Mark Dayton, Commissioner of the Department of Energy and Economic Development, presented a brief overview of his diverse $250 million department. Included are plans for increased efforts in marketing the state and its business climate.

Hunting and fishing

"Reinvest in Minnesota" was the plea. The place, the Environment and Natural Resources Committee meeting, Jan. 29.

"We've got a $1 billion-a-year hunting and fishing industry here — one of the top industries in the state," said Glen Nyquist from the Governor's Commission to Promote Hunting and Fishing in Minnesota. "At the minimum, it produces $60 million a year in sales tax revenues," he said.

If the state wants to increase the return on its natural resource assets and reverse the current trend of using them up, Minnesotans are going to have to start paying, said Nyquist.

All Minnesotans benefit, though dollars come from hunters and anglers through license fees and federal excise dollars, he said.

The commission's recommendations include: investing $60 million a year in fish and wildlife over a period of 10 years, improving promotional efforts, and tapping other sources to make more money available for the fishing and hunting industry.

"We don't want to starve the goose laying the golden egg," said Commission member Sybil Smith.

Labor vs. Business

Two different opinions were aired at a Jan. 29 meeting of the Workers' Compensation/Unemployment Insurance Division of the Labor-Management Relations Committee.

Dan Gustafson of the Minnesota AFL-CIO wants the Legislature to expand eligibility to include more of the 150,000 presently unemployed. According to Gustafson, only 30 percent of the jobless presently receive benefits.

Francis Fitzgerald from the Minnesota Association of Commerce and Industry sees it differently. "We feel the problem is in the benefit payout system," he said.

According to testimony, the program is $200 million in debt in a period of high employment, and has one of the nation's highest tax rate and benefit payout plans.

Budget reactions

The state auditor and individuals representing groups brought their reactions to the governor's budget before the Budget Committee on Jan. 29.

State Auditor Arne Carlson opposes the proposed budget. For one thing, he says it continues a pattern of spending increases in excess of inflation.

A linkage between taxing and spending is what Minnesota businesses are looking for, said Mark Anderson, general counsel for the Minnesota Association of Commerce and Industry (MACI). He said MACI recommends reduction of individual income taxes, commercial property taxes, corporate income taxes, and sales tax on capital investments.

Other groups recommending limits on future spending growth were the Minnesota Business Partnership and the Minneapolis and St. Paul Chambers of Commerce.

Juvenile court judges

Current juvenile court judges in Hennepin and Ramsey Counties would get to keep their appointments under a bill the Judiciary Committee recommended to pass on Jan. 29.

HF83 (Forsythe, IR-Edina) would remove the restriction that juvenile court judges in those counties can serve for no more than 6 years out of any 12-year period. Chief author Mary Forsythe said this restriction currently applies to only Hennepin and Ramsey counties. The bill would bring those counties into conformity with the other 85. The chief judges in Hennepin and Ramsey counties make the appointments to juvenile court.

Supporters of the bill say current juvenile court judges in those counties have, over the years, developed expertise in juvenile law which the judicial system can't afford to waste.

Scholarship aid

The three education officials who spoke before the Appropriations Committee Jan. 29 endorsed the Higher Education Coordinating Board's proposal to expand scholarship aid to older and part-time students.

"The state university system is well positioned to serve the state culturally, socially, geographically, and now more than ever, economically," said Dr. Jon Wefald, chancellor of the state university system.

Joseph Graba, state director of the state's 33 area vocational-technical institutes, said his program has three goals:

- be responsive to students;
- be responsive to employers; and
- do the first two as efficiently as possible.

Gerald Christenson, chancellor of the state's community college program, reinforced the need for the state to provide quality education. "We have to invest in training and education. Education ought to be for all us — and life long," he said.

Orientation tour

Members of the Local and Urban Affairs Committee toured the downtown chambers of the Metropolitan Council Jan. 29. And Sandra Gardebring, chair of the Council, gave them a rundown on the Council's mission.

She said it is to oversee the orderly and economic development of the Twin Cities through planning and coordination.

State and federal legislation authorizes the 16-member Council to plan for transportation, sewers, parks and open space, airports, air and water quality, health, housing, aging, arts, and land use. The Council publishes over 150 studies annually.

The Council's efforts at coordination include strengthening relationships with the Legislature and local governments, unifying focus, and improving internal workings.

Minnesota's elderly

One in four Minnesotans over the age of 65 will someday live in a nursing home. Typically, they will come from families with few or no daughters, says Len Levine, commissioner of the Department of Human Services.

Broken arms and hips from falls on Minnesota's icy sidewalks take a large part of the $100,000 the state spends every hour, every day on long-term care for the elderly — the most costly use of Medical Assistance in the state, according to Levine.

The community programs now in effect save about $4 in nursing home care for every $1 the state spends, Levine told the Health and Human Services Committee Jan. 24 and 29.

He said Minnesota must develop more of these programs as the over-85 population continues to grow.

Local government aid

Representatives from organizations for cities, townships, and counties came before the Local Government Aids Division on Jan. 28 to present their proposals on local government aid.

David Fricke, executive director of the Minnesota Association of Townships, said the Association needs over $15 million for the biennium, bringing them to what they received in 1983. He said over $11 million will go to improve the rural road system.

The Association of Minnesota Counties is also asking for their previous level of aid ($29 million) for the next biennium, according to Morris Anderson, executive director of the Association.

Cities will want a change in the local government aid formula if members of the League of Minnesota Cities (LMC) adopt a policy statement the League presented to the committee. Mary Anderson, president of LMC, said the proposed statement recommends a formula which reflects a city's need and its local revenue-raising policy. The system now focuses on past aids and levies or levy limits.

Supreme Court building

Associate Supreme Court Justice Lawrence Yetka appeared before the State Departments Division of the Appropriations Committee Jan. 28. He asked for the Legislature's continued support for plans to relocate the Supreme Court on the present site of the Minnesota Historical Society.

The original relocation plans of 1913 got side-tracked, but the reasons are still there, according to Yetka.

"The present situation is an administrative nightmare. The research libraries are scattered over three locations. Boards are located everywhere, and the Appeals Court is in the Amhoist Tower," he said.

Yetka reported that the selection process is on schedule. The 1982-83 Legislature appropriated money for choosing an architect and a plan for the remodeling.

Reviews and overviews

The Higher Education Finance Division of the Education Committee met briefly Jan. 28 for reviews and overviews from the departments of Education and Finance.

Discussion centered around responsibility for financial budgeting, accounting, reporting, and funding of education in Minnesota.

The next meeting is Feb. 4.

Utility regulation

Should Minnesota loosen up utility regulation? According to some gas, electric, and telephone company representatives who testified at a meeting of the Regulated Industries and Energy Committee Jan. 28, the state may have to if competition keeps up and these companies are to stay in business.

The competition these utility reps are talking about is a result of partial deregulation of natural gas, the break up of AT&T, energy conservation, and new attitudes toward energy use which marked changes in gas and electric supplies and pricing.

Under the law now, the Public Utility Commission (PUC) regulates the rates and practices of the state's 301 public, cooperative, and investor-owned utility companies and reviews their requests for rate increases.

After the commission reviews a request, the Department of Public Service (DPS) begins investigative hearings to enforce the commission's order. A hearing examiner then prepares an advisory report of findings, conclusions, and recommendations for the PUC. The PUC must issue a final order on the rate increase request within 10 months of the filing date.

Utility reps at the meeting agreed that this process is fair and reasonable. But, they say, if they are to keep up with competition which, in most cases, isn't as regulated as they are, they need to price utilities and provide services at the levels of their competitors.

Pig's Eye tour

On Jan. 25, the Local and Urban Affairs Committee toured the Metropolitan Wastewater Treatment Plant (Pig's Eye) on the Mississippi River south of St. Paul.

Members looked over the 165-acre plant and met with Metropolitan Waste Control Commission officials to discuss current policy and future concerns.

The plant currently serves 1.5 million people in the metropolitan area and can handle an average of 220 million gallons of wastewater daily.

After the recent completion of a $300 million dollar improvement program, the cleanliness of the discharged water surpasses federal standards by 40 to 60 percent.

Legal drinking age

Minnesota's legal drinking age dropped from 21 to 18 in 1973 only to climb to 19 in 1976. Almost every year since, proposals to raise the legal age back to 21 have come before the House and Senate.

This year's no different, except that lawmakers have more incentive to vote for a drinking age of 21. Under federal regulation, states that don't adopt the higher legal age by Oct. 1986 stand to lose federal transportation aid in 1987 and '88. To Minnesota, that would mean at least $31 million, if not more.

In a Jan. 28 meeting of the Criminal Justice subcommittee, members heard from people who support age 21.

Dennis Johnson of Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD), told members that the threat of lost highway money is not the only reason to vote for the bill.

He addressed another side of this issue — that of human suffering. "For every person that dies there are mothers and fathers, brothers and sisters, good friends and relatives that must live out the rest of their lives without that loved one," he said.

No one testified against HF102 at the subcommittee meeting.

Members plan to vote on the bill Feb. 4.

House rules

In a seven-hour debate on Jan. 24, the Minnesota House adopted rules for governing the body.

Most of the debate was over a rule that calls for the speaker of the House to determine whether a bill or an amendment to a bill raises taxes or appropriations above limits the newly appointed Budget Committee sets.

The rules passed on a vote of 72 to 55.

Legislators

Who represents you at the State Capitol?

The House Information Office can tell you which legislative district you live in, and who represents that district.

Legislators' districts, addresses, phone numbers, office locations, biographical details, and photos.

The House Information Office publishes the Official Directory of the Minnesota Legislature and the Members Directory with committee assignments. You can get copies in the House Information Office.

What legislation did your representative introduce?

The House Index Department has a Cathode Ray Tube (CRT) which shows information on a television-like screen. The CRT lists each member's name and the bills s/he sponsored in the current session. Staff members will help you use the CRT.

Where members sit in the House Chamber

United States Congress

The House Information Office can give you names of Minnesota's members of Congress.

To write your legislator, address him/her as follows:

The Honorable (name)
Minnesota House of Representatives
(or Minnesota Senate)
State Capitol
St. Paul, MN 55155

Dear Representative (or Senator)

Bills

Need a copy of a bill?

Want to know a bill's author, status, or committee assignment?

The computerized House Index tracks all bills through the legislative process. You can get the information you want about bills on the CRT. House Index lists bills by committee and by over 150 topics (e.g. environment, taxes, education) on the CRT.

You can call the House Bill Status Line, a 24-hour recorded message on the day's committee action on bills, (612) 297-1264).

Which bills became law?

Bills that became law are on the CRT in House Index, and the House Information Office publishes brief summaries of new laws each session. Contact the Information Office to get on the mailing list for the summaries.

Committees

For committee meeting schedules

Call House Calls, (612) 296-9283, for a 24-hour recording of up-to-date information on committee schedules (time, place, and agendas). The House Information Office and the Chief Clerk's Office have copies of daily schedules.

Committee action during interim

The House Information Office summarizes committee action during the interim (the time between the end of one session and the beginning of the next) in Interim magazine. (Same mailing list as for new law summaries).

Standing committees and committee assignments

The Members Directory and the Official Directory, list committees and committee assignments. Both are available in the House Information Office and Chief Clerk's Office.

Government

The Legislature—how it works

The House Information Office has brochures on Minnesota and its government, including: How a Bill Becomes a Law; Citizen's Participation Course, a test-yourself quiz on the legislature; and the Government is for Everyone information packet with single sheets on: how to contact your legislator, where to get information, Minnesota facts, how legislators make voting decisions, and an explanation of the differences between state and federal government.

For youngsters, the House Information Office provides The Road to Minnesota Laws, a cartoon version of how a bill becomes a law; and Joey's Visit, a coloring book.

Proceedings in the House

House Agendas

Structure of Government

Capitol Tours

The Minnesota Historical Society gives regular daily tours of the State Capitol, (612) 296-2881.

In the Senate

The Secretary of the Senate's Office (612) 296-2343 and Senate Index (612) 296-2887, Rm 231, State Capitol, provide services similar to the Chief Clerk's Office and House Index. The Senate Information Office, Rm B-29, State Capitol, (612) 296-0504, provides services similar to those of House Information. Call the Senate Hotline, (612) 296-8088, for committee meeting schedules.

HIGHLIGHTS

Dramshop

A bill that would place an aggregate policy limit on dramshop liability insurance got approval at a joint meeting of the Commerce and Economic Development and Financial Institutions and Insurance Committees Feb. 7.

The bill, HF265, would amend the license section of the state beverage law, and according to its author, Rep. Adolph Kvam (IR-Litchfield), is not an overhaul of the Dramshop Act that some people have been fearful of.

Kvam says the bill would merely allow for a not less than $300,000 limit on aggregate claims within one calendar year.

The bill goes next to the floor of the House.

Jobs program

"The Minnesota Emergency Economic Development (MEED) program was an ideal emergency program, but the situation is no longer considered an emergency. The governor's budget will not fund MEED as it currently exists," said Tom Triplett, state planning director, at a meeting of the Human Services Division of the Appropriations Committee Feb. 7.

According to Triplett, The Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) will replace a portion of the MEED program. He said, "The JTPA will channel money to employers rather than employees. Counties will be the primary delivery agents for the job search, counseling, training, and daycare programs." Also in the $127 million program is a pilot plan to assist business startups like those in France and Belgium.

But Rep. Peter McLaughlin (DFL-Mpls) sees no reason to slash the successful MEED program. Before the same committee, he presented the highlights of his $65 million bill that would maintain funding for the current MEED program, with some changes. Program priorities would extend to include troubled farm families along with general assistance and AFDC recipients. McLaughlin's plan would also call for more participation from the private sector — 75 percent. The current level is 60 percent, up from the initial rate of 40 percent.

State highways

Minnesota can no longer afford the highway and road system it now has, according to a Citizens' League report, because it costs too much to maintain.

The report, which the Transportation Committee reviewed Feb. 6, says an ideal maintenance schedule for the state's 12,000-mile trunk highway and bridge system would be to repair 675 miles per year and 90 bridges. Currently, about 550 miles of highways and 60 bridges get the repairs they need.

To keep up with growing maintenance costs, the report recommends the state reduce the trunk highway system, moving from a 12,000-mile system to one no larger than 7000 miles, and turn low traffic highways back to local jurisdictions.

Rural banking problem

Minnesota has an agricultural crisis, but that has not created a banking crisis, says the regional director of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC). Milos Kronjevich testified on rural banking problems before the Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee on Feb. 6.

Kronjevich said 79 Minnesota banks closed last year; a greater proportion of those were agricultural banks (banks with 20 percent of their loans in agricultural real estate or operating loans). The list of FDIC problem banks is growing with the deepening agricultural problem, said the director.

"Recognizing full well that there is an ag crisis out there, the banking system in the state of Minnesota is strong," said Kronjevich. Rural banks that were the envy of the industry prior to the ag crisis are now writing off agricultural loans — something they've never done before. "They are going to take some lumps, but they have the capacity to do so," he said.

The delinquency rate for Farmers Home Administration (FMHA) loans has increased from 18 percent in 1982 to 28 percent in 1984, according to Russ Bjorhus, state director of FMHA. He said FMHA has not used foreclosure to deal with the delinquency problem, but has encouraged farmers to voluntarily liquidate their farms while they still have assets. He said almost 1,000 farmers have shut down their farms since 1982.

Crime victims

Criminals victimize their victims the first time and the criminal justice system victimizes them a second time, according to Paul Gustad, director of the St. Louis County Victim/Witness Assistance Program.

On Feb. 6, Gustad, a member of the governor's Crime Victims' Task Force, spoke to the Crime and Family Law Committee, about task force findings in hearings with crime victims and people who provide victim services.

Time and again, Gustad said, the task force heard that victims want a voice in the criminal justice system, and that services for them should be a legitimate part of the criminal justice process.

Only about two percent of victims eligible for services are aware of them, said Gustad.

At the same meeting, Attorney General Humphrey spoke in favor of a task force recommendation to create a Victim/Witness Advisory Board within the office of the Attorney General.

The Crime Victims Reparations Board, crime victims centers, and a new position of a crime victims' ombudsman would serve under the advisory board. The ombudsman would work directly with victims.

Said Humphrey, "Victims find themselves thrust into the criminal justice system. They didn't ask to be victims. Once in that system, they often find it unresponsive, confusing and unjust."

Funding is the key to better services in a system that Task Force Chair Bill Kosiak says is already underfunded. He said funding shouldn't necessarily come from general revenues, but mostly by way of restitution and surcharges on criminal fines from those who cause the problems.

The task force plans to make formal recommendations later this session.

Tuition reciprocity

Is tuition reciprocity fair? Should a tax-paying Minnesota resident pay substantially more than a South Dakota student to attend the same Minnesota college?

Despite its seeming unfairness, Minnesota's reciprocity agreements are, in fact, very beneficial to the state, according to Dale Nelson of the Minnesota Department of Finance. Average tuition rates here are some of the highest in the nation which has encouraged many to attend colleges in other states, he said.

The current reciprocity agreement with neighboring states reduces the financial incentives for Minnesota students to leave the state, said Nelson, and indirectly helps all students because the state will no longer be a net exporter of student dollars.

And more tuition dollars means more resources for developing and improving education programs and facilities here at home. This preserves access and choice of opportunity for Minnesota students, he said.

Nelson spoke to the Education Committee on Feb. 6.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. ## Farm operating loans

Members of the Agriculture Committee stepped up their activity in a two-part meeting Feb. 6, and recommended to pass HF32/SF54* (Redalen, IR-Fountain), a bill that would target money to farmers for spring planting.

Under the bill, participating farm lenders would offer qualified farmers up to $60,000 in low-interest operating loans backed by a state guarantee of 5.5 percent.

The program would cut interest rates for farmers to 5.6 percent and cost the state about $20 million, but supporters say it's the most feasible and effective way to target state funds to assist farmers in this time of crisis.

The bill will now go to the Appropriations Committee.

Higher education funding

Finance Commissioner Gus Donhowe explained the post-secondary schools' part of the governor's budget to the Education Division of Appropriations Feb. 6.

The governor's proposal links state aid for instructional spending to a payment method called "average cost funding." Under this plan enrollment is combined with the average cost of a program to determine the instructional funding level.

This could mean higher tuition for some students, and cut backs or elimination of some programs.

Donhowe said, above all, it will force institutions of higher education such as the University of Minnesota to make choices about goals and priorities.

Fiscal health of cities

Urban communities are fiscally better off than rural communities, according to State Auditor Arne Carlson. Carlson testified on the fiscal health of Minnesota cities before the Local Government Finance Division of the Taxes Committee on Feb. 5.

Moody's Investors Service, a bond rating firm, downgraded the bond ratings of 17 cities, predominantly in rural Minnesota, said Carlson, while upgrading the ratings of 10 cities, largely in the metropolitan area. Carlson said the lower bond ratings increase the interest rates on bonds and other debt and can be costly to the affected communities.

"This is an indication that Wall Street is worried about the farm economy," said the state auditor. This external factor — the farm economy — was significant in the credit determinations, and beyond the control of the downgraded communities, he said.

"Our office continues to be concerned about the relatively high levels of debt of some Minnesota communities," said Carlson. But he noted that, since 1978, "dramatic improvements" have taken place in local financial management, with most local governments modernizing their accounting systems and strengthening their fund balances.

Unemployment insurance

John Van Doorn of the Minnesota Retail Merchants Association presented his plan for unemployment insurance changes before the Workers' Compensation/Unemployment Insurance Division of the Labor-Management Relations Committee Feb. 5.

The Van Doorn proposal would increase the number of required work weeks from 15 to 20 and raise the average weekly minimum income to $100, and extend benefits to 30 weeks. The effect would be to restrict part-timers access to the system. He would also tie the average weekly wage requirement to the federal minimum wage. This prevents the predicted minimum wage increases from making benefits too accessible.

Local and state government

Local and state government relationships were the subject of the Feb. 5 meeting of the Local and Urban Affairs Committee.

Gary Currie and Tom Todd of House Research briefed committee members on the history, status, and structure of local governments.

Currie said the basis of all government in the United States is the Jacksonian concept of the universal sufferage of mankind, and behind local governments is the idea that whoever can vote, can govern.

As the number and size of municipalities in the United States grew, said Currie, municipal functions and power grew apace. But local governing bodies across the country are "tenants at the will of the legislature."

Tom Todd gave an overview of current regional and metro governing bodies, their functions and powers.

The Metro Council, for example, has no executive power to implement policy decisions, but works through a system of permits and licensing. All licensing power comes from the Legislature.

Although problems do arise in ironing out differences, said Todd, local and state government relations in Minnesota have been generally cooperative.

Marketing Minnesota

The Department of Energy and Economic Development (DEED) markets and promotes the state as a place to start up or expand small businesses, says Commissioner Mark Dayton.

Marketing and promotion goes on through a well-balanced communications program that includes paid media, public service radio shows on 79 Minnesota radio stations, a monthly Minnesota Magazine, and a program of public relations events, Dayton says.

Expectations are that the program will reach about 25 million business decision-makers. As a followup to it, the department has begun in-state telemarketing to reinforce and expand the message going out through paid media.

In an appearance before the Commerce and Economic Development Committee Feb. 5, Dayton said the Department has three divisions: energy, economic development, and financial management. Each division has programs to promote investment opportunities and to help Minnesota businesses and cities get information and financial and technical assistance.

He says the mission is to help improve the future of Minnesota and the lives of its citizens.

Environment

The governor's environmental priorities this year will focus on: promotion of the ethanol industry and anti-lead incentives; classification of peatlands; protection against flooding; the sewage overflow problem in the Twin Cities and building of waste water treatment facilities outside the cities; and changes to the superfund law.

That's according to Tom Triplett, state planning director, who spoke Feb. 5 to members on the House Environment and Natural Resources Committee.

A governor's task force on the superfund law agrees on municipal liability caps, causation, strict liability, and joint and several liability, says Triplett.

However, he says, the group remains divided over retroactivity provisions. Those provisions hold businesses or individuals liable for personal injuries resulting from past releases of hazardous waste.

"It's our hope," says Triplett, "that we can get rid of retroactivity in the superfund legislation. But the governor is prepared to do that only if some system is put in place for the compensation of persons injured by waste deposited prior to July 1, 1983."

In other testimony, Tom Kalitowski, executive director of the Pollution Control Agency, said the agency has pinpointed 87 hazardous waste sites in Minnesota. Clean up has begun on 30 of them.

Excise tax on beer, wine

Minnesota may have to face $10 million in claims for refunds of beer and wine excise taxes because of a 1984 U.S. Supreme Court decision. Dorothy McClung, director of legal research, Department of Revenue, told the Tax Committee about the Supreme Court case at a Feb. 5 hearing.

The Supreme Court struck down an excise tax in Hawaii that gave exemptions to the local liquor industry as an incentive for producing Hawaiian liquor or wine, said McClung. "Minnesota has similar exemptions," she said. They include a reduction in the rates for wine that comes from grapes grown in Minnesota and a credit on beer that brewers produce in the state.

Shortly after the Supreme Court ruled these exemptions unconstitutional, Johnson Brothers Wholesale Liquors filed a refund claim for almost $3 million, said McClung. That case is now pending in the state Tax Court.

McClung said the Supreme Court sent the Hawaiian case back to their courts for a determination of whether the state should refund all the taxes paid, or collect additional taxes from local producers. She said the Legislature could repeal exemptions and make sure that local producers pay the higher rate rather than collect no taxes at all.

PERA bill

The Governmental Operations Committee Feb. 4 and 5 wrapped up work on SF122, (Knickerbocker, IR-Hopkins), the bill to reorganize the board of the Public Employee Relations Association (PERA).

As it stands in the House, the bill would abolish the current 15-member board and set up a 9-member board. Three positions would stand for election, and five would serve as appointed representatives. The state auditor would also be a member.

The bill makes changes to the election process, for those who run for their positions, and provides that anyone trying to get an appointment to the board would go through an open appointments process. The Senate version calls for a seven-member board which the governor would appoint.

SF122 goes before the full House on its next step in the legislative process.

Horseracing

In just four months, Minnesotans will be able to play the horses at the state's first racetrack, Canterbury Downs—a project that 60 percent of the voters in the state approved in 1982.

Canterbury Downs' management team gave a progress report to the Regulated Industries and Energy Committee Feb. 4. They say they're working long days, sometimes six and seven a week, with contractors to have the track ready for racing in '85.

The $71 million project in Shakopee includes an enclosed grandstand, a one-mile lighted track, a turf track for special races, a training track, and all-season stables with dormitory facilities for 200 people.

The track will open its first season this June, racing thoroughbred horses for 78 days, Wednesday through Sunday, into mid-October. After this year, the season will open in April and close in November after 145 days of thoroughbred and harness horse racing.

Local government aid

The present local government aid formula is complicated, unfair, rewards inefficiency, and encourages spending, according to groups representing outstate, suburban, and metropolitan cities. Testifying before the Local Government Finance Division of the Taxes Committee on Feb. 4, they said the present law needs changing.

Most agreed with the League of Minnesota Cities' proposal which calls for a formula that reflects a city's need and its local revenue-raising policy. The system now focuses on past aids and levies or levy limits.

Those speaking for the cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul disagreed with the League's recommendation for giving aid on a per capita basis. Those cities have unique demands for municipal services say their representatives. And a per capita basis does not affect this reality, they said.

The division will be hearing various proposals for changing the current formula.

Endowed chairs

Ken Keller, interim president of the University of Minnesota, presented his plan to improve the institution to the Education Division of Appropriations on Feb. 4. He says he wants the University to be one of the top five public institutions in the country. And he wants to double the number of programs that rank in the nation's upper 15 percent.

"We are next to last in the Big Ten in teacher support," he says. "To stay in the ballgame, we need to keep faculty." To do this, Keller asks for increased funding to invest in more endowed chairs (the highest academic appointment available). Currently, the University supports 22 such positions; Keller aims for between 70 and 80 over the next few years.

An endowed chair is worth $1 million or more. The money goes for research, teaching, staff support, publications, and salaries.

Funding for the chairs would come from interest on the University's permanent $56 million trust fund and from matching private contributions. Interest money now must go back to the state. The University could keep the interest only with Legislative permission.

Workers' comp claims

Workers' compensation claims dropped significantly since 1983, according to Steve Keefe, commissioner of the Department of Labor and Industry. Claims for workers in small business dropped the most, in some areas as much as 40 percent.

Keefe highlighted these facts for the Labor-Management Relations Committee Feb. 4:

- number of days disabled dropped one-third;
- average award decreased 40 percent; and
- lost time dropped from 50 to 34 days.

Keefe credits increased education and worker and employer awareness for the reduction.

Drinking age

People who support raising Minnesota's drinking age from 19 to 21, and who say the action would save lives, testified before the Criminal Justice Subcommittee of the Crime and Family Law Committee last week.

In continued hearings on Feb. 4, lawmakers heard from Michael Birkley on behalf of the Minnesota Licensed Beverage Association. He said the idea that raising the drinking age would prevent young people from getting alcohol and save lives on the highways is unfounded.

"In fact," said Birkley, "in Minnesota, the death rate for 18-year-old drivers increased fourfold during the first six months after the legal age went from 18 to 19."

Both sides say that statistics can say whatever you want them to, and that better education is necessary to promote responsible drinking. But they disagree as to whether raising the drinking age will help stop alcohol abuse.

John Palmer of the Minnesota Driver and Traffic Safety Education Association, says the bill, HF102 (Schafer, IR-Gibbon), is worth passing if it will save the four or five lives a year the Department of Public Safety says it will.

Beyond that, Palmer asked legislators to consider Minnesota's 1983 expenditure of $40 million to arrest, prosecute, and treat drunk drivers. He said, at most, the state spent $10,000 on prevention.

Some who testified expressed concern that if the 21 drinking age passes, it should become effective at the same time as surrounding states to avoid border problems.

The committee will hear the bill again next week.

HIGHLIGHTS

Lakeshore leases

State lakeshore lease rates are on their way up.

On Feb. 21, the Environment and Natural Resources Committee, heard from the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) on proposed rate increases for lakeshore leases on Permanent School Fund Land.

Giving some history on lakeshore leasing, Rod Sando, administrator for the Land Bureau, said the DNR now administers almost 1800 leases on 90 lakes in 11 northern Minnesota counties. A majority of the leases, about 1600, are on school trust lands and revenues from them go to the DNR to meet expenses in administering trust lands. (Currently, surplus revenues go toward forest management, though prior to 1982, they went into the Permanent School Fund to help pay for education.)

The program dates back to 1917 when the lease fee was $10. In 1974-75, the department set fees at five percent of the value of the lot. The department is re-appraising the land, and results show that land values have gone up and will mean an average increase of 300 percent in lease rates.

Sando said the lease agreements give people the opportunity to live on the lakeshore, at a cost far less than it would to own.

But Rep. Lona Minne (DFL-Hibbing) opposes the proposed increases. "The five percent fee sounds nominal, but you have to remember what that applies to." Minne said the appraisals need more scrutiny because people living on the property have far fewer rights than property owners and should have a different value assessment for their land.

Reading a letter from a lease holder, Minne said, "In most cases, lessees have been faithful and diligent stewards of state-owned property."

The committee will meet again to consider a bill Minne is sponsoring that would put the lease increase on hold for a year until the Legislature can work out an alternative to the DNR's proposal.

Farm assistance

A bill aiding farmers who have borrowed money under the Family Farm Security Program got the approval of the Taxes Committee on Feb. 21. The bill, HF35 (Dimler, IR-Chanhassen), already had a recommendation to pass from the Agriculture Committee on Feb. 13. It goes now to the floor of the House.

Farmers who can't keep up the payments on their Family Farm Security Program loans because of unique or temporary circumstances would qualify for aid. The bill would allow the agricultural commissioner to use special account funds to make the payments on qualifying loans for up to two years. Farmers would have eight years to pay this money back at an interest rate four percent below Federal Land Bank rates.

The Taxes Committee deleted a provision of the bill relating to the exemption from Minnesota income of interest earned from these loans. Presently, state law exempts interest income on loans executed before Jan. 1, 1986. The provision would have extended the exemption until Jan. 1, 1990.

School starting date

A bill that would prevent schools from starting before Labor Day got approval from the Education Committee Feb. 20.

Supporters say the bill, HF151 (Thiede, IR-Pequot Lakes), would benefit Minnesota campground and resort owners and others who depend on student help during busy summer vacation schedules.

According to the bill's author, Rep. Paul Thiede, the last two weeks in August are traditionally the heaviest vacation times. This bill, he said, would allow the tourist industry to fully benefit from these weeks and would be helpful to people in depressed Northern Minnesota vacation areas.

The bill now moves to the House floor for further consideration.

Tip credit

A tip credit bill was on the agenda for the Labor-Management Committee Feb. 20.

Tip credit is the amount under minimum wage that restaurant owners can pay their tipped employees. It works like this: state minimum wage is $3.35 per hour; restaurant owners can pay their tipped employees $2.85 per hour (15 percent less than minimum wage) if the employee gets least $35 a month in tips.

Last year's tip credit law took effect Jan. 1, 1985. It reduced tip credit from 20 to 15 percent, and 5 percent each year until 1988, when it eliminates the tip credit.

The bill the committee is considering, HF 284 (Heap, IR-Plymouth), would stop the yearly credit reductions at the present 15 percent level. According to the bill's author, Rep. Jim Heap, the bill accepts the fact that tip credit went down 5 percent in January, but it removes the subsequent repealers. "If we pass this bill, we will be leaving Minnesota with a 15 percent tip credit," he said.

Criminal justice bills

The drinking age would go up to 21 under a bill that got approval in the Criminal Justice subcommittee on Feb. 20. As it stands now, HF102 (Schafer, IR-Gibbon) would go into effect Sept. 1, 1985 and would grandfather in those who turn 20 before that date. By Oct. 1, 1986, as federal law requires, everyone drinking legally in Minnesota would be 21.

Another bill to get subcommittee approval, HF78 (Staten, DFL-Mpls), would impose a fine for first offenses of between $300 and $3000 on people who own or operate "tippling" or disorderly houses where unlawful sale of liquor or drugs, unlawful gambling, or prostitution occurs. Penalties would go up for subsequent offenses.

HF266 (Marsh, IR-Sauk Rapids) also got approval in subcommittee. Proponents say it attempts to answer the question, "When is a police officer a police officer?" by spelling out under what circumstances a peace officer has the arrest authority of a peace officer, and when he or she has the arrest authority of a private citizen.

All three bills now go before the Crime and Family Law Committee.

State budget

The governor recommends a state budget of $10.9 billion for 1986-87. That's 12 percent from the previous budget, but down one percent from the budget that current law projects, said Nellie Johnson, assistant commissioner of the Department of Finance, at a Governmental Operations Committee meeting Feb. 20.

Of the budget, she said, about 33 percent goes for direct aid to individuals, 33 percent to localities, and another 33 percent to state operations (which includes funding for higher education and institutions).

Increases in the budget, said Johnson, are in education and health care. Many health care programs are mandates from the federal government — which foots just over half the bill, she said. Factors driving health care costs up, she said, are inflation and a high percentage of elderly people.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, Room 9, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-2146.

Lyons • Session Writers: Patrick Collins, Michael N. Gray, Susan J. Shepard • Bill Introductions & Committee Schedules: Cathy Elmstrom, Terri Hudoba, Dorothy Sawyer.

According to Johnson, the governor's recommended budget would fund seven areas:

- 24 percent — aid to school districts;
- 18 percent — post secondary education;
- 15 percent — property tax credits and refunds;
- 11 percent — health care (medical assistance and general assistance medical care);
- 5 percent — local government aid;
- 4 percent — income support (Aid to Families with Dependent Children, General Assistance, and Minnesota Supplemental Aid);
- 3 percent — debt service and state borrowing; and
- 20 percent — other spending.

Child abuse

"Would you want to learn about child abuse at your child's day care center on the front page of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune? That's what happened to me," said Rebecca Liestman at a Crime and Family Law Committee meeting on Feb. 20.

Liestman, whose child attended the now-closed Minnetonka Nursery, came to testify for a bill to inform parents about investigations into abusive activities at their children's day care facilities.

Rep. Brad Stanius (IR-White Bear Lake) sponsors HF213 which would give parents of children attending day care centers under investigation access to information about the probe. Currently, data practices laws prohibit authorities from telling anyone about such investigations.

Stanius said it's important to notify parents about an investigation because if they don't find out about it until the investigation is complete they get justifiably upset.

Another reason to notify parents, said Stanius, is that they then have "the opportunity to ask their own children about whether there has been abuse or neglect to them or their peers."

The committee recommended the bill to pass and sent it on to the full House.

Farm aid

A bill for $20 million in farm aid came out of the Agriculture Division of the Appropriations Committee on Feb. 19 with an unanimous recommendation to pass. The bill, HF32/SF54*, (Redalen, IR-Fountain), targets the aid to farmers who need money to get crops in the ground this spring.

The bill would provide $20 million in interest subsidies to farm lenders, who in turn, pass on the savings to farmers. The Department of Agriculture will administer the program but much of the authority over who gets the loans would go to local banks. To be eligible, farmers would have to prove they can make a profit if they can borrow at lower rates.

The full Appropriations Committee will hear the bill Feb. 21.

Selection of judges

Minnesota would have a merit procedure for selecting judges under a bill the Judiciary Committee recommended to pass on Feb. 19. The legislation would set up a committee to choose applicants for judicial vacancies and recommend three to five names to the governor for appointment. The governor would then appoint one from the recommended list, or request a second list of names.

Chief author Randy Kelly (DFL-St. Paul) says HF220, by law, would open up the process for the selection of judges. Currently, the governor selects judges when a vacancy occurs and he can appoint anyone he wants. Kelly said the governor has opened up the system by using a committee selection process, but state law doesn't require him to do so.

The bill (which does not apply to Supreme Court vacancies) now goes to the full House for consideration.

Liquor licenses

The city of Roseville could issue 12 more liquor licenses to people who want to do business in the city if a bill Rep. John Rose (IR-Roseville) has introduced becomes law.

The bill, HF320, would give the Roseville City Council authority to issue 36 licenses, instead of the city's present 24. The Commerce and Economic Development Committee recommended the bill to pass on Feb. 19 after a briefing on the need for additional licenses by Rose and Roseville's mayor and city manager.

State University System

Our mission is instruction, research and public service, says Jon Wefald, chancellor of the State University System. At a Feb. 19 meeting of the Higher Education Division of the Education Committee, Wefald detailed the needs and strengths of the system.

"We should be, and often are, the cultural, social, and economic centers of the areas we're located in," he said, "and we're crucial to the economic development of these regions."

Wefald said that most students in the system come from within 100 miles of the colleges they attend. And, he added, it's important to try to keep these people in the areas where they got their educations.

He said the State University System's small business programs now underway and those developing are getting good local response, and should help toward this end.

Pointing to the strengths of the State University System, Wefald told legislators that in the last three years, state university professors have published 63 books and over 450 articles.

Rules and regulations

"The Legislature often delegates power to state agencies to write their own rules, which have the force and effect of law," said House Research Analyst Mark Shepard.

At a Feb. 18 meeting of the Governmental Operations Committee, Shepard talked about the Administrative Procedures Act (APA), which spells out procedures state agencies and departments must follow when making rules, or when hearing cases concerning rules already in practice.

To establish rules, an agency must first draft them and write a statement explaining why they're necessary and reasonable. Then, said Shepard, the agency must request the Administrative Hearing Examiner's Office to conduct public hearings on them. After that office assesses whether the agency has complied with the APA the agency publishes the rules.

Correction

In "School funds" on page 5 of last week's Session Weekly, Kristine Anderson, business manager at Deer River Schools, is the chair of UFARS. Don Klassy is from a task force involved with a UFARS study.

To save time and expense in cases where the rules are non-controversial, said Shepard, agencies can propose to adopt rules without a hearing. If 25 or more people object, however, the rules must go through the hearing process.

In any event, the Legislature has the ultimate authority over rules and can choose to repeal them, or ask the Legislative Commission to Review Administrative Rules (LCRAR) to temporarily suspend rules or get the department to change them, he said.

Balanced budget request

On the agenda for the Rules and Legislative Administration Committee, Feb. 18, was HF9 (Piepho, IR-Mankato). The bill proposes that Minnesota memorialize Congress to call a constitutional convention to propose an amendment to the United States Constitution to require a balanced federal budget.

Also, before the committee were two House resolutions. One (Rep. Sylvester Uphus, IR-Sauk Centre, author) to extend condolences to the families and friends of volunteer firefighters, who died in a fire in Sauk Centre, and to express appreciation to all firefighters.

The second resolution (Rep. Wendell Erickson, IR-Hills, author) would provide for a joint meeting of the Senate and the House to elect members of the Board of Regents of the University of Minnesota.

Both HF9 and the two resolutions will go on to the full House for consideration.

Superfund

The state's superfund is facing possible changes this year. On Feb. 14, the Environment and Natural Resources Committee looked at HF268, a bill that author Rep. Steve Sviggum (IR-Kenyon) says "fine-tunes" the 1983 law.

Sviggum says his bill would not make any changes to the clean-up provisions of the current law. Instead, it goes after provisions that relate to personal injury liability in response to three concerns. First, insurance companies are "blacklisting" Minnesota, i.e., Lloyd's of London's Minnesota exclusion to its environmental impairment liability insurance underwriting. Second, the current superfund law discourages businesses from moving here and encourages them to move away. And third, it's unfair and unjust to make such stringent liability provisions retroactive.

Sviggum's bill would:

- Repeal the joint and several liability provision which allows a victim of hazardous waste releases to recover damages from each defendant or any one of them for up to 100 percent of the total liability, in cases where multiple defendants contributed to the release.
- Remove the causation section, a provision that some say made it too easy for victims to prosecute. Current law says victims have to show the probability that a release caused them harm. To repeal the causation section would mean common law would govern in personal injury cases, and victims would have to prove a specific release caused their injuries.
- Change the retroactivity date for dumping hazardous waste and personal liability from 1960 or 1974 to 1983.

Opponents argue that the bill doesn't address the concerns of injured people, that businesses aren't leaving the state because of the superfund, and that insurance is difficult to get among high-risk companies anyway, even without superfund, and isn't generally available nationally.

The committee recommended the bill to pass and sent it on to the Judiciary Committee.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 8 MARCH 1, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

Lemon law change

On Feb. 28, the Commerce and Economic Development Committee recommended to pass HF242, a bill to amend the "lemon law," the state's auto warranty law.

The law has been on the books for about 21 months. It requires car manufacturers or authorized dealers to repair — free of charge — any reported defect or problem that the warranty covers. It gives consumers the option of getting a replacement or a refund of the full purchase price, if the defect or problem is not corrected in a reasonable number of attempts.

It also requires manufacturers to give consumers written notification, upon purchase, of the right to replacement or refund. It's this section of the law that Rep. Tony Bennett (IR-Shoreview) wants to amend.

"Manufacturers have found a way get around this requirement," Bennett says. "They've sent sample notices informing consumers of the new auto law, to dealers to give to auto buyers." In other words, the responsibility has shifted from manufacturers to dealers, he said.

Bennett says that the intent of the lemon law is to make manufacturers responsible for the consumer notice. His amendment would require manufacturers to give directly to consumers, a written notice of their rights under the lemon law.

Walleyed pike production

"Operation Walleye," a non-profit corporation, stands to get funding of about $140,000 under a proposed bill before the Natural Resources subcommittee of the Environment and Natural Resources on Feb. 28. The group is involved in lake management and fingerling production, and works in conjunction with the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

Rep. Dave Fjoslien (IR-Brandon), author of the bill, HF488, says though fishing is still good where he comes from in the west-central part of the state, it can still be better. "Operation Walleye" would work to do that, giving the DNR a hand, he says.

"We're very concerned about our fishing resource," says Fjoslien, "... tourism is a very large part of our economy, and the primary thing tourists come to do is fish."

The DNR isn't fond of the idea, however. Richard Hassinger, chief of fisheries, says passage of the bill would mean another $140,000 to increase walleye production, when the state already has a program that reaches its quota.

Also, the DNR has a number of volunteer cooperative rearing programs around the state, Hassinger says, and he's not sure how the funding of one will affect the others.

The bill got a unanimous recommendation to pass. It moves on to the full Environment and Natural Resources Committee.

Income tax update

Minnesota could get over $50 million in added revenue from income taxes during the next biennium under HF538, a bill the Taxes Committee approved Feb. 28. The bill would make changes in state tax law to conform with 1984 federal tax changes.

Chief author Tony Onnen (IR-Cokato) says the governor has already included the additional revenue in his budget. Also, the Department of Revenue, which initiated the bill, assumed the Legislature would pass the measure. As a result, they included any changes affecting taxpayers in 1984 in the 1984 tax forms and instructions.

Some of the many changes relate to the capital gain deduction holding period, ACRS depreciation, installment sales, travel expenses, and volunteer mileage. The changes would affect individual, corporate, and partnership taxpayers.

The bill now goes to the floor of the House.

BCA budget request

The Bureau of Criminal Apprehension (BCA) presented its $557,000 budget request and reviewed its duties before the Agriculture, Transportation and Semi-States Division of the Appropriations Committee Feb. 28.

The BCA, a division of the Department of Public Safety, assists local law enforcement agencies in investigating criminal cases.

The BCA may enter a case only upon request of the local agency, another state agency, or the attorney general's office. The cases usually involve defendants and witnesses in numbers too large for small municipalities.

The budget request includes a number of new machines. One the state will soon be getting is a laser fingerprint reader. This device is capable of lifting prints off human corpses and manufactured items such as styrofoam cups.

Only the FBI and a few other states have this machine, said Bureau Superintendent John Erskine. "This will be a big help to local agencies because it isn't practical to expect them to have this equipment or expertise."

Farmers' problems

Farmers who are losing crops and livestock to animals and who have hunters trespassing on their land want to see legislation pass to take care of these problems.

In most cases, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) handles farmers' complaints of crop and livestock losses by granting permits to destroy animals such as wolves and beavers that are under the protection of Minnesota law. So far this year, the DNR has given out 23 permits. At a Feb. 27 Agriculture Committee meeting, legislators from farm districts told people from the DNR that they'd like to step-up procedures to get rid of the animals.

Also at that meeting, Faribault County officials said they want to see the committee introduce legislation changing current trespassing law so that farmers could verbally inform hunters when they are trespassing. Law now only backs farmers when they post "no trespassing" signs on their property.

Drinking age amendment

Drunk driving is more socially unacceptable than it used to be, and it costs more if you're caught at it. In the Crime and Family Law Committee Feb. 27, lawmakers heard an amendment to the 21 drinking age bill (HF102) that would tug still harder on the purse strings of DWI offenders.

The proposed amendment which Rep. Gloria Segal (DFL-St. Louis Park) offered would increase the license reinstatement fee from $100 to $150 for those who get a license suspension. The departments of Public Safety and Education would split the additional $50 (which would mean about $1 million to each department) to provide alcohol education and prevention programs.

Segal said there were 43,500 license suspensions last year. Though Minnesota has good DWI laws on the books and spends millions of dollars on chemical treatment, she says, the state needs more work on prevention to work alongside current laws and treatment programs.

On the bill itself, author Rep. Gary Schafer (IR-Gibbon) encouraged members to support the higher drinking age for three reasons.

Says Schafer, "I believe it will save lives, and slow the trickle-down effect on young people in high school. And . . . the federal government has told us that either we raise it, or we won't receive all of our federal funds."

Schafer said ignoring the federal mandate would mean the loss of at least $33 million during the biennium, and another $50 million in discretionary funds from the federal government.

The committee plans further action on the amendment and the bill next week.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. ## Education trends, responses

The Higher Education Division of the Education Committee is developing legislation in response to changing trends in post-secondary education.

With more students than ever attending and completing post-secondary programs in nontraditional ways, legislators and education officials agreed the time's come to make some changes.

According to Rep. Lee Greenfield (DFL-Mpls), 20 percent of Minnesota college students and 47 percent of students attend community colleges on a part-time basis. They typically take 5-1/2 years to complete a four-year degree, but they can get aid for four consecutive years only.

Under HF46, a bill Virgil Johnson (IR-Caledonia) and Rep. Timothy Sherman (IR-Winona) are sponsoring, students would still be eligible for the same four years of financial aid, but they could get it in non-consecutive years. Students could then take time out for jobs, internships, and other responsibilities without losing aid eligibility.

To help keep financial aid programs and distributions current with student needs, HF204, a bill Rep. Mark Piepho (IR-Mankato) and Rep. Dave Gruenes (IR-St. Cloud) have introduced would provide for a student advisory council to the Higher Education Coordinating Board (HECB). This non-voting council would give the HECB "news from the front" and would give students more input on financial aid distribution policy decisions.

Both bills got division approval as amended and were passed on to the Education Committee for consideration.

Superfund changes

A bill that would make changes to the personal liability section of the state's Superfund law got the Judiciary Committee's attention on Feb. 26. HF268 (Sviggum, IR-Kenyon) would make three changes in the law as it stands now.

First, it would take away the law's causation section law which sets up the amount and kind of evidence needed to prove the relationship between an injury and an accused party. Supporters of the bill said this makes it easier for victims of hazardous waste releases to show that certain actions caused their injuries.

Second, changes would mean that companies would be liable for deaths, injuries, or economic loss for generating, transporting, or disposing of hazardous wastes on or after July 1, 1983 (when the Superfund law went into effect). The law now states that liability goes back to Jan. 1, 1960.

Third, the bill would eliminate the section of law relating to joint and several liability and let common law apply. "Joint and several liability" means that a court may hold anyone who handles hazardous waste responsible for any damage it may cause. Common law allows such liability only when the person claiming the injury can show there's no single source for the injury. The Superfund law removes this showing by the claimant.

Several members offered amendments to change the retroactive provision, but the committee rejected them. The committee did, however, adopt an amendment stating that the passage and repeal of the Superfund law is not legislative intent. The committee plans to hear more testimony on HF268 before taking action next week.

Higher education

Dr. David Longanecker, executive director of the Higher Education Coordinating Board (HECB), reviewed his report on the post secondary education system before the Education Division of the Appropriations Committee Feb. 26.

Longanecker said the University of Minnesota, the ATVT's, the community colleges, and the State University System have problems of overlap, integration between systems, cooperation between public and private schools, and a general conflict in mission goals and statement. He also mentioned a need for consistent and common planning procedures to determine long range goals.

Longanecker returns to the committee next week to answer questions raised by his report.

Human life amendment

A bill that would encourage a human life amendment to the United States Constitution faced a room full of cameras, newspeople, supporters, and opponents at a Feb. 26 meeting of the Rules and Legislative Administration Committee.

The bill, HF123 (Marsh, IR-Sauk Rapids), would send a resolution to Washington asking Congress to start procedures that would eventually put a human life amendment into the Constitution. It would leave the writing of laws to support the amendment up to the individual states.

The bill will appear next on the agenda of the Health and Human Services Committee for further hearings.

Farm equipment sales tax

Earmarking it a "farm aid" bill, author Rep. David Fjoslien (IR-Brandon) explained HF53 to the Taxes Committee on Feb. 25. The bill would lower to three percent the general sales and use tax on new and used farm equipment and machinery parts. The rate now is four percent on new and used farm equipment and the full, general six percent on farm machinery parts.

The bill's main thrust is to "get us in line with our neighbors," said Fjoslien. North and South Dakota both have a three percent rate, Iowa charges four percent, and Wisconsin has no tax on farm equipment and parts. Most of the farmers along the borders cross state lines to buy farm machinery and parts because they can save a lot of money, he said.

The average farmer spends between $5,000 and $10,000 a year on farm machinery parts and would save a considerable amount of money if the Legislature cuts the rate, said Fjoslien.

Though the committee took no final action on the bill, it amended HF53 to make it effective for sales after March 31, 1985. Rep. Bill Schreiber (IR-Brooklyn Park), committee chair, said he would like to keep the bill in the committee until "we can reach a meeting of the minds with the leadership of the Senate as to the scope of the bill."

Emergency farm loans

An emergency farm loan bill passed the House on a vote of 125-5 on Feb. 25. The bill, HF32/SF54* (Redalen, IR-Fountain), would provide $25 million in interest subsidies to farm lenders. They, in turn, would give low interest rates on loans to eligible farmers.

The interest rate buydown would work like this: the state would pay 5-1/2 percent and the local lender would forego 1-1/2 percent, creating a reduction of about 7 percent. The largest loan any qualified farmer could have would be $75,000.

To be eligible, farmers would have to show they could at least break even if they could borrow at lower rates. And they would need a debt-to-asset ratio of about 50 percent. Farmers also may have to attend farm-management classes which lenders would pay for, in part.

The Department of Agriculture would officially handle the program, but the banks would make most of the decisions on who would be eligible for loans.

The bill goes now to a House and Senate conference committee to work out its final form.

Child abuse reporting

"How much knowledge of abuse or neglect constitutes a suspicion?" On Feb. 25, a subcommittee of the Crime and Family Law Committee looked at child abuse reporting legislation that Rep. Connie Levi (IR-Dellwood) sponsors.

Her bill, HF275, responds to Judge Charles A. Porter, Jr.'s decision over two teachers at the Children's Theatre Company and School in Minneapolis. Last fall, both faced misdemeanor charges of failing to report suspected child sexual abuse. Porter dismissed the case saying Minnesota's mandatory child abuse reporting law was too vague.

Law now says teachers and other professionals like doctors, social and child care workers, and law officers must tell the proper authorities when they suspect child abuse or neglect.

Rep. Levi's bill tries to spell out how sure of abuse or neglect people must be before they report it.

The Family Law subcommittee hears the bill for the third time on March 4.

Faribault schools

A report from the state legislative auditor's office recommends phasing out the Minnesota Braille and Sight-Saving School at Faribault over the next three years. The Education Division of the Appropriations Committee heard from Allan Baumgarten, author of the report, Feb. 22.

Baumgarten said the reasons for the recommendation include declining enrollments and rising costs ($35,000 per student per year).

The report also suggests major changes in the operation of the Faribault's Minnesota School for the Deaf: stricter admission requirements, improved diagnostic procedures, and more support for mainstreaming programs.

It also recommends more cooperation with local school districts for both schools.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 9      MARCH 8, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

School opening date

The House gave preliminary approval to HF151 (Thiede, IR-Pequot Lakes), a bill that would require the state's public schools to start classes after Labor Day.

Some of the issues surrounding the legislation are how school opening affects the tourism industry and local control of school districts.

About two-thirds of Minnesota's school districts begin classes before Labor Day. But those who favor HF151, such as campground, resort, motel and restaurant owners say the early start shortens the tourism season.

Those opposed, don't like the idea of taking the decision away from local school districts, while others were against changing the education system for the sake of economic development.

The bill picked up a few votes from last week when the House turned it down on a vote of 71 to 62. It'll face at least another hearing before the House when it goes onto the Calendar. The bill must have at least 68 votes to pass.

Employee incentive plan

Calling it a "Share the Gain Bonus Bill," Rep. John Burger (IR-Long Lake) brought HF389 before the Governmental Operations Committee March 7. The bill would set up a bonus incentive plan for state and university employees. It proposes paying cash bonuses to those employees if the ratio of state spending to total personal income in the state decreases from year to year.

By saving the state money, in other words, state employees could make some extra cash.

Burger said the plan would benefit everyone involved. Taxpayers would have more of their own money to spend. Policymakers would have a good management tool and get good cooperation. For employees, it would be a moral booster and provide incentive to work together. And people getting help from the state would get better service and encouragement to become self sufficient, he said.

Ted Blanch, of E.W. Blanch Co., one of many who testified before the committee, focused his testimony on how incentive plans work.

"An incentive compensation plan by itself is not particularly effective, said Blanch. But a well-designed plan can be an effective management tool. They can become very complex," he said, "but it doesn't mean they can't work."

Some committee members, however, saw conflict in trying to encourage lower state spending in agencies whose jobs mean spending money for the good of the state. Law enforcement for apprehension of criminals and enforcing the state's recent DWI laws, was an example they gave.

The committee plans to continue hearings on the bill March 13.

Farm equipment sales tax

A bill lowering the sales tax on new and used farm machinery equipment and parts to three percent got the approval of the Taxes Committee on March 7.

The rate now is four percent on new and used farm equipment and the full general six percent on farm machinery parts. HF53 (Fjoslien, IR-Brandon) now goes to the floor of the House.

Income tax update - update

On March 7, the Taxes Committee received new estimates on the amount of revenue the state could expect to receive from the income tax update bill. HF538 (Onnen, IR-Cokato) would make changes in state tax law to conform with 1984 federal tax changes.

The committee recommended the bill to pass on Feb. 28, but Chair William Schreiber (IR-Brooklyn Park) brought the bill before the committee again because of the new estimates.

Commissioner of Finance Gus Donhowe said the state could expect to get about $97 million additional revenue if the state conforms to the 1984 federal changes. According to the commissioner, the governor has already included $47 million in his January budget.

That amount comes from a 1983 federal provision excluding 15 percent of interest from a person's income, effective in 1985. The state conformed with that provision, but the 1984 Congress repealed the provision before it could take effect.

If the state fails to conform with the federal changes, Minnesota taxpayers would have the interest exclusion on their 1985 returns.

Donhowe said the governor did not include the remaining $50.3 million in his January budget. He cautioned the committee on these amounts because they are "soft numbers" which could change.

The committee did not reconsider the bill so its earlier recommendation to pass will send the bill to the floor of the House.

Higher education

David Longanecker, director of the Higher Education Coordinating Board (HECB), returned to the Education Division of the Appropriations Committee March 7 to continue his presentation of the HECB's report on the state's post-secondary school plans. (See Session Weekly, Volume 2, Number 8, page 3.)

The role of the HECB is to be a catalyst for reform for the state's schools, Longanecker said. "In many cases similar services are being offered in close proximity to each other. This is what we should be working to change."

Longanecker said three areas need further study:

- Mission statement — overlap exists between institutions proposed goals and objectives.
- Inter-system cooperation — there is no program for coordination for biennial planning and requests.
- Finance — tuition costs must be held down while continuing support for important high cost programs.

No-fault insurance, 'stacking'

If you are injured in a car accident and you have two car insurance policies, you might not be able to collect from both. A bill to get rid of "stacking" insurance benefits got the attention of the Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee on March 6.

HF345 (Seaberg, IR-Mendota Heights) would also make several changes to the state's No-Fault Automobile Insurance Act.

Since 1978, the Minnesota Supreme Court has permitted, under the state's no-fault law, injured parties to collect from more than one policy as long as they recover only their actual out-of-pocket losses under the court's ruling.

The committee plans to consider the bill again next week.

Drinking age bill

The bill calling for a drinking age of 21 years in Minnesota got its second hearing in the Crime and Family Law Committee on March 6.

But now, attached to HF102 (Schafer, IR-Gibbon), are a couple other provisions. One would increase the license reinstatement fee for those who lose their licenses because of DWI offenses from $100 to $150. Proceeds would go to the departments of Education and Public Safety for programs to prevent alcohol-related traffic injuries and deaths.

Under another provision the committee voted for, people who manufacture or sell alcoholic beverages could not sponsor or contribute to college-campus events that involve drinking or the sale of alcohol, or the promotion of those activities.

Also under the amended version of the bill, the effective date for the 21-year-old drinking age would be Sept. 1, 1986, instead of Sept. 1, 1985. Author of the amendment, Rep. Sandy Pappas (DFL-St. Paul), said her concern with the 1985 effective date was the threat of Minnesota's under-21-year-olds crossing the border into other states that haven't yet done anything about the higher drinking age, particularly Wisconsin.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, Room 9, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-2146.

Information Officer: Jean Steiner • Editor: Peg Hamerston • Associate Editor/Writer: Bonnie Kollodge • Assistant Editor/Writer: Lisa Lissimore • Art and Production Coordinator: Donna J. Lyons • Session Writers: Patrick Collins, Michael N. Gray, Susan J. Shepard • Bill Introductions & Committee Schedules: Cathy Elmstrom, Terri Hudoba, Dorothy Sawyer.

Most committee members felt different legal ages on either side of the border could cause even more problems, traffic injuries, and deaths, than delaying the drinking age increase for one year.

The committee will take another look at the bill, and then hopes to pass it along to the Appropriations Committee.

Workers' Comp

The state unemployment fund owes the federal government about $210 million. On March 6, the Unemployment Insurance/Workers' Compensation Division of the Labor-Management Relations Committee heard a proposal by Rep. Gil Gutknecht (IR-Rochester).

Gutknecht's proposal, which is not yet complete, addresses the two major prongs of the problem: worker benefits and employer taxes.

Gutknecht said that containing growth in benefits and increasing the taxable wage base is the most reasonable and fair method we could use to restore permanent solvency to the unemployment insurance program.

Ten major points of the proposal would:

- set the employer's unemployment taxable wage base at flat dollar amounts for the next three years (replacing the present formulas);
- tie the definition of a credit week for employee earnings to the state adult minimum wage;
- increase the amount of credit weeks necessary to qualify for benefits from 15 to 20;
- set the maximum weekly benefit at $200 for 1985, with $8 increases over the next two years;
- make the duration of benefits equal to 66-2/3 percent of the worker's credit weeks (current law sets the limit at 26 weeks);

- make additional funds available to those who have exhausted all state and federal benefits and who live in a county that has an unemployment rate at least double the state rate;

- make seasonal workers ineligible who file for benefits the same quarter, two years in a row;
- establish a waiting week without pay before benefits would start;
- tie severance pay in with the start of benefits; and
- define suitable work for determining whether an individual getting benefits must accept an offer of employment, 85 percent of previous salary for the first 6 weeks, 75 percent for 6-14 weeks, and 65 percent for more than 14 weeks.

Rep. James Rice (DFL-Mpls) questioned what the program would do specifically about the debt, and how it addresses the present situation of only 30 percent of the unemployed receiving benefits.

The committee will hold public hearings on the measure March 12 and 13 and hopes to take amendments and vote on the measure March 19.

Financial farm data collection

On March 6, the Agriculture Committee recommended to pass as amended, HF581 (Frerichs, IR-Rochester), a bill that would set up a data collection task force to develop a uniform procedure for collecting financial data from Minnesota farmers.

Author of the bill, Rep. Don Frerichs, says there's a lack of comprehensive, sound, financial data on which to design state farm-relief programs for farmers. He says supporting the efforts of the University of Minnesota Agricultural Extension Service and the Vocational Technical Education System would get rid of the data problem. He says the U and the Vo-tech System have programs (Project Support and Project Survival), that targets enhancing farm financial recordkeeping and evaluating existing farm financial information.

Under HF581, agricultural extension agents and vo-ag instructors would take a temporary leave from their present jobs and work with the task force to collect data from farmers. They would use a computerized system to analyze finances of family farms and provide farmers with farm crisis intervention services.

Some committee members are concerned about advertising methods for the program, who participants would be, and the accuracy of the data.

Community education changes

Minnesota's Community Education programs could change under a bill Rep. Harriet McPherson (IR-Stillwater) is sponsoring and which the governor's office supports. The bill would put more emphasis on adult literary and academic learning.

Brian Kanes of the Department of Education, appearing before the Education Finance Division of the Education Committee March 6, said that the goal of community education is "to create a learning society that will provide all citizens with the capacity to stretch their minds to the fullest."

HF367 would allow aid and levy revenues to fund only certain types of programs and would require fees, donations, and other sources of revenue for programs of a more recreational nature.

Under the bill, funds could go to health education, financial and retirement planning, childhood and family instruction, and opportunities for undereducated adults to bring their education up to a high school equivalency level.

Areas that would not receive funding include craft and hobby, athletics, travel, and recreational classes.

State agency fees

"What this bill does," says Rep. Gerald Knickerbocker (IR-Hopkins), "is answer the policy question, 'Should the Legislature exercise its oversight function and set fees or should it be done by the agencies?'"

In testimony at the Governmental Operations Committee meeting on March 6, Knickerbocker referred to an executive branch study that recommends 37 new fees, for an increase in revenue for the biennium of over $17 million in the general fund, and over $3 million in other funds.

But, according to Knickerbocker, fee setting should be a function of the Legislature and under his bill, HF376, the Legislature would set the maximum amount of state agency expenditures that fees will recover. New fees and fee adjustments would have to go through the rulemaking process. Controversial fees adjustments, said Knickerbocker, would have to go through the public hearing process just like controversial state agency rules.

The commissioner of finance could no longer determine that fees should be greater than agency costs for providing a service.

Jay Kiedrowski from the Finance Department said that the executive branch doesn't set fees on its own, that the legislature already has oversight functions.

"Every state agency has to have specific state authority in statute to set a fee. So the fees being talked about today have been authorized by the Legislature," said Kiedrowski.

Kiedrowski said he thinks the bill is trying to address opposition to some controversial fees the Pollution Control Agency (PCA) set. Unfortunately, said Kiedrowski, the bill goes way beyond the PCA fees.

The committee will continue hearing the bill on March 12.

Victims' compensation fund

A victims' compensation fund, for people who've suffered injuries from hazardous waste releases, got a hearing in the Environment and Natural Resources Committee on March 6. Rep. Sally Olsen (IR-St. Louis Park), author of HF156 says it complements the proposed revisions to the superfund law by providing an alternative to victims who won't get compensation under the superfund law (if HF268 passes).

Olsen said the 1983 superfund law required the Legislative Commission on Waste Management to look into the need for such a fund. She said the study focused on three major areas—the number of potential victims, the adequacy of existing compensation remedies, and alternative approaches to victims' compensation in Minnesota.

Olsen said estimates are that the number of actual claims is around 10 or low multiples of 10.

HF156 would put a cap on the amount of compensation, per claimant, per claim, that injured people could recover from the fund of $250,000. It would appropriate $1 million from the general fund into the compensation fund for the biennium.

Jack Ditmore from the State Planning Agency says, though the governor is concerned about compensating victims of hazardous waste releases, if the superfund changes go through the Legislature, the governor's office isn't taking a stand on any specific victim compensation measure at this time.

Those testifying from the Sierra Club, the League of Minnesota Cities, AFL-CIO, and the Clean Water Action Project again stated their support for the current superfund law and opposition to any revisions. However, all conceded that, should the revisions get the Legislature's and the governor's approval, a victims' compensation fund would be necessary.

Some of the problems with HF156, according to this group of people, are that it doesn't address damage to property or economic loss; $1 million in the fund isn't enough to address the needs it will have to address; it doesn't include death benefits; and it puts the victim compensation burden on taxpayers instead of on responsible parties.

Superfund changes

A bill that would make changes to the personal liability section of the state's Superfund law got the Judiciary Committee's approval on March 5. HF268 (Sviggum, IR-Kenyon) would affect a victim's chances to claim damages from hazardous waste exposure and win. (See last week's highlight for a summary of the bill).

Supporters say the 1983 Superfund law places such tough liability on waste handling companies that underwriters are unwilling to provide insurance. And, they say, it has had a bad affect on the state's business climate.

Opponents say the changes will hurt innocent victims in their attempts to get paid for injuries, property loss, or death because of hazardous waste exposure.

The committee adopted an amendment which would remove the cap in current law limiting the amount of damages a victim can recover in a joint and several liability action. Presently, that cap is twice the percentage of fault of each person jointly liable.

The bill now goes to the floor of the House.

Farm aid

The House gave final approval to a $25 million farm-aid plan on March 5.

Under the plan, SF54 (Redalen, IR-Fountain), farmers could get loans for spring planting at a lower rate of interest through an interest buydown program. The state would subsidize 5-1/2 percent; the local lender would forego 1-1/2 percent—giving an interest rate reduction of about 7 percent to eligible farmers.

The maximum loan to individual farmers would be $75,000. To be eligible, farmers must show they could make a profit if they can borrow at lower interest rates. And they have to show a debt-to-asset ratio of about 50 percent.

The plan also calls for a debt restructuring program whereby farm borrowers and lenders can attempt to restructure farm debt through the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) Loan Guarantee and Debt Restructuring Program.

Under this program, the state would pay the interest on existing farm operating and real estate loans (not exceeding $25,000), for 60 days, of a 120-day foreclosure grace period. This interest break would go on loans to qualified borrowers that approved lenders submit to FmHA for loan guarantees and debt restructuring.

As a condition for receiving the state-paid interest for 60 days, lenders must agree to carry the loan for an additional 60 days without interest and sign an agreement with the state to stop foreclosure on farm loans for 120 days. If FmHA approves refinancing of a loan, lenders, then, can add the foregone interest onto the loan principal.

Snowbound

The big snow on March 4 brought legislative activities to a near halt for about a day-and-a-half. Because the House didn't have a quorum of 68 members present, a requirement to transact House business, the session lasted just a few minutes. And committees didn't meet.

By noon on March 5, however, it was business as usual. Committees were active, and the House was ready to meet to take up, among other issues, the farm aid bill.

Hazardous waste

Pollution Control Agency (PCA) Deputy Director Michael Robertson explained the problems of hazardous waste cleanup and enforcement to the State Departments Division of the Appropriations Committee on March 1.

State concern for hazardous waste began in 1979, says Robertson, but enforcement began just last year when the Legislature approved funding. The waste itself has been around for a lot longer; in some cases, since the 1930s, he says.

According to Robertson, one of the department's needs is increased enforcement staff — 18 more positions over the next two years. In some cases, Robertson says, with present staff, medium size or smaller polluters might get by with an inspection only once every 16 years. The increase in staff could reduce that to once every five years.

The agency staff performs about 300 site inspections a year. Ninety percent of the time, inspectors find record keeping problems. Ten percent of the time, they find serious problems where management practices have to be changed, says Robertson.

About $24 million worth of hazardous waste cleanup went on last year, says Robertson, at an average cost of $3 to 5 million per site. A minimum of two years is typical to completely remove all hazardous material from a site.

The PCA declared 87 sites to be hazardous in the state right now. Robertson expects the list to grow to 123 by next year. Thirty-four of these sites are on the federal cleanup list; 11 of these are currently getting attention. Of the 87 identified spots, action is expected on 65 by 1987.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 10 MARCH 15, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

Retailers - sales tax

Minnesota retailers could get a break on paying their June sales taxes under a bill which the Taxes Committee recommended to pass on March 14. HF65 (Kvam, IR-Litchfield) relates to the sales tax that retailers collect from their customers and return to the state.

The bill would discontinue the requirement that retailers pay one half of their estimated June liability on or before June 25. They would pay their June sales taxes by July 25.

Chief author Rep. Adolph Kvam said this change is the way retailers used to pay their June liability. But the 1981 Legislature changed the June payment when the state was in a budget crunch and needed the money before July 1 to balance the budget, said Kvam.

Tony Doherty, a Bloomington furniture dealer, told the committee that it's difficult for retailers to estimate their June sales tax liability because sales can vary considerably from month to month. He said the penalty is quite severe if retailers underestimate the amount.

The bill now goes to the floor of the House.

Environment

The House Environment and Natural Resources Committee recommended for passage, HF628 (Rose, IR-Roseville), a Fish and Wildlife Enhancement Act, on March 14. The bill includes many of the recommendations of the governor's Hunting and Fishing Commission that call for reinvestment in the state's natural resources.

HF628 would provide state funds to match funds and gifts that organizations donate for the purchase of land for wildlife habitats. It would call for annual payment to landowners to discontinue crop production on marginal farm lands to provide a vegetation cover, and it would create an aspen recycling to improve wildlife habitat.

The committee rejected an amendment that would have required a constitutional amendment asking voters whether two percent of the state sales tax should go to the game and fish fund for a 10-year period, to raise $30 million a year.

Smoking and health

Smokers are drug addicts, and nicotine is the most addictive drug in our society, Surgeon General Everett Koop, M.D., told the Health and Human Services Committee on March 14.

Smoking costs our country $39 billion a year in avoidable medical expenses and 340,000 deaths annually from smoking-related diseases, Koop said. And, he said, these figures are quite conservative.

Smoking during pregnancy is especially dangerous, said Koop, and the real costs are waiting to be born.

Sister Mary Madonna Ashton, commissioner of Health and Human Services, introduced Koop whose remarks support the commissioner's anti-smoking goals for the state.

Nursing home beds

Minnesota's aging population growth rate is explosive, according to Deputy Commissioner of Human Services Frank Giberson, but he wants the state moratorium on nursing home beds to continue through 1990.

Giberson told the House Human Services Division of the Appropriations Committee on March 14 that Minnesota institutionalizes its elderly at a rate twice the national average.

He says the answer to the problem is the state's alternative-care grant program for which his department is requesting a $46 million appropriation for the 1985-86 biennium.

According to Giberson, alternative care satisfies what the elderly say they need—better services in the community that will enable them to stay at home, out of nursing homes.

Administration of alternative-care programs would remain with local agencies.

Superfund changes

A bill that would make changes to the personal liability section of the state's superfund law got final House approval (81-44) on March 14. HF268 would affect a victim's chances to claim damages from hazardous waste exposure and win. See Session Weekly, Number 8, page 3 for a summary of the bill.)

The House adopted an amendment which provided that the new superfund changes would not apply to legal actions pending on March 11, 1985. Another House-approved amendment would allow plaintiffs to bring actions prior to July 1, 1983 (the new retroactivity date) if they can show the defendant knew or reasonably should have known that the dumping of a hazardous substance could cause serious harm.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

Car insurance benefits

A bill to outlaw stacking of insurance benefits made it over its first hurdle in the House on March 13. The Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee voted 19 to 5 in favor of HF345 (Seaberg, IR-Mendota Heights) which would prohibit collecting from two car insurance policies for accident injuries.

Since 1978, the Minnesota Supreme Court has permitted injured parties to collect from more than one policy to cover their actual out-of-pocket costs, but no double benefits. The change is that under HF345, policy holders could collect from only one policy even though that coverage doesn't pay for all of their actual out-of-pocket expenses.

Conservation Reserve

Farmers with highly erosive cropland could enroll it in a new state program to help protect wildlife habitat and soil and water resources.

Under Conservation Reserve, the state would pay enrolled farmers ($75 an acre the first year and five percent of the land's market value each year thereafter) not to grow crops or graze livestock on some of their land for 5 to 10 years. They would, instead, during this time, plant a vegetation cover on it which would help hold the soil in place, making it less susceptible to wind and water erosion.

The program also offers an incentive for farmers to plant strips of food crops for wildlife habitat next to the land.

On March 13, the Agriculture Committee recommended passage of HF427 (Redalen, IR-Fountain), the bill that would create this program. Conservation Reserve would carry a price tag of $10 million.

George Mann Memorial Hwy.

A stretch of Highway 60 between Mankato and Worthington could take on a new name in honor of the late George Mann (DFL-Windom) who served in the Minnesota House for 24 years.

On March 13, the Transportation Committee unanimously voted to recommend for passage HF221 (Kalis, DFL-Walters), a bill that would rename the stretch of highway the "George Mann Memorial Highway."

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, Room 9, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-2146.

Information Officer: Jean Steiner • Editor: Peg Hamerston • Associate Editor/Writer: Bonnie Kollodge • Assistant Editor/Writer: Lisa Lissimore • Art and Production Coordinator: Donna J. Lyons • Session Writers: Patrick Collins, Michael N. Gray, Susan J. Shepard • Bill Introductions & Committee Schedules: Cathy Elmstrom, Terri Hudoba, Dorothy Sawyer.

Mann's work in the House won him positions as chair of the Transportation and Agriculture Committees, and as assistant DFL caucus leader. Mann worked through legislation to improve highways and highway safety, and some say he had a life-long ambition to see the completion of Highway 60.

Also, at the March 13 meeting, the committee recommended to pass HF454 (McKasy, IR-Mendota Heights), a bill that would offer protection to people who fail to renew their car registrations because they didn't receive the notice telling them to, from the Department of Public Safety.

Minority councils

State councils that work with the handicapped, blacks, Indian and Spanish-speaking Minnesotans brought their budget requests to a division of the Appropriations Committee March 13.

They presented their policy objectives which are to help their minority groups to improve their economic and social status. The councils also act as liaisons between government units and the people they represent. Combined, they're asking for less than $1 million.

Interest on tax refunds

Taxpayers might get more interest on their tax refunds under a bill the Taxes Committee heard on March 12. HF261 (Onnen, IR-Cokato) would equalize the interest rate on refunds with the rate the State Revenue Department collects on unpaid taxes.

Current state law sets the interest rate on refunds at 6 percent and ties the rate on unpaid taxes to the average prime rate, or 13 percent for 1985. The bill would provide that tax refunds bear interest at the floating rate from the date of payment of the tax until the state pays the refund.

On income tax refunds, the state would pay interest from 90 days after the due date or on the date the taxpayer files the return, whichever is later.

The bill will get a further hearing on March 15.

Correction

The article, "Community education changes," on page 3 of last week's Session Weekly should read:

Childhood, family education

Parents play the most important role in the early education of their children, and there is no substitute for parents, said Rep. Harriet McPherson (IR-Stillwater).

Her bill, HF367, would define the importance of parents' roles and parental involvement during early childhood and family education programs.

The bill calls on parents to be physically present much of the time in these programs with their children. It also prohibits use of early childhood and family education programs funding for traditional day care or nursery school programs.

At a March 6 meeting, the Education Finance Division of the Education Committee incorporated the bill into proposed Article 4. The division will consider it for inclusion in HF88 at a later date.

Farm financial information

"I've had my biggest personal failings when I didn't have the records to back up the business management decisions that I had to make," said Rep. Don Frerichs (IR-Rochester) at a March 12 meeting of the Governmental Operations Committee.

"Farmers have to understand exactly what their farm is doing to them or for them and make some tough management decisions."

Frerichs was before the committee to present his bill, HF581, which would appropriate money to the state board of vocational education and to the agricultural extension service at the University of Minnesota to collect and evaluate data on the farm crisis.

He said currently there is no way of getting information with which to base conclusions as to the situation of Minnesota farmers.

The bill would also create a nine-member task force to develop procedures for collecting data on the financial status of agriculture in Minnesota, and report back to the Legislature.

HF581 got a recommendation to pass, and now goes to the Appropriations Committee.

Charge account interest

Shoppers who charge instead of paying cash may find themselves paying a higher price for credit under HF183 (Himle, IR-Bloomington), a bill the Commerce and Development Committee recommended to pass on March 12.

Retailers like Daytons, Powers, or Donaldsons could charge their card users an annual interest rate of 18 percent. Present law allows 16 percent for these stores and others with annual gross sales of over $25 million. The law, the only one in the country with a rate this low, already lets small retailers charge up to 18 percent.

Supporters say the two-percent increase would level the competitive playing field. Opponents say the large retailers are being greedy and are going overboard in asking the Legislature to eliminate the split interest rate.

Water contamination

"It's not a horrible problem, but let's use our heads while we're awake," said Rep. Tim Sherman (IR-Winona) introducing HF535, a bill that would end the use of lead-based solder in water pipes. He spoke before the Health Care subcommittee of the Health and Human Services Committee on March 12.

According to Sherman, a plumber by trade, lead from soldered joints can leach into the water supply.

Rep. Karen Clark (DFL-Mpls), who presented an amendment to the bill, said lead contamination in schools can be a health threat. "I've spoken with the Department of Health and there can be a problem with contamination in water that's been in the pipes over school vacations," she said.

Clark's amendment would require schools to flush water pipes after any vacation periods of more than two weeks.

The bill passed as amended and goes next to the full Health and Human Services Committee.

Victims' compensation fund

HF156 (Olsen, IR-St. Louis Park), which would set up a compensation fund for victims of hazardous waste releases, got the approval of the Environment and Natural Resources Committee March 12.

Rep. Sally Olsen says the bill complements other legislation moving through the House and Senate that would remove provisions from the superfund law relating to liability for personal injury and economic loss (HF268, Sviggum, IR-Kenyon).

Explaining her bill, Olsen said, HF156 would set up a three-member board to administer the fund. "There is no appeal from the board's determination. Fees charged by an attorney to represent a claimant must be limited by the board," she said.

The overall limitation on the amount of compensation an injured person could recover from the fund would be $250,000 per claimant, per claim, she said. One million dollars would come from the general fund to the compensation fund for the biennium, she added.

The committee voted down amendments that would have: taxed hazardous waste generators; compensated for property damages that the superfund doesn't cover; and included death benefits to dependents.

Property tax study

On March 11, the Governmental Operations Committee recommended the passage of HF388 (Burger, IR-Long Lake) which would create a 15-member commission that would study whether to change the distribution of property taxes between land and improvement values.

Ten legislators and five governor's appointees would serve on the commission. The commissioners of finance, energy and economic development, revenue and state planning would serve as non-voting members.

"What we want to do," said author Rep. John Burger, "is separate land value taxation from improvement value taxation, then decrease taxes on improvements and increase land values to give people incentive to improve and develop their land."

The Taxes Committee will hear the bill next.

Financial aid changes

Changes in distribution policy mean that post-secondary students are now getting more aid, and more of it is going to those who need it most, said David Longanecker, executive director of the Higher Education Coordinating Board (HECB).

Longanecker told a joint meeting of the education divisions of the Appropriations and Education Committees (March 11) of the successful shift of funds to students of lower income families.

He also explained "shared responsibility" which assumes that students are dependent upon their parents who will provide some financial support until they reach age 22.

Although the HECB makes allowances for special situations and has an appeals process, in testimony over the past weeks, people have said the new policies are too restrictive. Students, in particular, said that the new policies prevent those who most need it from getting financial aid.

The Education Committee is now considering legislation that would reinstate the previous policies and allow students of any age to receive independent student status which would qualify them for more financial aid.

Mortgage moratorium

HF577/SF85* (Piper, DFL-Austin), a bill calling for a one-year moratorium on farm loan foreclosures suffered a setback late Monday night, March 11. The Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee voted 8 to 18 against the bill which already has Senate approval.

Former House member Willis Eken, who represents Minnesota Farmers' Union, said the moratorium would buy some time for farmers until they get help from the federal government.

Opponents of the bill said it would dry up credit in the rural areas and make the situation worse than it already is.

Merit selection of judges

A new system for selecting judges in Minnesota may be a possibility under a bill the House passed March 11. HF67 (Kelly, DFL-St. Paul) would set up a committee to evaluate applicants for judgeship vacancies (except Supreme Court justices) and recommend three to five names to the governor for appointment. The governor would then appoint one of the recommended persons or request a second list.

Chief author Randy Kelly says the bill will open up the selection process and allow those attorneys who haven't been politically involved a chance for a judicial appointment. He says now the governor can appoint anyone he wants to with no check on that power. Governor Perpich, by choice, has selected judicial appointees through a committee. HF67 would ensure that future governors also would, according to Kelly.

Opponents say the bill gives too much power to the judiciary in the selection process. Under the bill, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court would appoint four members to the committee. District, county, and municipal judges would elect one member. The governor would appoint five permanent members and two special members for district, county, and municipal court vacancies.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

Correction

In the article, "Farm aid," on page 4-5 of last week's Session Weekly, the second paragraph should read:

Under the plan, SF54 (Redalen, IR-Fountain), farmers could get loans for spring planting at a lower rate of interest through an interest buydown program. The state would pay two-thirds of the difference between the interest rate charged to the farmer and the commerce commissioner's interest rate.

The sixth paragraph should read:

As a condition for receiving the state-paid interest for 60 days, lenders must agree to carry the loan for an additional 60 days without interest and sign an agreement with the state to stop foreclosure on farm loans which they submitted to FmHA for guarantees and debt restructuring, until FmHA responds or 90 days, whichever comes first.

(There's no foreclosure grace period as mentioned in the article.)

Child abuse reporting

When and how does Minnesota's child abuse reporting law apply? State law says certain people, such as physicians and teachers, must report child abuse. But how sure do they have to be that abuse is occurring before they make that report? On March 11 the Crime and Family Law Committee heard HF275 (Levi, IR-Dellwood), a bill that attempts to clear up the confusion.

According to Hennepin County Attorney Tom Johnson, the issue stems from a court decision involving two educators at the Children's Theatre Company and School in Minneapolis who failed to report suspected child sexual abuse.

Johnson said Judge Charles Porter dismissed the cases for a couple reasons. First, the law set up two different standards for people who must report abuse—one standard required them to report when they "suspected" abuse and the other required them to report when they had "reasonable cause to believe" abuse has taken or is taking place.

"A second problem," said Johnson, "was that the word 'suspicion' or 'suspected' was not sufficiently definable, and was too vague to meet a constitutional test when requiring someone to report abuse, or face a misdemeanor penalty."

"As a result," said Johnson, the judge "held the statute constitutionally vague."

Levi's bill aims at clarifying how certain someone needs to be about abuse occurring before he or she must report it to authorities. Hearings on the bill continue next week.

Boxing ban

Professional and amateur boxing could be a thing of the past in Minnesota if HF198 (Kahn, DFL-Mpls) becomes law.

Calling the sport a "public celebration of violence," Kahn introduced her bill and the reasons for it to the Gaming subcommittee of the Regulated Industries and Energy Committee on March 11. Kahn says boxing is the only sport where the aim is to injure the opponent and, specifically, the brain of the opponent.

She said, "A hard blow to the head makes the brain twist inside the skull and bump its walls, tearing apart the brain's delicate and internal tissue, eroding its surface, giving rise to the punch-drunk symptoms of some former professional boxers."

Opponents to HF198 say that boxing, in its finest form, is an art and that part of boxers' training teaches them to "carry" and "slip" punches to avoid serious injury.

Nonpublic schools

Nonpublic school educators would have a forum where they can express their views and concerns about state education policy under HF322 (Gruenes, IR-St.

Cloud). The bill would require the commissioner of education to appoint a five-member advisory council.

A requirement would be that council members would have knowledge of and experience in nonpublic education.

Supporters of HF322 say the advisory council would help open lines of communication and would give private educators more voice in state education policy than they presently have.

The Education Committee, March 11, recommended the bill to pass. It moves on now to the Appropriations Committee.

World Trade Center

The ABCs of marketing Minnesota are agriculture, biomedical technology, and computers, says Dick Broeker, director of Minnesota's World Trade Center.

"There are a lot of willing buyers of Minnesota products out there, and there are a lot of willing sellers," he says, "but between the two is a swamp, and much of the swamp is a language problem. The trade center is just the tool to drain the swamp."

Speaking before the State Departments Division of the Appropriations Committee March 8, Broeker said the trade center, one of nine in the country and one of 40 in the world, "will be the best office development this side of Chicago." It should help Minnesota exports catch up to the national average, he said. In terms of manufactured goods, Minnesota is $340 million behind.

Construction began on the $100 million project in St. Paul in February; completion is set for 1987.

According to Broeker, Oxford Properties, the site developer, is responsible for the price tag. Eighty-one percent of the project is privately financed; the remaining 19 percent comes from a Port Authority and City of St. Paul loan. Oxford is responsible for both loans.

The state has no fiscal commitment to the building project, but Broeker asks for about $700,000 a year to run his office which directs the marketing and services arm of the center.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

HIGHLIGHTS

Retail credit costs

Credit card users would pay 18 percent for retail credit under HF183 (Himle, IR-Bloomington) a bill that got final approval in the House on March 21.

As of now, Minnesota retailers have a split interest rate ceiling. Stores with annual gross sales over $25 million can charge an interest rate of 16 percent, while smaller retailers can charge up to 18 percent.

Supporters of the bill say the split interest rate is unfair and discriminates against larger stores, which they say are losing money on their retail credit operations, and passing that cost onto customers.

Opponents say the lower rate for smaller stores helps them be competitive, and they question why larger retailers encourage consumers to open charge accounts if they're losing money in the process.

Water contamination

The problem of groundwater contamination from leaking and abandoned underground storage tanks is becoming increasingly urgent in Minnesota, said Rep. John Rose at a meeting of the Environment and Natural Resources Committee March 21.

Rose (IR-Roseville) is author of HF1053 that would call for regulation of underground storage tanks. It would require their owners to notify the Pollution Control Agency (PCA) of their tanks' age, size, and use.

The bill would exempt noncommercial farm or residential tanks under 1100 gallons. It would prohibit people from putting tanks in without proper installation and protection against corrosion until the PCA adopts regulating rules.

Rose said a loss of only one gallon of gasoline a day can contaminate the water supply of nearly 50-thousand people. He said Minnesota has an estimated 4,000 underground gasoline storage areas, and six cities have contaminated groundwater because of leaking tanks.

The bill has the approval of the Environment and Natural Resources Committee and goes now to the Appropriations Committee.

Budget amendment

Minnesota could become the 33rd state to ratify a balanced budget resolution if HF9 (Piepho, IR-Mankato) becomes law. The Judiciary Committee heard from opponents and proponents of the bill late Wednesday afternoon, March 20.

The U.S. Constitution provides that, if two-thirds, or 34 states, ratify a resolution asking for a constitutional convention, Congress must call one. Since 1789, there have been over 400 calls for a convention, but none has succeeded in jumping the two-thirds barrier.

Idaho Congressman Larry Craig spoke for the bill saying it will put the needed pressure on Congress to propose a balanced federal budget.

Richard Cohen (DFL-St. Paul) opposes the bill. He says it's not a question of a balanced budget. The issue is making this kind of change to the longest-standing constitution in the world.

Choice of schools

Letting families choose the schools their children attend is the idea behind HF813 (Levi, IR-Dellwood).

Its author, Rep. Connie Levi, presented the bill at a March 20 meeting of the Education Committee. HF813 would allow parents of students in grades 11 and 12 to send their children to schools of their choice.

Beginning with the 1988-'89 school year, the bill would include all students in all grades. Levi says this plan would meet special student needs and interests that many schools can't accommodate.

One educator who spoke against the idea was Anoka-Hennepin School Superintendent Dr. Lew Finch. Finch said, "Many are willing to accept the very real possibility of this entire state being divided into pockets of what I call educational glory—competency and excellence, surrounded by a vast wasteland of educational deprivation."

The committee voted to recommend the bill to pass and sent it on to the Education Finance Division of the Education Committee for further hearings.

Child abuse

On March 18 and 20, the Crime and Family Law Committee took up HF848 (Blatz, IR-Bloomington), one of several pieces of child-abuse legislation moving through the legislative process.

The bill aims at providing additional protections to children and their families in allegations of child abuse in juvenile and criminal court proceedings. One of the most debated provisions at the meeting would set minimum amounts of jail time for intrafamilial sex offenders.

In response to opposition that said it may not be in the best interests of children to lock up a member of the family, even for a short time, Rep. Kathleen Blatz, author, said that while treatment is appropriate "... in the best interest of the child or the family unit it's necessary to get the idea in people's heads that this behavior is a crime ...."

As approved in committee, the bill would require prosecutors and law enforcement officials to record on audio or videotape, interviews with child abuse victims when they intend to use the statement in trial. This makes it easier to remove the alleged offender, instead of the child, from the home, and allow a parent or other supportive family member to attend a trial during the testimony of a child abuse witness who's under 16 years old.

The bill has some of the same provisions as a Senate bill that includes Attorney General Hubert Humphrey's recent proposals for strengthening child abuse laws. Legislators will work out differences between the House and Senate bills later in the session.

Board of Regents

The Legislature, in joint session March 20, elected four members to the University of Minnesota Board of Regents: Mary Schertler of St. Paul, and Charles Casey, D.V.M. of West Concord who will be serving their second terms; and former Governor Wendell Anderson of Wayzata and Stanley Sohlstrom, Ph.D., Crookston, both new to the board.

The 12-member board is the governing body of the University. Each regent serves a six-year term without pay.

Transportation bills

The Transportation Committee, March 20, gave a "do pass" recommendation to four bills that would: tighten up regulations for van-type motor homes; allow "star city" signs on interstate highways; expand the motor fuel reduced-tax zone; and permit school buses to put in overhead racks for students' books and totebags.

Transportation subcommittees next week expect to take up bills that would increase the drivers' license reinstatement fee for DWI violators and that would allow ski area signs on highway rights-of-way. Deadline for bills to be out of committees is April 4.

SBI and South Africa

Minnesota's investments are up 20 percent this year, said Howard Bicker, State Board of Investment (SBI) director at the March 19 meeting of the Appropriations Committee.

Bicker's department has $7.9 billion to invest, 69 percent of which is retirement funds.

Bicker presented his budget request for $25 million which represents a $175,000 budget reduction. He also talked about state investment ties in South Africa.

"The South Africa issue is obviously a very emotional one. We like to look at it strictly from its financial implications to the State Board of Investment.

"We have done some analysis of our portfolio related to restrictions relating to South Africa. They would affect almost 50 percent of our entire portfolio," said Bicker.

Rep. Randy Staten (DFL-Mpls) introduced a bill this year that would require the SBI to remove its funds from any financial institution or company doing business in South Africa, and invest the money in companies involved in Minnesota business.

IRAs, pensions, taxes

A bill that would give almost $400 million in tax relief to Minnesotans who have contributed to IRAs and other pension plans got the approval of the Taxes Committee on March 19.

The bill, HF705 (Himle, IR-Bloomington), would adopt total retroactive conformance with federal treatment of IRAs, other pension plans, and public employee pension funds. HF705 would allow taxpayers to subtract previous years' contributions from their 1985 and '86 income tax returns.

Taxpayers would also get a deduction for 1985 contributions to IRAs and public employee pension plans. The bill now becomes a part of the House omnibus tax bill which will get committee attention later this session.

Gambling in Ely

With the decline of the mining and logging industries, and a tourism industry that's facing its own troubles, the people in northeastern Minnesota are looking for alternatives—one of which is casino-style gambling.

A number of them from the Ely area, including the city's mayor, came to the March 19 meeting of the General Legislation and Veterans Affairs Committee to support HF471 (Battaglia, DFL-Two Harbors)—a bill that would allow Ely to operate a casino gambling facility.

Ely has a population of just under 5,000 and faces an unemployment rate of about 38 percent. Craig Kronholm, a banker, compared the effect of the decline in mining employment in Ely to the effect the closing of major companies, such as 3M, Honeywell, and Univac, and the nationwide closing of Northwest and Republic Airlines would have on the metropolitan Twin City area.

Opponents argue against the social, moral, and economic impact of legalized gambling. The committee will continue hearings on the bill.

Waste victims' comp

Victims of hazardous could collect up to $250,000 for injuries if HF156 (Olsen, S., IR-St. Louis Park) becomes law. The bill, which would set up a fund to help compensate victims, won the approval of the Judiciary Committee March 19.

Author Rep. Sally Olsen says the bill complements other legislation now in the process in the House and Senate attempting to amend the current superfund law.

HF156 would allow victims who cannot collect damages from a court of law to collect from the state fund. It would limit their recovery to personal injury and wage loss damages. Victims couldn't collect for injuries that occur within one year of exposure; for injuries they receive at work or from a consumer product; or for any property damage.

Victims would have a choice of collecting from the superfund or going to court with their injury claims. The Governmental Operations Committee will take up the bill next.

Crowded classrooms

Crowded classrooms lie at the root of many of our educational problems, according to Rep. Jim Heap (IR-Plymouth).

Heap is author of HF349 which the Higher Education Division of the Education Committee recommended to pass on March 19. The bill would call for the state to provide incentives for schools, such as aid for staff salaries, to reduce class sizes in kindergarten through third grades.

Heap said study after study has shown that smaller classes lead to better students and a better education. He said early smaller class sizes may have prevented some of the remedial education costs the state now has.

Drugs and racehorses

Supporters and opponents of "no-drug" rules for racehorses in Minnesota squared off March 18 before the Regulated Industries and Energy Committee. They met because of HF755 (Carlson, D., IR-Sandstone), a bill that would authorize Minnesota's nine-member racing commission to allow the use of certain medication on a race day or after the 48-hour drug rules.

Opponents of the bill say the commission doesn't need it because the commission can already set rules to allow the use of vitamins, foods additives, and topical applications of medication that the bill calls for. They say the biggest argument is over the use of two drugs known in the racing industry as "Bute" and "Lasix," which are illegal at Minnesota tracks under state law.

Rep. Doug Carlson, author of the bill, said the word drug would more correctly be medication. He said Lasix has been clinically in use for years and that it would help bleeders (horses with lung hemorrhaging).

The committee amended the bill to remove the word "drug" and insert "medication" and recommended it to pass.

Gifted student aid

Gifted and talented Minnesota students may get more help with their education. Under a set of bills before the Education Committee meeting March 18, programs, services, and financing would increase.

Minnesota is a leader in all areas of education but second from the bottom in money for the gifted and talented, said Rep. Wendell Erickson, (IR-Hills), author of HF283 and HF869, two bills that support more aid to the gifted.

Rep. Darby Nelson (DFL-Champlin) said that, even with the increased funding, Minnesota would still rank only 33rd out of 37 states with programs. "We must not forget that 50 percent of our gifted and talented kids are under-achievers," Nelson said. "If that's true," he said, "it's time to put this tremendous resource to work."

Checkoff on tax form

Public financing of state election campaigns through the income tax checkoff would be a thing of the past under HF450 (Blatz, IR-Bloomington), a bill the Family Law subcommittee of the Crime and Family Law Committee heard on March 15.

The bill proposes a $2 checkoff on the state income tax form that would put money into a trust fund for child abuse prevention programs. It would replace the current checkoff for state election campaigns.

Rep. Kathleen Blatz, author of HF450, got unanimous approval on the concept of funding child abuse prevention. But she ran into opposition on eliminating public campaign financing. Opposition argues against "pitting one good project against another."

Blatz maintained, that with a tight budget, dollars will be hard to come by, and, from her perspective, she said, "I'm trying to get the money for the trust fund, and I don't know where else we can get a good sum of money . . ."

The committee recommended the bill to pass. It goes now to the full committee.

Minnesota history

The kinds of government records the Historical Society should keep, and for how long are questions Russell Fridley, director of the Minnesota Historical Society, discussed at the Appropriations Committee meeting on March 15.

Fridley submitted the society's budget request for $32 million and reviewed some of the decisions the society has to make in preserving Minnesota's history. Fridley said what to preserve and what's worth preserving for a hundred years are always tough questions.

In cases of agency records, he said the society would be looking at the basic decisions an agency made, the annual reports, the policy decisions, and the minutes. As to a medium for preservation, Fridley said videotape is the way of the future, and he said he wants the society to get more television and radio tapes for the archives.

School district funding

School districts could pace their spending on a different schedule under HF703 (Backlund, IR-Fridley), a bill that would change the schedule for payment of funds to school districts.

Rep. Gordon Backlund, author of the bill, told the Education Finance Division of the Education Committee on March 15 that the bill would get money to the districts faster so they could invest it until they actually needed it, thus profiting from earned interest.

The extra money would allow school districts to hire additional teachers and keep their programs up to date, according to Backlund.

How a bill becomes a law

● A bill is an idea for a new law, or an idea to abolish or change an existing law. Several thousand bills enter the legislative process in Minnesota each time the Legislature meets.

● Minnesota has a bicameral Legislature, or two groups of elected citizens—senators in the Senate—representatives in the House of Representatives—who study, discuss, and vote on bills, acting for the people of Minnesota. Bills begin their legislative journey in either the House or Senate, or both. To become a law, all bills must pass both the House and Senate and go to the governor for his approval and signature.

● The Idea

Anyone can propose an idea for a bill—an individual, a consumer group, corporation, professional association, a governmental unit, the governor. Most ideas come from members of the Legislature. The revisor of statutes puts the ideas into proper legal form as a bill for introduction. Only legislators can introduce bills into the process.

● Chief Author

The legislator who sponsors and introduces the bill in the Legislature is the chief author. The chief author's name appears on the bill with the bill's file number to identify it as it moves through the legislative process. The chief author may select other authors, whose names also appear on the bill—no more than five authors on a bill.

● Introduction in the legislature

When the author introduces a bill in the House, it gets a House File (HF) number (HF264, for example), indicating the chronological order of the bill's introduction. In the Senate the bill gets a Senate File (SF) (SF224, for example). Each HF usually has a companion SF in the Senate. All revenue-raising bills must begin in the House.

● Committee consideration

At introduction, the bill has its first reading (the Minnesota Constitution requires three readings for all bills—on three separate days). The presiding officer of the House or Senate refers it to an appropriate standing committee for committee action. All committee meetings are open to the public.

A committee may: recommend passage of a bill in its original form; recommend passage after amendment by the committee; or make no recommendation, in which case a bill may die when the session ends. After acting on a bill, the committee sends a report to the House or Senate, stating its actions and recommendations.

● General orders

After adoption of the committee report in the House and Senate, the bill has its second reading and goes onto General Orders of the Day. In the Committee of the Whole, legislators discuss bills on General Orders. They may debate the issues, adopt amendments, and present arguments. They may vote to recommend that a bill "do pass," recommend postponement, or recommend further committee action.

● Calendar

The calendar is a list of bills the Committee of the Whole recommends to pass. At this point a bill has its third reading. Amendments to the bill must have the unanimous consent of the entire body. Legislators vote on it for the final time.

By committee recommendation, non-controversial bills can by-pass General Orders and go directly onto a Consent Calendar, usually passing without debate. Every bill requires a majority vote of the full membership of the House and Senate to pass.

● Conference committee

If the House and Senate do not agree on a bill, a conference committee of three to five senators, and an equal number of representatives, meets to reach an agreement. If both bodies then pass the bill in compromise form, it goes to the governor.

● Governor

When a bill arrives at the governor's office, he may: sign it, and the bill becomes law; veto it (return it, with a "veto message," stating his objections); pocket veto the bill (after final adjournment of the Legislature); exercise his right to line veto portions of appropriations bills.

If he does not sign or veto a bill within three days after receiving it, while the Legislature is in session, the bill becomes law.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 12 MARCH 29, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

Waste management

The Environment and Natural Resources Committee recommended to pass HF939 (Rose, IR-Roseville) March 28. The bill would prohibit land disposal of waste in the metropolitan area after Jan. 1, 1990, unless the waste comes from a resource recovery facility.

Sandra Gardebring, chair of the Metropolitan Council, spoke in support of the bill. She said the metropolitan area generates about two million tons of solid waste, of which 95 percent goes into eight existing landfills, creating groundwater problems.

"The Pollution Control Agency has monitored those eight landfills, and a number of other closed landfills in the seven-county area, and has indicated that 13 of the 15 operating and closed sites are leaching into groundwater.

"That's creating potentially hazardous conditions in groundwater that supplies the only source of drinking water to 60 percent of the people who live in the seven-county area," says Gardebring.

The committee rereferred the bill to the Local and Urban Affairs Committee for another hearing.

Vouching for voters

A bill limiting the number of voters another voter can vouch for on election day got the approval of the General Legislation Veterans Affairs Committee on March 28.

Current law allows a person to register on election day if a voter in that precinct vouches that he or she personally knows the person is a resident of the precinct. HF634 would allow a voter to vouch for no more than three voters.

Registration of firearms

Local governments couldn't have stricter gun control laws than the state law if HF576 (Begich, DFL-Eveleth) becomes law. The bill got a favorable recommendation from the General Legislation and Veterans Affairs Committee on March 28.

Supporters of the bill say the current system causes enormous problems for people who want to be law abiding citizens. Opponents say local governments, especially those in the metro area, need stricter regulations because of higher crime rates.

Student aid

Rural and farm students could see more financial aid coming their way under HF999 (Gruenes, IR-St. Cloud), which the Higher Education Division of the Education Committee recommended to pass March 28.

Rep. Dave Gruenes, author of HF999, says many farm and rural business families with high assets also have high debts. These debts don't always get consideration when the Higher Education Coordinating Board, and other funding sources, look at who gets how much in financial aid, according to Gruenes.

"Presently, with statistics from the HCEB, there are perhaps, in the state of Minnesota, about 700 students that are not receiving financial aid that would fall into this category of high-debt, high-assets, and little-income," he says.

HF999 would include those combined factors in determining financial aid. Ron Estes, a student spokesman, and David Longa-necker of the Higher Education Coordinating Board both expressed support for the proposal.

Correction

In the highlight, "Choice of schools," on page 2 of last week's Session Weekly, the last paragraph — about the March 20 committee action on HF813 (Levi, IR-Dellwood) — should read:

The committee heard the bill and sent it on to the Education Finance Division of the Education Committee for further hearings.

Budget amendment

The Judiciary Committee voted 10 to 9 March 27 to send HF9 (Piepho, IR-Mankato) to the full House without a committee recommendation.

The bill is a resolution that would have Minnesota memorialize Congress to call a constitutional convention for the purpose of proposing a balanced budget amendment to the United States Constitution.

If the House passes the bill, Minnesota could become the 33rd state to ratify such a resolution. The constitution provides that Congress must call a constitutional convention if two-thirds (34 states) ratify resolutions requesting it.

Rep. Mark Piepho, author, says the bill's necessary to force Congress to act on its own and adopt a balanced budget amendment. Opponents say they fear the result may be a runaway convention, because the constitution provides no guidelines to control or govern it.

'Pre-'73' retirees

"Pre-'73ers" is a term one hears at the Legislature again this year. It refers to public employees who retired before July 1973, when the Legislature made changes in calculation of retirement benefits.

Before 1973, the state based pension benefits on the average salary the retirees made during all of their years of service. After 1973, major retirement funds figured dollar amounts on the average of retirees' five highest paying years.

Karen Dudley of the Legislative Commission on Pensions and Retirement says the result was low pensions for pre-73ers. Dudley spoke to the Governmental Operations Committee on March 27.

The committee was considering HF414 (Knickerbocker, IR-Hopkins), a bill that would help compensate the nearly 14,000 pre-'73ers by providing lump-sum payments of $19 and $20, 1985 and 1986, respectively, for each year of service.

"Two people who taught or worked in state government for about the same number of years, maybe with identical jobs, started about the same time, earned the same salaries, could have quite different pensions, because one chose to retire before July 1, and the other after that date. In some cases, the amounts doubled for the person retiring after July 1," Dudley said.

HF414 would also fund a study on benefit adjustments to determine if there might be a more permanent solution to the problem. The committee recommended the bill to pass and rereferred it to the Appropriations Committee.

Horseracing

June 26, 1:30 p.m. is post time and the start of horseracing in Minnesota at the new $70 million Canterbury Downs track, says Rick Evans, executive commissioner of the Racing Commission.

The Minnesota Racing Commission is in charge of regulations and is requiring licenses for almost everyone involved—from parking lot attendants to jockeys—whose fingerprints will be on record with the State Bureau of Criminal Apprehension and the FBI. Horses will bear lip tattoos for identification.

Evans was at the Appropriations Committee meeting on March 27 with the commission's first biennial request, $1.8 million. He told the committee about this summer's schedule.

"Wednesday, June 26 will be the first day of racing in 1985. The last day will be Tuesday, October 15. Wedged in between there are 83 days of racing, principally, Wednesday through Sunday. Monday and Tuesday will be dark days.

"However, if Monday is a holiday, then Canterbury Downs has requested permission to race on, for instance, July 4, Labor Day, Columbus Day, and so forth, which are Mondays," said Evans.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, Room 9, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-2146.

Next year's season will start May 1 and last for 145 racing days. Some races could include quarter horses and harness racing.

Light rail transit

The chairman of the Regional Transit Board, Elliot Perovich, appeared before the Appropriations Committee on March 26 to request $24 million to continue to run the Transit Board, and to go ahead with proposals for a light rail transit system.

Preliminary engineering studies are set to begin this summer, and the board wants to have a solid proposal ready for the 1987 legislative session.

Perovich says light rail will eventually become cost effective because of the hook-ups with other systems, but he says, no one has ever been able to run a transit system completely from the take at the fare box. It will need some state funding.

The governor's recommendation for the board's budget is about $8 million less than Perovich asked for.

Deer hunting

Deer hunters will be pleased with HF940 (Rose, IR-Roseville), a bill that would allow the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to permit hunters to take two deer in one year, on an experimental basis.

Author Rep. John Rose, presenting his bill to the Environment and Natural Resources Committee on March 26, credited DNR's management of the state's deer population.

"One of the success stories of the Department of Natural Resources has been the way they've been managing the deer herd in Minnesota. Two consecutive years of outstanding harvests, and probably, one of the healthiest periods of time for our deer herd . . .," said Rose.

The bill goes now to the full House with a recommendation to pass from the committee.

Dramshop law

If you're injured in an accident because of a drunk driver, you can sue the bar or restaurant for selling liquor to the over-indulgent individual, under Minnesota's present dramshop law.

HF255 (Dempsey, IR-New Ulm), a bill the Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee recommended to pass March 26, could make some changes in how the law works. The bill has the backing of the Restaurant, Hotel, and Resort Association, because insurance that will cover dramshop claims has been a problem for the liquor industry.

Representing the Association, Tom Newcombe said, "Companies that wrote dramshop insurance have left the state because of the damage and liability climate. Everyone of them lost its shirt writing dramshop insurance. People who understand the market are going to testify that the only way you are going to entice some companies back is by limiting liability and damages."

One of the changes HF255 would make is to prohibit injury victims from collecting pecuniary losses. That generally means, in the language of law, loss of consortium, services, and advise and assistance.

Another change would reduce the statute of limitations on dramshop actions from two years to one year.

Corporate takeover

After several court tests and takeover battles, the Minnesota corporate takeover law was back in the Commerce and Economic Development Committee March 26 where the committee considered some changes by way of HF916 (Heap, IR-Plymouth). The law deals with state securities and corporate laws to protect shareholders in contested takeovers of one company by another.

The bill's author, Rep. Jim Heap, said he worked with a group of specialists in January, studying the takeover law. He says he found that it had some inequities and imbalances and that it gave the commerce commissioner, who has the authority to judge the fairness of a registration statement (takeover offer materials), too much discretion.

Heap says HF916 would make some technical and clarification changes to the present law, and scaledown some of the commissioner's power. These changes, he says, would make Minnesota's takeover law a model for other states. The committee recommended the bill to pass.

Crime devices

Under present Minnesota law, enforcement officers may confiscate and sell weapons, transport devices, and containers that offenders have used in committing criminal acts.

On March 25, the Crime and Family Law Committee recommended to pass HF636 (Bishop, IR-Rochester), a bill that would expand on that law so officers could also claim "communication devices or components," such as computers and telephones.

Rep. Dave Bishop, author of HF636, says, "Computers with telephones can transfer money out of your bank account into the criminal's bank account, and that conveyance is just exactly as if he had walked into the bank with a gun, taken the money, gone out and got into his automobile, in which case we would confiscate the gun and the automobile."

Under HF636, officers could take the computer, sell it, and give a percentage of money from the sale to the victim. The bill would also call for offenders to forfeit any money they made through crimes they committed.

The committee recommended the bill to pass. It goes next to the House floor.

Unemployment insurance

The Labor-Management Relations Committee heard HF847 (Gutknecht, IR-Rochester) on March 25. According to its author, the bill attempts to bring solvency to a fund that has paid out more than it has taken in, in seven of the past 13 years.

Author Rep. Gil Gutknecht says, the bill's goals are to "return permanent solvency to our unemployment insurance program. We will be out of the red by the end of 1986, and, hopefully, will set up a system that will serve our employers and employees well as we go through the next decade."

The bill faced opposition from Commissioner of Economic Security Barbara Beerhalter who testified against it. She disagreed with the benefit cuts in the bill and said it would encourage employers to create seasonal jobs.

Beerhalter said the governor would announce his plan for the unemployment insurance problem at the end of the week. On a 12-10 vote, the committee recommended HF847 to pass.

War on drugs

"At federal and state levels, I'm convinced that, right now, we are losing the drug war," says an undercover narcotics agent from Washington County. Drugs, especially cocaine, are available almost anywhere, he told the Criminal Justice subcommittee March 22.

The agent said current drug penalties don't have enough teeth in them to keep offenders locked up, or to act as incentive to get offenders who get caught to inform on other dealers.

"It's a multi-billion dollar business we can't compete with. We arrest somebody, but by the time they get through the system—if it's a first offense—we're lucky if they do any jail time, let alone any prison time," he says.

The agent testified for HF654 (Marsh, IR-Sauk Rapids), a bill that would set mandatory minimum jail sentences for certain drug offenses and would increase penalties for residential burglaries, a source of funding for drug habits.

Under the bill, selling cocaine would mean a prison term of not less than a year with no probation, parole, or supervised release, and selling heroin would mean no less than 21 months.

HF654 got the approval of the subcommittee, and on March 27, the full Crime and Family Law Committee recommended the bill to pass.

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 13      APRIL 4, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

Note: Due to the printer's holiday on Friday, April 5, coverage in this issue is from Thursday, March 28 (2 p.m.) to Wednesday, April 3 (2 p.m.).

Child abuse tax checkoff

HF450 (Blatz, IR-Bloomington), the bill that would establish a child abuse prevention trust fund, came out of the Crime and Family Law Committee on April 3 with a recommendation to pass.

The bill would remove the $2 state election campaign checkoff on tax forms and replace it with a $2 checkoff for a child abuse prevention trust fund. The bill's author, Rep. Kathleen Blatz, says she hopes the proposal would raise about $800,000 for prevention programs.

Though the concept of putting money into child abuse prevention had the approval all around the committee table, one of the effects of the bill would be to eliminate public financing of state elections. And some legislators oppose that. They say public financing helps to place some limits on election spending and promotes good government.

Blatz says she benefits from public financing, but it's a matter of priorities when dollars are hard to come by. And, she said, only 17 percent of the people check it off.

Although some committee members made attempts to change the method of getting dollars into the trust fund, the checkoff idea stood. The committee recommended the bill to pass and sent it on to the Taxes Committee for further review.

Wine in food stores

Some folks say it's a bill that steals from Peter to pay Paul. They're talking about the wine-in-food-stores bill, HF606 (Bennett, IR-Shoreview), which moved a step closer to becoming law April 2, when the Commerce and Economic Development Committee recommended it to pass as amended.

HF606 would allow grocers to get an off-sale wine license to sell wine with no more than 21 percent alcohol by volume.

Opponents say the wine-sale law would be as tough to enforce as beer and intoxicating liquor sales. Before voting to recommend passage, the committee added an amendment that provides for a shutdown of all operations if officials suspend a store's license for illegal sales or other violations.

The bill will be on the House floor next where amendments are again possible.

Hunting and fishing fees

People 65 and over that he's talked to don't like it too well, says Rep. John Rose, when they hear that senior citizens may have to pay a $3 fee to fish or spear. But, he says, they're more supportive of the idea when they find out the state gets federal money based on the number of licenses it sells.

Rose has a proposal in the Legislature that the Environment and Natural Resources Committee recommended to pass April 2. Under the bill, senior citizens could no longer fish or spear without a license. They'd pay a $3 license fee.

Nothing herein is admissible as legal proof of legislative intent.

Other increases in HF1340 (Rose, IR-Roseville) would mean $5 instead of $4 for the waterfowl conservation and trout and salmon stamps; $200 for a moose license instead of $140; $25 for a bear license instead of $15. The nonresident license to hunt deer would go from $75 to $100.

The bill goes next to the Appropriations Committee for its approval before the House can act on it.

Minors as medical donors

When Lori Ehlenfeldt of Lewiston, a Winona High School senior, renewed her driver's license, she asked to have "donor" imprinted on it so she could donate parts of her body in case of her accidental death. The person taking care of her license request said she couldn't do that because she was a minor.

That refusal gave Ehlenfeldt an idea for a bill which Rep. Virgil Johnson has introduced. HF683 (Johnson, IR-Caledonia) would allow people over 18 to donate all or part of their bodies upon their death. Minors would sign a gift card, a will, a driver's license, or some other document, stating that's what they want to do. The law would, however, require signature of their parents.

"I thought that was a little bit unfair, because there are a lot of people who get into car accidents that aren't able to (donate organs), and I am. That's why the bill was written," Ehlenfeldt told the Judiciary Committee on April 2.

The bill, which the committee recommended to pass, would amend the state's Uniform Anatomical Gift Act. It goes next to the full House.

Utility tax relief

Utilities would get an estimated $19 million annually in property tax relief under HF1190 (Osthoff, DFL-St. Paul), a bill the Local Government Finance Division of the Taxes Committee recommended to pass on April 2.

HF1190 would require assessors to assess electrical distribution equipment, such as transmission lines, at 33 percent of market value, instead of the current 43 percent.

The tax relief would also apply to electrical equipment that cooperatives own — if they are located within municipal boundaries — but not to lines in unincorporated areas. The bill will become part of the division's omnibus bill which will then go to the full Taxes Committee in about two weeks.

Dome space exemption

Office space, dining facilities, and private suites in the Metrodome would be exempt from property taxes if HF1173 (Jacobs, DFL-Coon Rapids) becomes law. Author Rep. Joel Jacobs, also one of the authors of the 1977 law authorizing construction of the stadium, said the Legislature never intended that any part of the stadium should be subject to property taxes.

The Minneapolis city attorney has issued an opinion saying the facilities that professional baseball and football teams should be subject to property taxes.

On April 2, the Local Government Finance Division recommended the bill to pass. It will become part of the division's omnibus bill which will go to the full Taxes Committee in about two weeks.

Muskie spearing

Spearing of muskie is illegal in Minnesota, and most of it happens by mistake, says Rep. Brad Stan-
 ius. Stan-
 ius told the Environment and Natural Resources Committee April 2 that those mistakes are hurting the state's muskie population.

The fishing world considers muskie to be trophy fish, which people catch and release, or mount if they catch any big enough to be keepers. Once in awhile, says Stanius, someone will mistake a muskie for another fish.

To reduce chances of that error, and give more protection to the fish, Stanius is proposing legislation that would allow the Department of Natural Resources to prohibit spearing in lakes, or parts of lakes, where conditions are adequate for muskie habitat—about 100 in Minnesota.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, Room 9, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-2146.

Information Officer: Jean Steiner • Editor: Peg Hamerston • Associate Editor/Writer: Bonnie Kollodge • Assistant Editor/Writer: Lisa Lissimore • Art and Production Coordinator: Donna J. Lyons • Session Writers: Patrick Collins, Michael N. Gray, Susan J. Shepard • Bill Introductions & Committee Schedules: Cathy Elmstrom, Terri Hudoba, Dorothy Sawyer.

HF413 (Stanisus, IR-White Bear Lake) goes next to the House floor with the committee's recommendation to pass.

Wholesale liquor

Liquor manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers squared off April 2 at a meeting of the Commerce and Economic Development Committee. They were there to testify on HF659 (Bennett, IR-Shoreview), a bill that would change Minnesota's 1973 wholesale liquor distribution law.

The bill would repeal the 1973 mandate that requires liquor manufacturers to make their products available to any Minnesota wholesaler who wants to buy them at an equal price. It would, instead, allow manufacturers to choose to whom they want to sell or distribute their products.

Those in the industry, making the distilled products, favor the bill. But wholesalers, and some retailers, oppose it. They argue that the bill, if it becomes law, would return Minnesota to the days when retailers, wholesalers, and consumers, were at the mercy of the liquor manufacturer, who controlled access to almost all of the liquor brands for sale in the state.

The committee recommended the bill to pass; it goes now to the full House.

Abortion ban bill

A bill which would automatically ban abortions if the U.S. Supreme Court reverses its 1973 decision got the approval of the House on April 1, with a 98-33 vote. The bill, HF771 (Dempsey, IR-New Ulm), would restore the state's pre-1973 law which banned abortions except to save the life of the mother, if the nation's highest court modifies or reverses its Roe v. Wade decision.

The bill now goes to the Senate where its companion, SF1150, is in the Health and Human Services Committee.

License tags

Current license tags signal that you have registered ownership of your vehicle and have paid your license fees. Sometimes, though, your renewal notice doesn't reach you, and you may unknowingly be driving without current tags on your plates.

Should that happen and a law enforcement officer tickets you, you will get 10 additional days to pay the tax and put the tags on, under HF454 (McKasy, IR-Mendota Heights). You'd have to prove, however, that the Department of Public Safety failed to send the notice of renewal date.

The House passed HF454 on April 1.

Employee reporting

Employees who report their employers' illegal activities could have protection under HF56 (Piepho, IR-Mankato). The bill's author, Rep. Mark Piepho, calls it an employees' social responsibility act.

Piepho says the bill would encourage employees to report, without fear of recrimination, any wrong-doing that violates any federal, state, or local law or regulation. However, the bill would also level a $300 fine against anyone that knowingly makes false reports.

On April 1, the Labor-Management Relations Committee unanimously gave the bill a recommendation to pass.

Education omnibus bill

The education omnibus bill went to the full Education Committee April 1 with a unanimous vote of approval from the committee's Education Finance Division.

The omnibus bill is a composite of education bills that the committee has adopted into the 12 articles that make up HF88 (Olsen, S., IR-St. Louis Park). Despite the unanimous vote, some legislators expressed concern about the dollar amount on the bill coming in less than the governor's recommendation.

Even in deficit years, the Legislature has come in proposing more money for education than the governor, said Rep. Ken Nelson (DFL-Mpls).

On April 3, the full Education Committee recommended the bill to pass as amended, and rereferred it to the Appropriations Committee.

Farm study bill

A bill that would put $1.6 million into a study of the farm problem gained a recommendation to pass from the Appropriations Committee on March 29. Author of HF581 (Frerichs, IR-Rochester) says this should have happened long ago, but that the data is still needed to make accurate decisions.

The bill would create a task force of legislators, people from agriculture, and University of Minnesota experts that would report back to the Legislature by the end of the year.

The bill would also offer help in administering the emergency loan program the Legislature passed three weeks ago. It goes next to the House floor.

African famine

A hearing on HF879 (Staten, DFL-Mpls), a bill that would send Minnesota products to help famine-stricken people in Africa, brought news commentator Pat Miles to a meeting of the Agriculture Committee March 29.

Miles told about her recent trip to the Sudan and of the suffering she saw there. She urged legislators to do what they could to educate people about the gravity of conditions in Africa.

Rep. Staten, the bill's author, said some 150 million people in 24 countries face malnutrition and starvation. "We're talking about literally hundreds of thousands of people who are perishing, dying every day — a state of hopelessness."

Rep. Linda Scheid (DFL-Brooklyn Park), author of HF1067 (now part of HF879), and Staten plan to ask for at least $1 million in relief. Scheid, a former Peace Corps volunteer in Ethiopia, summarized the situation by saying, "We may have farm problems here, but people aren't dropping where they stand."

The Agriculture Committee recommended the bill to pass. It goes next to the Appropriations Committee.

Victims' compensation fund

The victims' hazardous substance compensation fund passed the Appropriations Committee March 29. The bill, HF847 (Olsen, IR-St.Louis Park), would appropriate $1 million from the state's general fund to establish the victims' compensation fund. The bill would also limit the claimant to $250,000 and prevent the victim from filing suit if he files a claim with the state.

Unemployment comp

Rep. Gil Gutknecht (IR-Rochester) is author of HF847, this session's unemployment compensation bill. Gutknecht says, if the Legislature fails to act on unemployment comp, it will mean a 90 percent increase in benefits over the next five years, with an increase in tax revenues of only 38 percent, and a debt of almost half a billion dollars.

Gutknecht presented his plan for reform to the Governmental Operations Committee on March 29. The plan would require applicants to work longer to qualify for benefits; change weekly benefit amounts to a flat one-percent of a worker's gross income over the last 52 weeks; cap the maximum benefit amount at $200 for 1985 (now $198); and set a minimum benefit amount at $56 for anyone who qualifies.

The section that affects seasonal workers is one of the more controversial parts of his plan, says Gutknecht. That section says people can't continue to draw benefits year after year in the same quarter. Workers would be ineligible for unemployment if they've drawn benefits two years in a row during the same quarter.

The committee recommended the bill to pass on a vote of 14 to 9. Those opposed to the plan say it isn't a consensus bill, that it has only the support of employer groups, and that it hurts the people most in need of help.

Lemon law

Minnesota's auto warranty law, or lemon law, went into effect in 1983, and the Legislature has amended it a few times since. On March 28, the Commerce and Economic Development Committee recommended to pass, HF838 (Begich, DFL-Eveleth), which would make another change.

HF838 would require car manufacturers or their agents to furnish buyers with temporary replacement cars while their own vehicles are in for repair, or to reimburse owners for cost of a rental replacement.

The bill also provides that, when a car buyer goes through an informal dispute settlement program, a decision must come within 60 days of the consumer's notification of dissatisfaction to the manufacturer. The law requires consumers to use the dispute settlement process if the manufacturer has such a program.

Rep. Joseph Begich, author of HF838 and the state's original lemon law, says the law works well, but it needs this amendment to be more effective.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 14      APRIL 12, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

Child abuse checkoff

On April 11, the Taxes Committee voted 17 to 14 in favor of HF450 (Blatz, IR-Bloomington). The bill would replace the campaign checkoff on Minnesota income tax returns with a child abuse prevention trust fund checkoff.

The bill would create a board of trustees which would make grants from the trust fund to local prevention programs beginning June 1, 1986.

Combined sewage overflow

Every time it rains in the Twin Cities untreated sewage runs into the Mississippi River, Barry Schade from the Pollution Control Agency (PCA) told the Environment and Natural Resources Committee on April 11. That comes to 4.6 billion gallons a year making for unsuitable recreation conditions and violating water quality standards.

The PCA and others testified on HF849 (Valento, IR-Little Canada) a bill that attempts to relieve Minnesota's $1.6 billion sewer problem. It would set up a state financial assistance program to stop the combined sewage overflow and would impose a sales tax on water and sewer services to pay for it.

The bill, says author Rep. Don Valento, is needed to meet Environmental Protection Agency deadlines on fishable and swimmable standards for the Mississippi River, for waste water treatment plants, and to respond to a lawsuit Wisconsin filed against Minnesota for polluting the Mississippi.

Sandra Gardebring, chair of the Metro Council, urged rapid action on the legislation. But she says it's not the proposal she helped draw up for the governor who wanted to fund the project with an additional 15-cent cigarette tax.

Valento said another difference is that the governor recommended $47.5 million for the project compared to the $5.7 million the plan in HF849 would cost. The committee plans to take up the bill again.

Wine in food stores

Wine is fine in food stores — so said the Commerce and Economic Development Committee when it recommended passage of HF606 (Bennett, IR-Shoreview).

Proponents of the wine-sale law say the bill would permit shoppers to purchase their wine in a food environment as a supplement to their meal.

They say that 78 percent of wine purchased is consumed in buyers' homes and that 48 percent of wine is purchased by women.

Proponents also point out that since 3.2 beer has been sold since Prohibition, they know the safeguards and enforcement procedures necessary to effect a legitimate, controlled sale of the product.

The bill now moves to the House floor.

Computer buys

Students and staff of state universities, community colleges, and vocational-technical institutions could buy computers through their school boards under HF1338 (Carlson, L., DFL-Crystal).

Gene Mammenga, from the State University System, testified for the bill, saying that the University of Minnesota can already buy computers in large lots for resale to students and staff. The U of M doesn't need this legislation, but Mammenga said computers are so useful now that students and staff in the other schools in the state systems should have ready access to them.

The Governmental Operations Committee heard the bill April 11 and laid it over until April 15.

Protecting the vulnerable

In the past week, the Health and Human Services committee has heard bills to: stiffen penalties for nursing home violations; further protect vulnerable adults; and expand the responsibilities of health review organizations.

Rep. Lee Greenfield (DFL-Mpls), has introduced HF655, which would stiffen penalties for homes found to be guilty of repeat violations, and would prohibit the people who operate these homes from holding controlling positions in nursing homes.

HF1437, Rep. John Burger's (IR-Long Lake) bill defines and clarifies protection of vulnerable adults. The bill would require mandatory reporting to a medical examiner or coroner whenever a vulnerable adult may have died directly or indirectly through abuse or neglect.

Rep. Dennis Poppenhagen (IR-Detroit Lakes) is sponsoring HF818 which would expand the responsibilities of health care review organizations. It would instruct these organizations to develop guidelines to maintain the costs of claims and liability insurance, and to review, rule on, and advise liability insurance carriers, professionals and patients.

State history book

We Minnesotans need our own state history textbook, according to Rep. Harriet McPherson (IR-Stillwater). McPherson has introduced HF1243, a bill that would give the state the chance to develop the textbook under the guidance of the Minnesota Historical Society.

Most history books come from New York, California, and Texas, McPherson says, and Minnesota doesn't get fair treatment. "We need somebody in Minnesota to do a really good history book for us," she says.

George Janisch of the Historical Society says the book will make our history available and our heritage and collective character felt.

The Education Committee agreed and April 10 gave HF1243 a recommendation to pass. The Appropriations Committee hears the bill next.

Contaminated dairy foods

The sale or purchase of adulterated milk or cream for any purpose is against the law in Minnesota. The products contain foreign substances and they come from unhealthy, diseased cows. The contamination can happen because of unsanitary or filthy conditions in the production process or from animal antibiotics.

A bill moving through the Legislature would get tougher with violators of the law — those, other than milk producers, who sell or buy the unclean products. The bill, HF135 (Uphus, IR-Sauk Centre) would make such violations misdemeanors resulting in 90-day jail terms and/or $700 fines.

Milk producers who make illegal sales or purchases would face a $100 civil penalty, probation for one year, and a 30-day ban on doing business with another milk plant without permission from the commissioner of agriculture. Second-time offenders would get a $200 civil penalty and a year's probation.

The Agriculture Committee recommended the bill to pass April 10. The full House will take it up next.

Boating and drinking

BWI, or boating-while-intoxicated, legislation (HF456) had the attention of the Crime and Family Law Committee on April 10. The bill attempts to crack down on drinking and boating, the operating of watercrafts while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

"What we're trying to address here is a problem that occurs on many of our lakes during the summertime, where people under the influence are motoring around and endangering people's lives," says Rep. Kathleen Blatz (IR-Bloomington), author of HF456.

The bill says it would be a crime to operate a watercraft while under the influence of drugs or alcohol, or to allow someone else to do so who is under the influence, or who is physically or mentally unable to be a safe operator.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, Room 9, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-2146.

Lyons • Session Writers: Patrick Collins, Michael N. Gray, Susan J. Shepard • Bill Introductions & Committee Schedules: Cathy Elmstrom, Terri Hudoba, Dorothy Sawyer.

Violators would be up against a misdemeanor penalty, and the law would prohibit them from operating a watercraft for 90 days on the first offense. Anyone refusing a blood-alcohol test would be guilty of a misdemeanor. Penalties on the offense would go up for subsequent violations.

The committee opted to lay the bill over for another hearing because of concerns over some provisions, including the definition of "watercraft" which now applies to such things as rafts and mattresses.

Biotech industry

Biotechnology science is a new and developing industry, and its popularity is growing in many parts of the country, says Dr. Marilyn Bach from the University of Minnesota.

Bach told the Commerce and Economic Development Committee on April 9 that other states, such as New Jersey and North Carolina, have launched aggressive state campaigns to get into this industry, which economists predict will have a $65 billion international market by the year 2000.

If Minnesota followed suit, Bach says, the industry could generate major economic expansion in the state and benefit Minnesota colleges and universities. But to get a significant share of this market, she says the state needs to carefully build or develop a long-range biotechnology strategy over the next biennium.

Bach spoke in support of HF1274 (Piepho, IR-Mankato), a bill that would set up a state council on biotechnology to bring together people from the industry, the university, state agencies, and legislators to work out a strategic state plan.

The committee recommended the bill to pass. It goes now to the Governmental Operations Committee for an additional hearing.

Budget figures

On the night of April 9, House majority leadership released final figures on a proposed $10.8 billion budget.

That means, in the legislative process, each division of the Appropriations Committee now has a bottom line to wrestle with. The Education Division will be looking at $4.5 billion; the Human Services Division $2.3 billion; the State Departments Division, almost $1 billion; and the Agriculture, Transportation, and Semi-State Division, $250 million.

The rest goes for a $250 million budget reserve and other items to keep state government running over the next two years.

Local school aids

The education finance omnibus bill for local school districts had its first hearing in the Education Division of the Appropriations Committee on April 9. Chief author of HF88, Rep. Sally Olsen (IR-St. Louis Park) presented the proposal, a composite of about 20 education bills.

The full Appropriations Committee will now focus on the $2.6 billion measure which collected nine amendments in its Education Division. The bill draws its funding from state funds, property taxes, and mill levies. So far, it's $32 million over the governor's recommendation.

Minnesota Zoo

It takes about $6 million a year to operate the Minnesota Zoo in Apple Valley, according to Zoo Director Stephen Iserman. The zoo generates about $2 million of that; the state picks up the rest.

Iserman testified at an April 9 meeting of the Governmental Operations Committee in support of HF1074 (DenOuden, IR-Prinsburg). The bill would restructure the state zoological board as a first step toward a more independent operation and more active soliciting of private contributions for the zoo.

The zoo's status is the issue.

Some people feel it would be more beneficial, in terms of getting support from the private sector, to give the zoo a status similar to that of the Minnesota Historical Society and the State Fair—independent enough from state government to solicit money for its purposes, yet still dependent on state funds.

Tom Triplett spoke for the bill on behalf of the governor. He said the legislation goes part way in the movement away from state agency status, while authorizing further study into some kind of new governance structure for the board.

The committee gave the bill a recommendation to pass and sent it on to the Rules Committee for further hearings.

Charity tax deductions

If you contribute to charities, but don't file itemized tax returns, a tax break could be in store for you.

On April 9, the Taxes Committee heard HF246 (McKasy, IR-Mendota Heights), a bill that would let non-itemizers take the same deduction that they get on their federal returns. For 1984, that would be 25 percent of charitable gifts up to $25.

Besides the charitable deduction bill, the committee heard three others: HF107 (Sviggum, IR-Kenyon); HF548 (McKasy); and HF1133 (Pauly, IR-Eden Prairie). They relate to tax credits for: pollution control equipment, use of an automobile for volunteer services, and gifts to colleges.

All three could become part of the omnibus tax bill. However, it all depends on how much revenue the state has, said Committee Chair William Schreiber. The new projections come out April 16 he said, and the committee will then decide how much the state can afford in tax relief.

Property tax relief

Farmers and Iron Range property owners could see a reduction in their 1986 property tax bills under a bill the Local Government Finance Division of the Taxes Committee recommended for passage April 8. The bill would require the commissioner of revenue to adjust property values for taxes payable in 1986 to reflect 1984 reductions in market value.

Revenue Commissioner Art Roemer said HF1380 (Redalen, IR-Fountain) would shorten the period for valuing property for market value changes from the current 21 months to 12 months, "thereby reflecting more current sales."

"Shortening the period of valuation would have the greatest impact on two areas where values have changed drastically—farm properties and properties on the Iron Range," said Roemer. "If 1984 were adopted as a base year, there would considerable changes in those two classes of property," he said.

The bill now goes to the full Taxes Committee.

Drinking age

The movement of legislation to raise the state's legal drinking age to 21 came to a halt in the House April 8, when members added a chemical abuse program to HF102 (Schafer, IR-Gibbon). The program would help local school districts continue funding efforts to educate young people about alcohol and drug abuse.

Rep. Gary Schafer opposed the amendment because of the cost and stopped consideration of the drinking age bill following the amendment's adoption.

Other amendments the House heard but didn't adopt would have allowed 19-year-olds to drink in licensed bars, but would not allow them to buy off-sale and would have made the bill's effective date contingent upon passage of age 21 legislation in Wisconsin, Iowa, and South Dakota.

Under federal law, all states have until Oct. 1, 1986 to pass the higher drinking age or lose some of their federal highway funds over the next two years. State officials say failure to comply with the federal mandate could cost Minnesota at least $33 million.

Hit and run drivers

Before 1983, a hit-and-run driver who caused a fatal accident was guilty of a misdemeanor. Now it's a felony with a prison sentence of up to five years and/or a fine of up to $10,000. For accidents resulting in injury, the punishment can be as much as three years and/or $5,000.

But Rep. John Hartinger (IR-Coon Rapids) said, at an April 8 meeting of the Crime and Family Law Committee, that he doesn't think those penalties go far enough.

"It wasn't long ago," said Hartinger, "that two Elk River teenage girls were struck down by a driver. The public uproar over the ensuing trial led me to believe that citizens want greater protection from dangerous drivers, and believe increasing penalties against abusers is one way to make our roads safer."

After much debate over Hartinger's proposal to increase penalties, the committee voted April 10 to recommend for passage SF33 (Hartinger, IR-Coon Rapids). The bill would increase the penalty for causing an accident that results in death to up to seven years and/or $14,000.

It would decrease the penalty against the driver who hits and runs, causing death, but who didn't cause the accident, from up to five years and/or $10,000 to up to three years and/or $5,000. And, decrease the penalty against the driver who leaves the scene of an accident resulting in great bodily harm, when he or she didn't cause the accident, from up to three years and/or $5,000 to up to one year and one day and/or $3,000.

Another provision would establish a new penalty for causing great bodily harm of up to five years and/or $10,000 if the driver caused the accident.

Leaving the scene of an accident involving an occupied vehicle, even though no one was hurt, is a misdemeanor.

Mayo education funding

Financial pie slicing began April 8 in the Education Division of the Appropriations Committee with a recommended allocation of $2 million to the Mayo Foundation, $1.7 million for the Mayo Medical School and $.3 million for its graduate and family practice residency programs.

The dollars are the state's share of funding for programs that train primary care and family physicians.

According to the proposed biennial budget statement, about one-half million patients visit the Mayo Medical Center each year. And the center employs 14,000 people to serve these patients.

The Mayo Foundation operates and funds the Mayo Graduate School of Medicine and the Mayo School of Health-Related Sciences, with the Foundation underwriting 92 percent of the total education budget.

Teenage abortion

Pregnant teenagers are judge-shopping, says Rep. Allen Quist (IR-St. Peter), to get around Minnesota law that requires that they tell their parents they plan to have an abortion.

Quist says it could be a loophole in the law which allows young women to bypass the parental notification requirement if they go to court and get a judge's okay. As it stands now, they can go to any court in the state.

"What has developed is a situation you may call judge-shopping," says Quist, author of HF330. They (pregnant teenagers) identify several judges within the state whom they know will essentially always grant the court-ordered bypass of the law."

HF330, which would restrict pregnant teenagers to judges within their own judicial districts, got a recommendation to pass from the Judiciary Committee on April 4 and will go next to the full House.

Acid rain

Those April showers that bring May flowers also wash pollutants down on Minnesota gardens. And about 70 percent of the acid in that rain comes from sources outside the state.

In a move toward getting some control of the situation, the Environment and Natural Resources Committee recommended to pass a resolution Rep. John Rose (IR-Roseville) is proposing. The resolution, HF1263, would memorialize Congress and the President to take immediate action to reduce the amount of pollution going into the air around us, the cause of acid rain.

On April 4, Nelson French from the Sierra Club told the committee that Minnesota's ahead of other states in taking action on the acid rain problem, but, he says, it's a problem we can't solve by ourselves.

"Minnesota's actions alone have been first and foremost in the country, but alone those actions won't guarantee control of the acid deposition problem in our state.

"Other states will have to follow our lead and require sulfur dioxide emission reductions within their borders," says French.

Speaking for the resolution, French said strict enforcement of pollution laws at the federal level is necessary, and Congress needs to amend the Clean Air Act to address acid deposition.

Waste victims' comp fund

A bill for a compensation fund for victims of hazardous waste releases made its way out of the House on April 4. To become law, the bill needs Senate approval, Senate and House agreement on all provisions in the bill, and the governor's signature.

The proposal, HF876/SF571 (Olsen, S., IR-St. Louis Park), spells out who could and who could not collect from the $1 million fund, and would set a limit on the amount an injured party can receive at $250,000 per claimant, per claim.

The House adopted amendments to the bill in the April 4 floor session. One amendment would allow claimants who get awards from the fund to also take their personal injury claims to court. Claimants who win their court cases would have to repay the fund for their initial awards.

Another amendment would relax the standard of proof in proving a hazardous waste release was the cause of injury.

Some changes the House discussed, but did not adopt, would have taxed hazardous waste generators to get back half of the expenditures from the fund; included property damages for claims of less than $8,000; provided death benefits to survivors; and removed language that says no one could recover if a responsible person has certain defenses for a release, such as an act of God or a third party.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 15      APRIL 19, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

Hearing aids

Minnesota would become the 46th state to require licensing of hearing-aid dealers if HF1048 (Frerichs, IR-Rochester) becomes law.

The proposal calls for dealers to pass an examination for a license to legally sell hearing aids in the state. The examination could test fitting, structure, and function of the hearing instruments. It would not apply to doctors and audiologists.

The bill, which got the recommendation of the Commerce and Economic Development Committee on April 18, would require any business or person to put up a surety bond for $10,000 for every five or fewer of its licensees who dispense hearing aids.

Frerichs says the bill's design is not to hurt or impair the activities of the honest, legitimate dealer. He says it's to get at the door-to-door salespeople who are untrained in proper fitting or selection of hearing instruments and who make profits at the expense of those most vulnerable to high-pressure sales techniques.

Mosquitos

Summertime's mosquito time in Minnesota, so a bill the Environment and Natural Resources Committee approved on April 18 seems timely. HF840 (Fjoslien, IR-Brandon) would authorize a research program to look at whether statewide mosquito management programs are necessary.

Rep. Wes Skoglund, another author of the bill, says research would include health, agricultural and animal, and tourism impacts of the pesky bugs.

"We don't really know exactly how much tourism is worth to our economy, but $10 billion is a figure everybody agrees on as a minimum. If one percent of the people stay away from our state because they don't like mosquitos . . . that's $100 million.

"The sales taxes alone that people are paying in other states, instead of ours, would pay for this program three times over," says Skoglund.

The committee gave the bill a recommendation to pass, and sent it, along with its $2.7 million price tag, to the Appropriations Committee.

Education funding

The Education Division of the Appropriations Committee divided $1.027 billion this week among four programs.

The Higher Education Coordinating Board (HECB) would get $133.8 million in state funds over the next two years according to the division's recommendation of April 18. The amount is an 11.4 percent increase over current levels. However, the overall amount available to students in financial assistance is down by $16 million because of cuts in federal programs.

The state community college system would get almost $180 million if the April 16 recommendation of the Division stands. The allocation to run the system for the next two years would be $15 million more than the 1983-1985 allocation, but still $18 million shy of what the community colleges asked for.

The state university system's allotment would be $344.7 million, $7.5 million less than the governor's recommendation, and 11.4 percent higher than the current level of $309.4 million.

At an April 15 meeting, the division recommended $369.1 million for the biennium for state vocational-technical schools, where projections show a small rise in student enrollment (from 38,250 to 40,700). The $369.1 is a $36 million increase over the current level of funding.

Mental anguish damages

Damages for mental anguish over the wrongful loss of a loved one could be a reality in Minnesota under HF568 (Schoenfeld, DFL-Waseca).

On April 18, the Judiciary Committee recommended the bill to pass. It would allow someone who loses a loved one to sue for mental anguish damages.

Present law limits relatives to recovering for pecuniary losses. Courts have interpreted that type of loss to mean financial loss and also loss of advice, comfort, assistance, and protection.

Parents who lose a child or someone who loses an elderly loved one usually do not recover very much in pecuniary damages under the court's interpretation of those damages.

Representatives from the insurance industry opposed the bill saying the change will drive up all types of insurance premiums because it will increase settlements and jury awards.

The bill now goes to the floor of the House.

Farm products

Buyers of farm products would benefit under a bill the Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee approved on April 17. HF990 (Dimler, IR-Chanhassen) addresses the so-called "double jeopardy issue" which allows lenders to collect from a buyer of farm products if they cannot collect the debt from the farmer and they have recorded their security interest on the farm product.

Supporters of the bill were buyers of farm products. They say it is unfair that they have to pay twice for the farm products — once to the farmers and then again to the lenders when the lenders cannot collect the debt from the farmer.

The bill would set up a buyer registration system which would require buyers of farm products to register in the counties they do business. It would require lenders to notify a buyer of farm products if they have a security interest in the products. The buyers would take the products free of the security interest if the lender fails to notify them.

The bill now goes to the Appropriations Committee.

Stun guns

HF1525 (Jacobs, DFL-Coon Rapids), a bill to regulate the use of stun guns was before the House Crime and Family Law Committee on April 17. Regulations on sales under the bill would be much the same as those on mace in current law. That is, people over 18 years old could own and use properly labeled stun guns to defend themselves or their property.

However, people who can't own a pistol under present law, couldn't buy or own a stun gun under this legislation. The list includes: certain felons; the mentally ill; or those convicted of drug offenses, hospitalized for drug use, or committed for chemical dependency. Use of the gun against a peace officer would be a felony.

Local governments would have the authority to license sellers, but the bill provides that state law would supersede any local regulation of possession, use, and sale of the guns.

St. Paul Police Chief William McCutcheon, testifying at the hearing, said the hand-sized gun incapacitates a person with a jolt of electricity to the torso. And although the literature states this effect lasts for up to 15 minutes, McCutcheon says it appears to make someone dysfunctional for about nine seconds, and it's not yet known what the effects are if the jolt is to the head.

Since the committee didn't take a vote on HF1525 on the last day the committee met to take action on bills, it could come up as an amendment to other legislation.

Highway contract crime

Contractors, subcontractors, or suppliers guilty of highway construction contract crime would pay the price of one year's debarment under SF43 (Johnson, IR-Caledonia), a bill the Transportation Committee recommended for final passage on April 17.

SF43 would call for the one-year debarment for any contract crimes including bid-rigging, embezzlement, bribery, or forgery, occurring after June 30, 1985. It also prohibits, with some exceptions, local officials and the transportation commissioner (who can terminate a debarment by order) from doing business with a person who is debarred or suspended.

The bill goes next to the full House.

Jobs program

On April 17, the Human Services Division of the Appropriations Committee voted to recommend $20 million to the Minnesota Employment and Economic Development Act (MEED), the state jobs program.

MEED is an employer wage subsidy program. The money subsidizes payroll costs for the unemployed who don't receive other jobless benefits. But it also targets Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) recipients and troubled farm families. Seventy-five percent of the recommended funding would go for private sector jobs.

Vo-tech education

The Board of Vocational-Technical Education presented the state's plan for vo-tech education to the Education Committee April 16. Mel Johnson, from the board, filled committee members in on the direction the system plans to take and some of the challenges it faces.

Johnson said the challenge of matching curriculum planning with the expected labor market demands is ongoing because projecting those demands is a most imprecise science. He said projections are usually based on history, and that's not always the best way to approach measurement of the market.

Johnson said that the vo-tech system will continue to work with the Department of Economic Security, the State Planning Agency, and other offices to help monitor job market developments.

Farm loan financing

The high cost of credit and capital gains taxes are two of the most critical problems facing Minnesota farmers today, Rep. Merlyn Valan (IR-Moorhead) told the Governmental Operations Committee April 16.

Valan is author of HF1261, a bill he says would help insure the long-term health of the rural economy by providing a form of credit relief and restructuring of capital gains taxes.

HF1261 would allow the state to issue up to $1 billion in bonds to finance farm loans. Another provision would allow retiring farmers who sell their farms to get an exemption from state income taxes on the capital gains. Interest income on contract-for-deed sales would also be exempt, if the retiring farmer re-invests a portion of the proceeds in the agricultural bonds.

Some members showed concern over how the legislation would affect the state's credit rating, and the possibility the state would have to pay off those bonds if the farm economy doesn't improve and farmers default on the loans.

The committee recommended the bill to pass and rereferred it to the Rules and Legislative Administration Committee.

Enterprise zone

The city of Cottage Grove lost two-thirds of its industry in the last two years, most of it when the Whirlpool plant near there closed its doors.

But things could get better under HF1213 (Beard, IR-Cottage Grove), a bill the Commerce and Economic Development Committee approved April 16. The bill would add Cottage Grove to the list of sites for state enterprise zones where businesses can get tax breaks if they bring jobs to distressed areas. The city would hope to use the enterprise zone for General Motor's Saturn Auto Plant.

The names of Cottage Grove and Duluth have come up as possible locations for the Saturn Plant which could create nearly 24,000 jobs — 6,000 directly, and 18,000 indirectly.

Author of the legislation, Rep. Pat Beard, says the zone designation would put Cottage Grove on equal footing with Duluth which already has an enterprise zone.

Business assistance

A bill that would provide financial incentives to attract private investment in medium and large-size manufacturing and industrial businesses won the approval of the Commerce and Economic Development Committee April 16.

The proposed Minnesota Industrial Recovery Act, HF1427 (Carlson, D., IR-Sandstone), would set up an Industrial Development Corporation of government, education, labor, and business leaders.

This group would promote the establishment of new industries or the expansion of existing businesses in distressed areas of the state and tailor financial assistance using resources from an Industrial Recovery Fund.

The fund, also part of the proposed economic development plan, would supplement private investment in new industrial facilities. However, no money from the fund could go to tourism or recreational projects, or to any project that hasn't attracted at least $2.5 million in private money.

The bill's author, Rep. Doug Carlson, says other states have developed programs that attract private capital investment, and the proposed Minnesota Industrial Recovery Act is similar in many respects to those initiatives.

Rep. Mary Murphy (DFL-Hermantown) urged members to support the bill. She says the program opens doors to both existing and new businesses.

Tax incentives

HF1265 (Riveness, DFL-Bloomington), a bill creating tax incentives for companies that provide new or expanded manufacturing jobs in greater Minnesota had its first hearing in the Local Government Finance Division of the Taxes Committee on April 15.

Under the proposal, new or expanding companies would pay no corporate, income, or sales taxes for 20 years if they create manufacturing jobs in counties with at least 10 percent unemployment or 10 percent agricultural jobs.

The division plans to take up the proposal again when it considers the omnibus property tax bill.

Charitable gambling

Charitable organizations wouldn't be able to operate games of chance in commercial bars under a bill recommended to pass by the Taxes Committee on April 15. The bill, HF1055 (Dimler, IR-Chanhassen), would require charitable organizations to have their own liquor license if they want to mix gambling and booze.

Author Rep. Chuck Dimler said the bill would particularly affect charities that have set up pull-tab operations in bars throughout the state. He said the Legislature never authorized such operations.

The measure would also strip the Charitable Gambling Control Board's power to issue gambling licenses, collect taxes, inspect records and regulate distributors. The board could recommend local license suspension or revocation, if local governments fail to act.

The bill now goes to the Appropriations Committee.

Correction

In the highlight, "Charity tax deductions," on page 3 of last week's Session Weekly, the second paragraph relating to deductions for charitable deductions should read:

On April 9, the Taxes Committee heard HF246 (McKasy, IR-Mendota Heights), a bill that would let non-itemizers take the same deduction that they get on their federal returns for taxable years 1985 and 1986. For 1985, the deduction would be 50 percent of charitable contributions limited to 50 percent of Federal Adjusted Gross Income (FAGI). For 1986, the deduction would be 100 percent of charitable deductions limited to 50 percent of FAGI.

Farm financial aid

Assessment of the interest-buydown and debt-restructuring programs the Legislature passed about 30 days ago shows that, to date, loans have gone to over 200 borrowers and a thousand applications are pending.

On April 15, Commerce Commissioner Mike Hatch, whose department administers both programs, gave the Agriculture Committee a rundown on how and who the interest-buydown is helping.

According to Hatch, the average amount for each of the 298 loans was about $52,000. Interest costs were cut down to about 7-1/2 percent; debt-to-asset ratios balanced out at about 72 percent. About 68 banks are taking part.

Hatch's department, concerned about the low lender participation, surveyed 100 lenders to find out why. Some said the $3,000 state subsidy is too small for an acceptable cash flow on an operating loan. Others said they need time to adjust to the new program. Others weren't aware of it.

Hatch says the requirement that farmers have a reasonable chance to pay back the money at the lower interest rate may disqualify a number who, due to the economy, couldn't keep operating even if they had the assistance. Also, many lenders misinterpreted this requirement.

Hatch says, after May 1, when most operating loans and federal loans have come through, determining whether the program is addressing the needs of the farmers in the targeted group will be easier. The design of the program is to have banks and the state working together to make spring operating credit available to financially strapped farmers.

Drinking and boating

Driving a boat while intoxicated (BWI) will carry some stiff penalties if HF456 (Blatz, IR-Bloomington) becomes law. Under the bill, which the House Crime and Family Law Committee recommended to pass April 15, first-time BWI offenders would face misdemeanor penalties that would increase for subsequent offenses. And they'd lose their boat-driving privileges for 90 days.

Refusing a chemical test would carry similar penalties and loss of operating privileges for a year.

Supporting the get-tough-on-boaters-who-drink law at the April 15 meeting was Lois TenEyck who lost her 20-year-old son in a 1983 boating accident. She told the committee that, had it been a car accident that cost her son his life, more action in terms of breath tests and penalties would have come of it.

HF456 would exclude motorboats securely fastened to a dock, anchored, or drifting with the motor turned off.

Video for troopers

The age of technology could bring a new twist to court testimony in accident cases. Under the Department of Public Safety (DPS) omnibus bill, HF1128 (Carlson, D., IR-Sandstone), the state would invest $200,000 in video equipment to allow state troopers to animate their working papers and scale diagrams.

They could then use the tapes as part of their testimony in court proceedings. The bill's author, Rep. Doug Carlson, says it's the most innovative part of the bill which would make numerous changes to department procedures affecting all motorists, including police officers, truckers, and three-wheel vehicle riders.

The Transportation Committee recommended HF1128 to pass April 12 and rereferred it to the Governmental Operations Committee.

Open meeting law

Minnesota's open meeting law has been on the books since 1957, where it takes up less than two pages in statutes. Supporters of HF529 (Knickerbocker, IR-Hopkins) say the law's vague and leaves much open to interpretation by the public, public bodies, and the courts.

HF529 would give public bodies guidance, or a code to follow, in opening their doors to the public. It would set the civil penalty for violations at a fine of up to $200, a $100 increase over what the law says now.

With specific exceptions, all meetings of public bodies would be open to the public, with set requirements for adequate notice.

Closed meetings would include those considering pending or threatened litigation, dealing with specific patients or recipients of welfare, considering allegations or charges of misconduct against public employees, and those considering strategy for labor negotiations.

Exempt from the code would be: the state Legislature, the judiciary, juries, and the board of pardons, the same as in present law.

On April 12, the Governmental Operations Committee recommended HF529 to pass as amended.

Nursing homes

Minnesota leads the nation in per capita spending on nursing home care, has the fifth highest number of nursing home beds, and the problem's growing. According to Rep. Tony Onnen (IR-Cokato), chair of the Health and Human Services Committee, part of the problem is the number of nursing home beds available and the ease of placing people in nursing homes.

Onnen has introduced HF908, legislation that would expand the 1983 moratorium on nursing home construction to include all expansion, not just that affecting Medicaid patients.

Onnen says the legislation provides mechanisms that will help direct people to alternatives to nursing home care and will save money for individuals and the state. He says Minnesota has seen dramatic improvements in the control of nursing home costs since the 1983 moratorium law went into effect, and this new legislation will continue that movement.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 16 APRIL 26, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

Higher education dollars

The Education Division of the Appropriations Committee, April 25, recommended $936.8 million for the University of Minnesota, $38 million less than the governor requested.

Included in the proposal is $12 million for a super computer institute, $5.5 million for intercollegiate athletics, and $320,000 for a talented youth program. This allocation should allow the University to hold tuition increases to under five percent. The proposal does not include additional funding for faculty salaries which the University said was a priority.

The proposal would grant $345 million to the State University System, $283 million to the Area Vocational-Technical Institutes' budget, and $445 million to the Community College System. The Department of Education would get $44 million; the Higher Education Coordinating Board, $132 million.

The measure now goes to the full Appropriations Committee.

Credit interest rate

A bill that would eliminate the split interest rate ceiling for retail stores got final approval from the House on April 24 and is on its way to the governor for his approval.

The bill HF183 (Himle, IR-Bloomington) would allow all retailers to charge credit card users an annual interest rate of up to 18 percent. Presently, stores with annual gross sales over $25 million can charge a rate of 16 percent, while small retailers may charge up to 18 percent.

Senate amendments to the bill would require retailers to give adequate notice of any interest increase and wouldn't allow the two percent increase to oil companies like Amoco and Exxon, and others whose national sales exceed $10 billion dollars. These companies would retain the present 16 percent.

School after Labor Day

Legislation that would prohibit school districts from starting the school year before Labor Day, beginning in 1986, is now officially through the Legislature and has gone on to the governor's desk.

The bill, HF151 (Thiede, IR-Pequot Lakes), passed in the House for the second time April 24, this time adopting some Senate changes. The controversy that surrounded the bill since its introduction included proponents arguing that it would generate millions of dollars in sales tax revenue from Labor Day vacationers, and opponents who argued that the state shouldn't take from individual school districts the decision as to when to start the school year.

Waste disposal

It could be the beginning of the end for metro area landfills if a bill the Local and Urban Affairs Committee recommended to pass April 24 becomes state policy.

IN THIS ISSUE:

- Highlights—Committee and Floor Action (April 18-25)
- Bill Introductions (April 22-26)

Nothing herein is admissible as legal proof of legislative intent.

Rep. John Rose (IR-Roseville) is author of HF939 which would prohibit landfill disposal of solid waste, beginning in 1990.

Instead, the 5,000 tons of solid waste the metro area generates each day would go to refuse-derived fuel facilities (RDFs) for processing and burning.

Although it's a dramatic step forward, the bill sets up only rudimentary guidelines for moving into the 1990s, says Rep. Daniel Knuth (DFL-New Brighton).

"This is just another round in the hazardous waste battle," says Knuth, "and I fully suspect that there will be amendments to the Waste Management Act for the next 10 to 15 years."

The bill now moves on to the Rules and Legislative Administration Committee before going to the House floor for final action.

Omnibus tax bill

After working over 16 hours on an omnibus tax bill, the Taxes Committee on April 24 approved and sent to the floor of the House a $1.3 billion tax-relief package — the largest in state history.

The measure would provide: $849 million in individual income tax relief, $350 million in sales tax cuts, including a reduction from 6 percent to 5-1/2 percent in the tax general sales tax, and over $118 million in property tax relief.

Income tax relief

The $849 million in income tax relief would provide a cut in individual income taxes by 16 percent and an average of $181 for more than two million taxpayers. It would lower the 16 percent top rate to 14 percent. Over 431,700 taxpayers would pay an average of $152 more in income taxes while over 425,000 would have no change.

The House income tax package retains a number of current credits and deductions, including: deductions for federal income taxes, military pay, dependent education expenses, and adoption expenses; and credits for political contributions, and child care expenses.

The bill, HF756 (Schreiber, IR-Brooklyn Park) would eliminate the current pension income subtraction (up to $11,000 per person), but would replace it with a subtraction available to all taxpayers, 65 years or older, of up to $3,000 per taxpayer. Other changes from current law would include: making unemployment compensation and social security taxable for taxpayers with incomes over a certain amount; eliminating the addition to Minnesota income of contributions to IRAs and other pension plans, the deduction for two wage earning married couples, and employee contributions to public pension plans.

Certain taxpayers would benefit under three new subtractions from their Minnesota income. One would allow a two-wage-earner married couple to subtract one-half of the federal deduction. Another would give taxpayers who care for an elderly person in their home up to a $3,000 deduction. The third would allow non-itemizers to deduct up to one-half of the federal charitable deduction.

Under the bill, married couples would pay their tax on a joint filing basis, if they filed a joint return for federal income tax purposes. Under current law, a married couple calculates their tax based on each spouse's individual income and a single rate schedule.

Corporations would see an end to the so-called "unitary" tax under the proposal. Under the unitary system, national corporations must apportion a share of their total earnings in determining their Minnesota tax liability. HF756 would allow corporations to calculate their taxes on their Minnesota profits only if that results in a decrease. Or they could continue to use the unitary tax if that is more beneficial.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, Room 9, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155, (612) 296-2146.

Sales tax relief

Beginning July 1, 1986, the state's general sales tax rate would go from 6 percent to 5-1/2 percent, providing $106.9 million in tax relief. The sales tax on motor vehicles would also go from 6 to 5-1/2 percent, providing over $17 million in relief.

Farmers who purchase new and used farm machinery and repair/replacement parts would pay no sales tax under the proposal. They currently pay 4 percent for new and used machinery and 6 percent for repair/replacement parts.

Other sales tax changes include: exempting sales tax on purchases of capital equipment for new or expanded manufacturing in counties with ten percent or more unemployment or 10 percent or more agricultural employment; allowing retailers to retain a certain percentage of the sales tax they collect to reimburse them for their costs; reducing the 8 1/2 percent tax on beer and liquor to 8 percent on July 1 and eventually to 5 1/2 percent; and, reducing from 4 percent to 3 percent the sales tax on capital investment and special tooling.

Property tax relief

According to House Research estimates, property taxes would go down over $118,700 million under the omnibus bill. But that estimate did not include changes in the school aids bill which could reduce property tax relief to $40 million according to chief author Rep. Bill Schreiber.

Schreiber said the bill's property tax provisions are to reduce disparities among different classes of property and regions of the state. It would reduce the taxable values of four types of property: farm land; business property; high-value homes, especially in the metro area; apartments, and other types of residential real property.

Under the bill, the property tax on an average value ($40,600) outstate home would increase 21 percent from $378 to $391 while the tax on an average value ($75,900) Twin City home would go down 1.3 percent from $1014 to $1001.

The bill would reduce the portion of a homeowner's taxes the state pays from 54 percent to 50 percent, but it would increase the maximum homestead credit from $650 to $700. To protect homeowners from huge property tax increases next year, the bill provides for a "safety net" provision where the state would pay half of any increase in a homeowner's tax bill over $100 or 12-1/2 percent, whichever is greater.

Child abuse fund

Legislation to create a child abuse trust fund passed in the House April 23.

The bill, HF450 (Blatz, IR-Bloomington), would repeal the $2 checkoff on state income tax forms that goes toward the financing of campaigns and replace it with a $2 checkoff for child abuse prevention programs.

Opponents of that method of funding argued that the Legislature shouldn't pit one good program (public financing of election campaigns) against another good program (child abuse prevention). They said that child abuse prevention should get funding the same way as other necessary services do — through a direct appropriation.

Author of HF450, Rep. Kathleen Blatz, said that lawmakers make tough choices every day. This choice is between using public dollars for funding campaigns or child abuse prevention programs. The latter, she said, is the "more meritorious" use of public money.

The Senate version of the bill, now in the Finance Committee, would allow the campaign checkoff to remain on tax forms and would add the trust fund checkoff.

Charitable gambling

Changes to the state's charitable gambling law are in HF1055 (Dimler, IR-Chanhassen). On April 23, the measure was made part of the omnibus bill coming out of the Agriculture, Transportation, and Semi-State Division of the Appropriations Committee.

The bill would reduce the size of the gambling control board from 22 to 7 members and reduce the board's powers, assigning those powers instead to local governments.

Another change would require that the person holding the liquor license must also be the person with the gambling license which would affect use of licensed liquor places by charitable organizations. Because the bill makes some changes in taxes coming to the state and in the regulating authority, it will get further consideration as an amendment to the division's appropriations omnibus bill.

Constitutional convention

The bill that would call for a constitutional convention went back to the author from the House floor, at his request.

The purpose of the convention would be to propose an amendment to the U.S. Constitution requiring a balanced federal budget. If 34 states pass such legislation, the nation would have its first constitutional convention since the founding fathers met in 1787 to draft the U.S. Constitution (ratified in 1790).

On April 18, the House voted 69 to 64 to amend the bill so that it would no longer call for a convention, but instead, would send a resolution to United States government officials stating that the President must submit to Congress a proposal for a balanced budget for fiscal year 1987, and requiring Congress to enact a balanced budget for 1987.

Upon consideration of the amended legislation on April 22, the author, Rep. Mark Piepho (IR-Mankato), made a motion to return HF9 to him, removing it from further consideration.

Education funding

On April 22, the Education Division of the Appropriations Committee approved an allotment of almost $44 million for the State Department of Education.

The amount fell short of the governor's recommendation of $46 million and the department's request for $53 million. Although attempts to include inflationary effects in several fund allocations failed, the committee approved amendments to allow for inflation for the Faribault School for the Blind and Deaf, and for Indian education.

In these cases, the rates would be three percent for fiscal year 1986 and three and one-half percent for fiscal year 1987. The measure is up for inclusion in the Education Division omnibus bill.

U of M endowed chairs

The University of Minnesota will be able to keep interest from its permanent $56 million trust fund and apply it toward the 50 or more endowed chairs the school hopes to attract under HF359 (Carlson, L., DFL-Crystal). The Education Division of the Appropriations Committee recommended the bill to pass April 22.

Stanley B. Kegler, vice-president for institutional relations for the University, says pluses for the school are that the chairs will attract senior scholars and young scholars who already have doctorates in their fields, and outstanding graduate students who will want to work with these people.

The bill is part of the division's $936.8 million allocation to the University.

Cigarette tax

The price of smoking could go up seven cents a pack July 1 if two bills the Taxes Committee recommended for passage become law. Six cents of the tax would go to fund the Combined Sewage Overflow (CSO) bill, HF849 (Valento, IR-Little Canada).

HF849 aims to bring metro and outstate sewage treatment up to federal standards. The state Department of Revenue estimates the tax would bring in $24 million a year for the sewage program.

The remaining one cent of the seven cent increase would bring in $4 million annually. That money would go to school districts and the Department of Health and Human Services for smoking prevention programs, under HF810 (Quist, IR-St. Peter).

If the federal tax of eight cents a pack goes off in October, as reports from Washington indicate, the price of cigarettes in Minnesota would remain the same, with the state picking up the former federal tax.

On April 19, the Taxes Committee heard, amended, recommended, and rereferred HF849 to the Appropriations Committee. On April 22, the same action was taken on HF810.

Mandatory seat belts

The mandatory seat belt bill, SF40 (Forsythe, IR-Edina), underwent five hours of testimony in a Transportation Committee meeting on April 18. Then, question of a possible error in the final vote count necessitated another hearing on April 19 when a vote of 10-8 sent the bill to the House floor for final action.

The bill would require front seat occupants and passengers under age 11 (sitting in any seat) to buckle up. Violators would get a safety warning that wouldn't be added to their driving record.

Among those exempt from the mandate would be: people driving in reverse or less than 25 miles per hour on jobs that require getting in and out of vehicles often; those riding in vehicles manufactured before Jan. 1, 1965, without belts; postal workers; and people who, for medical reasons, can't wear belts.

If this bill becomes law, Minnesota would be one of the first states to have a mandatory seat belt law with no penalty.

Public welfare

The Human Services Division of the Appropriations Committee on April 19, recommended to pass HF443 (Carlson J., IR-Moorhead), a bill that would cut employable people from state welfare rolls.

The bill tightens the definition of "eligible" and would grant general assistance only to those who come under that definition. It also removes the one-payment-every-six-months provision that the Human Services Division had originally recommended.

Crime victims

The Legislature's been working on the concerns of crime victims since the early 1970s, says Rep. Randy Kelly. Kelly, April 19, briefed the Governmental Operations Committee on some past legislative action, such as the crime victims' reparations act, sexual assault, and battered women's programs, crisis center program, and the victims' bill of rights.

Kelly said the 1974 Legislature created the crime victims reparations act, which reimburses victims for economic loss they incur as a result of a crime that a third party doesn't pay for such as medical and other out-of-pocket expenses. The Legislature, also in the mid '70s, created the sexual assault and battered women's programs.

In 1977, a crime victim crisis center program went into effect to help general victims of crime. And in 1983, the Legislature enacted the victims' bill of rights.

Kelly says different departments currently provide those services, and he has a proposal HF1231 (Kelly, DFL-St. Paul) that would bring them all together under the office of the attorney general.

Other provisions in the bill would allow financial reparations for victims when the offender is a spouse, next of kin, or household member, and raise the maximum amount one can collect from the Reparations Board from $25,000 to $50,000.

Minimum pricing

The minimum pricing bill, HF396/SF221 (Brown, DFL-Appleton), passed the Senate April 15, but in the House, the Agriculture Committee didn't vote on the bill. Chair of the committee, Rep. K.J. McDonald (IR-Watertown), at an April 19 meeting, ruled that the measure needs further study.

The bill would empower the state commissioner of agriculture to set minimum prices for farm products, once other states controlling 60 percent of a commodity passed similar legislation. (South Dakota and Iowa legislatures have passed similar bills, but their governors vetoed them). These prices would cover only in-state commodity sales and would be between 80 and 100 percent of parity.

If the establishment of minimum prices leads to excessive commodity production, the commissioner could, under the bill, set up procedures for supply management and orderly marketing.

The bill has opposition from the Minnesota Farm Bureau and the commissioner of agriculture. The governor, the Minnesota Farmers Union, and Groundswell are among those supporting it.

Unemployment comp

Legislation that attempts to restore solvency to the state's unemployment compensation fund by next year passed in the House April 18. Restoring solvency would do away with federal penalty taxes that fall on all employers, regardless of their layoff history.

In what legislators have called "the guts" of HF847 (Gutknecht, IR-Rochester) are provisions that would make benefit changes, including:

- an increase in the number of credit weeks an individual has to have worked to qualify for unemployment benefits (from 15 to 20 weeks);
- a change in the weekly benefit amount from the current formula, based on the worker's average weekly wage, to a flat one percent of the worker's gross income over the last 52 weeks; and
- a cap on the maximum weekly benefit amount of $200 for fiscal year 1985, $208 for 1986, and $216 for 1987 and each year after that.

The minimum weekly benefit would be $56 for any claimant who qualifies for benefits. On the seasonal employee issue, the legislation would prohibit individuals from drawing benefits in the third year when they've received benefits in that same calendar quarter for the two previous years. This affects up to 14,000 workers.

In terms of dollars, Department of Economic Security figures show HF847 would cut employers' state taxes $278 million by 1990, taking into account a $162 million increase due to federal conformity. It trims $750 million from the anticipated $2.5 billion employers will pay out in benefits between 1985 and 1990 under current law.

Handguns

The full House on April 18, gave final approval to a bill that would put an end to firearm ordinances in Minneapolis and St. Paul, which are more strict than firearm regulations in the rest of the state.

Current law allows more stringent regulations only in cities of the first class: Minneapolis, St. Paul, and Duluth. The bill's author, Rep. Joe Begich (DFL-Eveleth), says Duluth isn't an issue because it has no such ordinance.

The bill, HF576, is the same as one that passed the Legislature last year but didn't make it onto the law books because of the governor's veto.

Though Begich says the law should treat everyone the same, opponents argued that the larger cities have unique problems and should be able to come up with their own solutions.

The bill passed on a vote of 91 to 35.

The Senate, on April 15, moved to table the bill prior to its hearing in committee. The author, Senator Bob Lessard, may move to take it up later in the session.

VOLUME 2, NUMBER 17

HIGHLIGHTS

Funding bills

The Appropriations Committee wrapped up 17 weeks of study and work when they sent to the full House the omnibus funding bills that came to the committee from its four divisions.

The committee recommended to pass the $1 billion State Departments Division bill, HF1641 (DenOuden, IR-Prinsburg), on May 1. The bill cuts personnel and funding to many departments including the Department of Natural Resources and the Department of Energy and Economic Development.

The committee's April 30 agenda included the Human Services Division's budget bill of $2 billion that would provide funding for the departments of health, welfare, corrections, and economic security over the next couple years. The committee approved HF1640 (Anderson, IR-Ottertail) which would reduce the number of people that would qualify for general assistance by an estimated 24,000.

Also on that date, the committee approved the $2 billion Agriculture, Transportation, and Semi-State Division bill, HF1639 (Valan, IR-Moorhead).

April 29, the committee completed work on the Education Division bill, HF1638 (Haukoos, IR-Albert Lea), granting $1.9 billion to state universities, community colleges, AVTIs, the University of Minnesota, and various scholarship and grant programs.

The full House will begin taking action on these bills next week.

911 emergency call

Three-fourths of the people in Minnesota can now dial 911 for emergency help. But present service, and plans to extend it, would end July 1 this year under the State Departments' funding bill, which doesn't grant the $7.9 million needed to continue or to complete the state-wide hookup.

The Appropriations Committee recommended HF1641 to pass May 1 and also voted to repeal present law that directs all counties to have 911 service operational by Dec. 15, 1986.

The bill's author, Gaylin DenOuden (IR-Prinsburg), says eliminating 911 is a move to reduce the size and scope of government. Rep. Phyllis Kahn (DFL-Mpls) failed in several attempts to include the service in the funding bill which goes now to the full House.

Scholarships

The Taxes Committee, May 1, heard HF1581 (Rose, IR-Roseville), a bill that would set up a scholarship for excellence program for outstanding Minnesota high school students. The program would grant $1,000 scholarships to qualified 11th and 12th graders for their college educations.

Chief author Rep. John Rose says the proposed program is unique because it would base awards strictly on scholarship rather than need. He says the plan also includes a renewal provision and an opportunity for $1,000 to revert to the high school the student attended while studying and getting the scholarship awards.

The bill originally called for a tax checkoff to raise money for the program. But because several committee members preferred a direct appropriation over the checkoff, the committee agreed to delete the checkoff provision.

Tax cuts

On April 30, after eight hours of debate by legislators on both sides of the tax issue, the House voted 100 to 32 in favor of HF756 (IR-Schreiber, Brooklyn Park). The taxes omnibus bill includes $1.2 billion in tax cuts.

Majority Leader Rep. Connie Levi (IR-Dellwood) called the legislation a balanced, equitable, and fair package. But Rep. John Brandl (DFL-Mpls) said the proposal doesn't allow for proper funding of such services as education and social services.

HF756 calls for individual income tax reductions of $849 million and sales tax cuts of $350 million (including 1/2 percent off the 6 percent general sales tax).

The House adopted an amendment calling for the state to pay homestead credits in the seven-county metropolitan area equal to one percent of the market value of the home, up to a maximum of $700. Outside the metro area, homestead credits would be 49 percent of the gross tax for a homeowner, up to $700. Currently, the state pays homestead credits amounting to 54 percent of a homeowner's tax bill, up to $650.

The bill went to the Senate where a different version is in the process.

Farm tax incentives

Retiring farmers who sell and lease land to beginning farmers would benefit under HF587 (Waltman, IR-Elgin). The bill would allow them to make these tax exclusions:

- up to $10,000 in rental income each year for up to five years on land they lease to beginning farmers;
- $50,000 of capital gains from reportable state income on sales of land to beginning farmers; and
- income from contract for deed land sales to beginning farmers.

Rep. K. J. McDonald (IR-Watertown), chair of the Agriculture Committee, says the bill will give recognition to those who are willing to help young farmers get started. Looking at the bill in that light, he says, could make it part of the farm plan this year in the Legislature.

The Local Government Finance Division of the Taxes Committee, on April 29, recommended HF587 to pass. The full Taxes Committee hears it next.

License plate tags

Large numbers of notices reminding Minnesota drivers to renew their license plate tags get lost in the mail, according to reports from the Department of Public Safety. That means some motorists unknowingly drive with expired tags on their vehicles.

HF454 (McKasy, IR-Mendota Heights), a bill the House repassed as amended by the Senate April 29, and which is on its way to the governor for his signature, will come to the aid of people whose notices don't get to them.

Under the bill, a person could avoid paying for a ticket for driving an unregistered vehicle by: producing a registrar's statement about failure to send a notice, paying the license fee, and putting the tags on within 10 days of getting the citation.

Liability for dogs

The House April 25 passed HF264, a bill that would set criminal penalties for people who cause death or substantial bodily harm to others by letting their dogs run or by failing to properly confine them.

Rep. Jim Heap (IR-Plymouth), author of the bill, says it stems from an accident in his district involving the death of seven-year-old Jeremiah Rogholt.

"This bill came before us through a tragic incident, one in which a little boy, seven years of age was viciously attacked and lost his life . . . We have a number of other issues that have been added to the bill. But I think what it's trying to say is that we want owners to take necessary safety precautions with their animals," he said.

The bill would require proper identification of dogs. And owners who don't have their dogs vaccinated against rabies would be guilty of a petty misdemeanor if the dog bites someone.

Vouching for voters

The House, April 25, approved HF634 (Shaver, IR-Wayzata), a bill that would put a limit of three on the number of people one could vouch for at the voting polls on election day.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Session Weekly is a publication of the Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office. During the 1985 Legislative Session, each issue reports daily House action from Thursday (2 p.m.) to Thursday (2 p.m.), lists bill introductions and advance committee schedules, and provides other information. The publication is free to interested constituents. Contact: Minnesota House of Representatives Public Information Office, Room 9, State Capitol, St. Paul, MN 55155, [612] 296-2146.

Information Officer: Jean Steiner • Editor: Peg Hamerston • Associate Editor/Writer: Bonnie Kollodge • Assistant Editor/Writer: Lisa Lissimore • Art and Production Coordinator: Donna J. Lyons • Session Writers: Patrick Collins, Michael N. Gray, Susan J. Shepard • Bill Introductions & Committee Schedules: Cathy Elmstrom, Terri Hudoba, Dorothy Sawyer.

The bill's author, Rep. Craig Shaver, says Minnesota is one of the few states in the nation that lets people register to vote on election day. He says that although he has heard from people who want to repeal the provision in state law that permits such registration, he thinks the law serves a useful purpose for people who have recently moved.

The bill wouldn't apply if an individual is vouching for voters who all live in the same family dwelling and are all members of the same family, or who are residents of a shelter for battered women.

The law now allows a person to vouch for a new voter if he or she personally knows the individual. Shaver says testimony in the House elections subcommittee from election law officials pointed to abuses of the present law, such as people vouching for individuals they had not met before.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 18 MAY 10, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

Legislative countdown

The countdown's started for the end of the 1985 Legislative Session. Lawmakers have just a few days to tie things up.

House and Senate conference committees are in the process of working out differences over spending and tax bills. In most cases, they have a long way to go before coming up with some compromises.

Business still pending includes legislation to raise the drinking age to 21, which the Senate had passed and the House was debating when this story went to press.

The boating while intoxicated bill, which would set penalties for people who operate motor boats while drunk similar to those for people who drink and drive, has approval in the Senate, but is waiting for consideration in the full House.

Other legislation still awaiting House action would clarify when someone has to report child abuse and clear up some problems under the current law, and another bill would set stiffer penalties on people who hit and run.

Title 19 waiver

An amendment on the House floor restored the Title 19 waiver provision to HF1640 (Forsythe, IR-Edina), the $1.9 billion human services omnibus bill. The waiver allows the use of federal and state money for aid to retarded people at home or in intermediate care facilities.

Of five other amendments, two passed that Rep. Lee Greenfield (DFL-Mpls) offered. One would prevent the state from paying higher rates than HMOs and other insurers pay for services in care facilities.

The other amendment would permit doctors to remove the brains of deceased medical assistance recipients who may have had Alzheimer's disease. St. Paul Ramsey Medical Center would use the brains for study of the disease.

HF1640 freezes all state spending on health care, general assistance, aid to families with dependent children (AFDC), and restricts general assistance eligibility to the unemployable.

The House passed the bill May 8. It goes now to a conference committee to sort out House and Senate differences.

Taxes omnibus bill

Five DFLers from the Senate and five Independent-Republicans from the House met May 8 to begin the work of hammering out a compromise on a tax-cut bill that may total $1 billion.

The House has passed a $1.2 billion bill that cuts income taxes by $849 million and sales taxes by $350 million. It would also cut property taxes, but by how much is in dispute.

The Senate has passed a $814.3 million tax-cut bill that would reduce individual income taxes by $744 million and give $38 million in property tax relief.

Sen. Douglas Johnson (DFL-Cook), chair of the Senate Taxes and Tax Law Committee, says the Senate proposal is well-balanced, that it targets the tax relief to middle-income families in the income tax area.

Rep. Bill Schreiber (IR-Brooklyn Park), chair of the House Taxes Committee, spoke for the House bill, saying it is a larger tax relief package than the Senate's.

"Senators, we were the last ones off the campaign trail. House after house after house was concerned about job development in Minnesota, because the word had gotten out that Minnesota is not a good place to do business," said Schreiber. "We believe a signal is necessary to the business community."

State history book

A new history book for Minnesota students may be on the way. The Appropriations Committee recommended to pass, May 8, HF1243 (McPherson, IR-Stillwater), a bill that would have the Minnesota Historical Society develop a better book on the history of the state than is now available for Minnesota schools.

Rep. Harriet McPherson, the bill's author, says she drafted the bill in response to complaints from area teachers about lack of a good state history textbook.

Rep. Lyndon Carlson (DFL-Crystal), a civics teacher in New Hope, supports the bill and the idea that Minnesota teachers need a better tool for teaching state history.

HF1243 goes next to the House floor.

Spending bills pass

Three major spending bills won approval of the House May 7, in a session that ran well into the night.

First, was the semi-state bill with a $1.9 billion appropriation to the departments of agriculture, transportation, and various semi-state agencies, such as the Minnesota Historical Society.

The state departments bill was next. It funds most state departments, the legislature, courts, and numerous other programs at a cost of $1.1 billion.

Some discussion centered around funding of 911 emergency services. The legislation now carries a $1.6 million appropriation for completing the statewide hookup but doesn't fund operational and maintenance costs of the service.

Rep. Phyllis Kahn (DFL-Mpls) tried unsuccessfully to amend the bill to provide extra dollars through an access fee that telephone companies would collect, and through a direct general fund appropriation.

But bill author, Rep. Gaylin DenOuden (IR-Prinsburg), said local governments should come up with funds for 911. He said operational costs, about $7 million, could come out of state general funds, "but we don't have those dollars." And, he said, I don't think the funding should come from access fees. "Another way is to have those local units make some decisions in their own way."

The third bill to get House approval would fund higher education and carries an appropriation of $1.5 billion. The bills now go to conference committees where House and Senate members will work out differences.

Education aid

The difference between House and Senate education bills are on the conference committee table at the Capitol. On May 7, the House passed its $2 billion school-aids plan, on a vote of 90 to 41.

HF88 (Olsen, IR-St. Louis Park) would appropriate nearly $2.6 billion in the 1986-87 biennium and an additional $18 million in deficiencies for the current biennium, for a total of $2.63 billion. Those dollars are an increase of nearly 25 percent more than the comparable measure two years ago and $80 million more than the governor recommended, according to Rep. Sally Olsen.

The bill would increase state funding for elementary and secondary education, raise the foundation aid formula allowance, and increase categorical funding (i.e., special education aid, gifted and talented aid) as well. It would provide funds for staff development, teacher training, curriculum development, and gives greater flexibility to local school districts.

The bill would also appropriate about $4 million in cigarette tax revenues for a tobacco-use prevention program and about a million dollars for a school program to combat chemical dependency.

Job training

Some economic forecasters have predicted that Minnesota will need an influx of out-of-state workers to fill future job demands. Others are asking, "Why not train Minnesota citizens who need employment for those jobs?"

That's the purpose behind HF913/SF818, says House author Rep. Allen Quist, (IR-St. Peter). The bill would encourage counties to help AFDC recipients prepare themselves for an active role in Minnesota's expanding workplace.

On May 6, the Human Services Division of the Appropriations Committee sent the bill on to the full Appropriations Committee for further discussion, with a recommendation to pass.

Juvenile code

The Crime and Family Law Committee is looking at the current juvenile code and possible changes to it. May 3, the committee heard a report by House Research Analyst Kerry Kinney Fine on a study of out-of-home placements of children.

In 1981, Fine said 25,000 children were in out-of-home placements—juvenile corrections facilities, group homes, corrections group homes, residential treatment centers, and hospital chemically dependent and mentally retarded programs. Then, Fine said, about 366 residential facilities existed in the state.

In other testimony, the committee heard that the rate of institutionalization is very high in Minnesota.

Dave Hunt, presenting a Citizens' League report, said the state ranks 11th in the nation in juvenile commitments to training school. Two of the reasons for the state's high ranking are the Juvenile Court's goal of rehabilitation and the availability of private insurance, he said.

Also, he said, legal standards in the juvenile justice system may be incentives to arrest juveniles in efforts to do something about crime. Another factor, Hunt said, is that deficiencies in Minnesota's juvenile justice laws often sanction unnecessary removal of juveniles from their homes.

League recommendations include making sure that government pursues alternatives to residential care, changing the way government pays for that care, repeal of status offenses from the jurisdiction of the juvenile court, enforcing restitution, and in abuse cases, giving more consideration to removing the abusing parent from the home, instead of removing the abused child.

Committee hearings and discussions on the issue will continue.

Saturn proposal

On May 3, the Taxes Committee sent HF1645 (Beard, DFL-Cottage Grove), the Saturn proposal bill on to the Appropriations Committee with a recommendation to pass.

The bill includes most of the governor's bid for the GM Saturn auto plant. The bill would give a 30-year tax holiday on property, sales, and corporate income taxes that would save GM an estimated $804 million.

The bill would appropriate over $75 million to fund the costs of the plant site and improvements, the creation of a University Center of Advanced Manufacturing Technologies, customized job training at an on-site center, and relocation services for Saturn employees.

Clean water

Although the combined sewer overflow problem has been in the headlines this session, pinpointing water pollution in the Twin Cities metro area, Minnesota has 500 other communities that need wastewater treatment facilities. Cost would be over $1.1 billion.

But, since the 1970s, federal dollars for pollution control have been fewer, and funding for wastewater treatment has been tough. To get at the funding problem Rep. Don Valento (IR-Little Canada) is sponsoring HF849, the "privatization bill."

HF849 would encourage towns and cities in Minnesota to team up with private industry to solve the problem.

Under the bill, a municipality could have a private company build and even operate a sewage treatment facility. The city could then collect its costs from the state, if the plant consistently met state and federal pollution control standards.

The League of Minnesota Cities supports the privatization approach, seeing it as an incentive for communities to meet the 1988 federal water quality deadlines.

HF849 is now in the Appropriations Committee.

HIGHLIGHTS

Appropriations bills

In its final meeting for the 1985 legislative session, the Appropriations Committee recommended three major bills to pass. They amended and approved a $59 million sewage treatment plan, HF849 (Valento, IR-Little Canada), the Combined Sewer Overflow (CSO) bill, that gets its funding from a six-cents-a-pack cigarette tax.

The plan would help fund waste water and sewage treatment plants, statewide. In its original form, HF849 authorized 15-year loans to cities with fewer than 75 percent separated sewers. The amended version extends loan eligibility to include the city of South St. Paul.

The committee also approved the Fish and Wildlife Enhancement Act of 1985, HF628 (Rose, IR-Roseville). The bill would set aside $25 million for setting aside eroding crop lands and managing Minnesota's wildlife habitat. Fifteen of the $25 million would come from the unused portion of the farm interest loan buydown the Legislature passed in February of this year.

The third bill to move out of the committee is the Saturn plant bill, HF1645 (Beard, DFL-Cottage Grove). The bill would create a special enterprise zone if General Motors (GM) locates the Saturn plant in Minnesota. The offer would grant $75 million in tax breaks and development funds to GM.

Mark Dayton, commissioner of energy and development, says this kind of offer is necessary to attract GM and that the state will be the winner in the long run. Dayton also says the state is ready to extend the same sort of offer to other manufacturing companies if they choose to expand in Minnesota.

All three bills now go to the House floor.

Cigarette taxes

State taxes on cigarettes could be funding a variety of projects in Minnesota this year.

On May 16, the Appropriations Committee recommended to pass HF849 (Valento, IR-Little Canada), the Combined Sewer Overflow (CSO) bill. HF849 carries a provision taxing cigarettes six cents a pack to fund sewer reconstruction and other projects.

On May 15, the committee also recommended to pass HF810 (Quist, IR-St. Peter), a bill that would put a one-cent tax on each pack of cigarettes to fund a non-smoking program in Minnesota schools.

Some of the money would also go to the health department to help enforce the Minnesota clean indoor air act.

The bill could raise as much as $10 million, twice the cost of the $5 million needed for the non-smoking program and enforcement aid for the indoor air act. That extra $5 million caught the attention of the budget-conscious committee members at a May 14 meeting.

They attached amendments to target $500,000 to a mosquito control program and $3 million to programs for handicapped preschool children. But on the 15th, the committee reconsidered and removed those amendments.

Combined Sewer Overflow

The Combined Sewer Overflow (CSO) bill, HF849 (Valento, IR-Little Canada), came out of the Appropriations Committee, May 16, with a recommendation to pass.

The bill would call for a six-cents-a-pack cigarette tax, four cents of which would go to the state water pollution control fund. Money from this fund would make up grants or loans to cities for sewage control projects.

At a May 10 hearing on the bill, legislators heard opposition to the grants and loans provision from Maureen Warren of the St. Paul mayor's office and Bill Barnhart of the Minneapolis coordinator's office. They objected to allowing interest-bearing loans for Twin Cities projects but interest-free grants for outstate projects — a policy they they said was "discriminatory."

Rep. Don Valento, the bill's author, says the loan program will benefit the whole state, maintain the money pool, and keep the program alive.

Sales tax on used cars

Buyers of used cars would get a sales tax break under HF130 (Minne, DFL-Hibbing), a bill the House passed May 15.

The bill would repeal the six percent sales tax on used cars 10 years and older. Buyers would instead pay a flat $10 fee. HF130 would exempt classic and pioneer cars, and people who buy those cars would continue to pay the six percent sales tax.

"I know many of you, as I have, have heard complaints about paying taxes over and over again on the same vehicle," author Rep. Lona Minne told House members.

People have had problems determining and arguing the value of these older used cars with registrars, Minne said. "It's been a source of irritation for both registrars and purchasers and the revenue impact is minimal," she said.

The bill goes next to the Senate.

Underground development

Lack of space has always been a problem in crowded urban areas. But development of underground space could be part of the solution, says Rep. Sidney Pauly (IR-Eden Prairie).

"We have technology to create a whole, new basement in this state," says Pauly, author of HF922/SF925.

During discussion of the bill at the May 15 House session, Pauly exhibited a sample of soft St. Peter sandstone to House members. She says this stone, a formation of soil and glacial drift deposit, forms a unique subsurface under Minnesota's prairies, woodlands, lakes, and hills.

HF922/SF925 would authorize development of this subsurface which Pauly says would allow for dust and vibration-free, naturally secure space for development of industry, commerce, and transit.

The state would retain all mineral rights of developed underground territory under the bill. Municipalities would get bonding authority and the power to develop underground space.

An amendment to the bill would prohibit use of underground development for hazardous and high-level nuclear waste. The bill passed on a 113-0 vote.

Guns, superfund bills

The cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul could no longer have stricter gun laws than the rest of the state if the governor signs legislation now on its way to his desk. Similar legislation died last year with a governor's veto.

While other legislation is also moving through the House and Senate to the governor, bills affecting the superfund law have come to a standstill.

Both House and Senate have approved bills to compensate victims of hazardous waste releases, but the bills aren't the same. And neither body has appointed members to a conference committee to come to an agreement. Without that agreement, the victims' compensation measure, HF876 (Olsen S., IR-St. Louis Park), won't get to the governor nor the law books.

Proposals that attempt to make the superfund law more palatable to Minnesota businesses have had the approval of the full House for some time. But the Senate's waiting for a conference committee to come up with a victims' compensation plan before acting on superfund changes in HF268 (Sviggum, IR-Kenyon).

datory seat belt bill that would require Minnesota motorists to buckle up, made a motion in the May 15 session of the House to table the measure, after a motion for reconsideration. Her action makes it possible for the House to take up the bill again before the scheduled end of the session, May 20.

In the House May 10 session, the bill met defeat on a vote of 61 for and 70 against, the second time in two years the House has rejected seat belt legislation. And the second time the Senate has supported it.

The bill does not include penalties. It would apply to all front-seat occupants and riders under age 11 (in any seat) and exempt about six different groups of people from the belt requirement. Violators would receive a safety warning that wouldn't go on their driving records.

Attempts to put penalty provisions in the bill failed. And passage of HF119/SF40* would make Minnesota the first state in the Union to pass a seat belt law without penalties for violations.

Drinking age 21

A House and Senate conference committee agreed, May 15, to raise the state's drinking age to 21 in 1986, if Iowa and Wisconsin raise theirs, and Congress doesn't repeal the federal mandate.

The federal mandate requires states to increase the age or lose some federal highway aid. For Minnesota, that would be a loss of about $33 million over the next two years.

Right now, laws in Minnesota, Iowa, and Wisconsin provide for a 19 drinking age for all alcoholic beverages. North Dakota's age is 21 and South Dakota has a combined age of 21 for distilled spirits and 19 for beer and wine. Expectations are that the Iowa Legislature, which recently refused to take action on the drinking age, will pass a "21 bill" in their '86 legislative sessions. Wisconsin remains questionable.

Rep. Gary Schafer (IR-Gibbon), is the author of SF5, the 21 bill, which will now goes back to both the House and Senate for repassage.

Out-of-business sales

Anyone falsely representing a sale as a going-out-of-business event could be in trouble with the law if HF988/SF800* (Becklin, IR-Cambridge), becomes law.

The bill, which passed in the House May 15, would make it illegal for anyone to represent a sale as "going-out-of-business" if advertising for the sale runs longer than 120 days; if a retailer orders an unusual amount of merchandise shortly before the sale or during sale days—a practice known as stuffing sales; if the sale continues after the advertised ending date; or the retailer has held a going-out-of-business sale at the same location during the preceding 120 days.

An amendment to the bill would require real estate brokers or salespersons to tell all parties of a real estate transaction which party they represent.

The bill goes next to the governor.

Psychotherapy, hit-run

Two bills the Crime and Family Law Committee recommended to pass in recent weeks won the approval of the full House May 14. They are proposals concerned with conduct of psychotherapists and penalties for hit-run offenses.

One bill, HF1227 (Bishop, IR-Rochester), would prohibit psychotherapists from engaging in sexual acts with their patients. Psychotherapists would be guilty of criminal sexual conduct if they have sex with a patient during a session, even if the patient consents; if the patient, or former patient, is emotionally dependent on the therapist and unable to say "no"; or if the therapist represents sex as part of the patient's treatment.

The other bill, SF33 (Hartinger, IR-Coon Rapids), would impose criminal penalties on drivers involved in hit and run accidents. The bill would base the penalties on the degree of harm the accident caused and whether the driver was at fault.

The bill would increase the penalty for causing an accident that results in death to seven years and/or $14,000. And it would establish a penalty for causing an accident that results in great bodily harm.

HF1227 is waiting for Senate approval, and SF33 has now passed both Houses.

Stun guns

On May 9, House members amended stun-gun legislation into SF693 (Bishop, IR-Rochester), a bill that deals with forfeiture of property used in a crime.

Minnesota doesn't have laws on the books now that regulate the use of stun guns. However, the city of St. Paul has an ordinance banning them. The Legislation the House passed on the 9th, would allow possession and use of stun guns in defense of person or property.

Author of the proposal, Rep. Joel Jacobs (DFL-Coon Rapids), says the stun-gun legislation relates to what is already in state statute regarding the use of mace.

"It regulates mace and will regulate stun guns in an identical manner. What we're attempting to do is allow the public to have stun guns. But we want to reassure that they're used properly . . . in defense of a person," said Jacobs.

The bill would prohibit possession and use by people under 18 years old, people convicted of a violent crime or drug offense, and those who are mentally ill or chemically dependent.

Use of stun guns against police officers would carry a five-year felony penalty, and sale of the gun to anyone the law prohibits from its possession or use would be illegal.

Though some members opposed the legislation, arguing that research isn't complete and not enough knowledge exists on the gun's effects, and others objected to what they termed, "ready public access to a weapon," the bill passed 94 to 28.

The Senate also passed the bill, so it goes next to the governor.

Correction

In the highlight, Title 19 waiver, on page 1 of last week's Session Weekly, Rep. Wes Skoglund (DFL-Mpls) is the author of the amendment to the human services appropriations omnibus bill, HF1640/SF1525*, that would permit doctors to remove the brains of deceased general assistance recipients who may have had Alzheimer's disease. St. Paul Ramsey Medical Center would use the brains for study of the disease.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 20 May 24, 1985

HIGHLIGHTS

Session ends

"The House stands adjourned until 2 p.m., Monday, Feb. 3, 1986."

With that, Speaker of the House David M. Jennings, an Independent-Republican from Truman, fourth-term legislator and former minority leader, brought the gavel down on the 1985 regular session at midnight, May 20.

Minnesota's Constitution requires the Legislature to adjourn its regular session on the first Monday after the third Saturday in May.

The Constitution further provides that "on extraordinary occasions" the governor may call the Legislature into a special session. This year, with tax and spending proposals still under negotiation between the House and Senate, lawmakers can count on coming back to the Capitol to wrap things up at a date the governor will set.

You can read about some of the accomplishments of the 1985 legislature in other highlight articles in this issue and in the bill listings under "Floor Action." When legislators return to the Capitol in early February for the 1986 regular session, they hope to complete their legislative business within six weeks.

Credit card fraud

A bill, SF863 (Seaberg, IR-Menota Heights), cracking down on credit card fraud won final approval in the House May 20.

The bill attempts to make it easier for authorities to get at people trafficking lost, stolen, forged, or counterfeit credit cards (financial transaction cards). To do this, the bill would call for prosecution of anyone who sells or uses a counterfeit, lost, or stolen card. And penalties would be as much as five years in prison and/or a $5,000 fine.

The bill would also prosecute anyone using a financial transaction card number to get goods or money without the consent of the card holder. Present law covers only the use of the card.

Anyone making or altering cards would be guilty of aggravated forgery and could face a 10-year sentence and/or a fine of up to $20,000. And anyone providing false information when applying for a card could serve up to 90 days in prison and/or a fine of up to $300.

The bill now goes to the governor's desk.

Mailing list

Do you want to remain on the mailing list for Session Weekly and other House Information publications?

Please mark your answer on the bottom of the 1985 Readership Survey on the last page of this issue.

If you did not complete the survey last week, the House Information staff looks forward to your response this week. Your opinions are needed to guide the planning of public information services.

Saturn plant

The House approved the $1.3 billion Saturn car plant proposal, May 20. The package includes tax incentives and appropriations that lawmakers hope will encourage General Motors (GM) to locate a large-scale manufacturing facility in the state.

The bill, HF1645 (Beard, DFL-Cottage Grove), would create a special enterprise zone in the event GM would locate in Cottage Grove. The other candidate site for the plant, Duluth, already has such a zone.

"The tax incentives are provided for 30 years for a facility located in the special enterprise zone," Rep. Patrick Beard, the bill's author, told his House colleagues in the late night session.

Those incentives are abatement of corporate income taxes and sales tax exemptions for construction materials and equipment used in the zone, and the abatement of property taxes, said Beard.

"The local jurisdictions will be reimbursed for the net costs associated with the development of the manufacturing facility," he said.

The legislation would also provide funds for costs of the site and improvements, a University of Minnesota Center of Advanced Manufacturing Technologies, and customized job training. But it does not include money for relocation expenses and subsidized mortgages for employees as the governor proposed.

Though the bill faced opposition from lawmakers who felt it was unfair to Minnesota businesses, it passed on an 82 to 46 vote. The Senate approved it closer to the midnight deadline May 20 and sent it on to the governor.

DNR bill: deer and elk

Hunters could take two deer, beginning this fall, on an experimental basis, in Minnesota if HF940/SF719* (Rose, IR-Roseville) becomes law.

"This is the bill that enables the Department of Natural Resources to use as a management tool the issuance of licenses to take more than one deer," Rep. John Rose, author of the bill, told House members at the May 20 session.

And Rep. Wally Sparby (DFL-Thief River Falls) asked for support of an amendment to the bill that concerns an elk situation in northwestern Minnesota.

"Rep. Tunheim (DFL-Kennedy) and I've shared a problem here that's been very painstaking for us at many times. It's the elk situation where we have about 48 elk up in northwestern Minnesota that are inhabiting areas of Marshall, Roseau, and Beltrami counties.

"We would appreciate your support in making sure that we get them removed to some other area of the state other than those three counties and out of the agricultural areas of the state," said Sparby.

The amendment would direct the Department of Natural Resources to move the herd of elk by Sept. 1 and would appropriate $20,000 in moving expenses. House members supported Sparby's request, amended and passed the bill.

The bill now goes to the governor for his signature.

Counties, health care

Minnesota counties would get some help with health care costs from HF910 (Gruenes, IR-St. Cloud), which passed in the final hours of the 1985 legislative session on May 20.

Among other provisions, the bill allows counties to contract for services with public and private non-profit organizations. According to the bill author, Rep. Dave Gruenes, such nonprofit organizations frequently provide services at a lower cost than many for-profit companies.

Supporters of the measure say this is a small, but important change, especially since a greater share of the health care burden has shifted from the federal level to the shoulders of county government.

The Senate did not take final action on the bill.

Combined sewer overflow

The combined sewer overflow (CSO) bill, HF849 (Valento, IR-Little Canada) faced opposition on the House floor May 20. It went down in defeat twice in the first five hours of the last day of the regular session.

The bill would establish a statewide grant and loan program to help Minnesota municipalities with water-cleanup programs.

The House rejected the bill, which initially excluded Minneapolis from getting any loans, on a 56 to 73 vote early in the day. Two hours later, after adoption of an amendment making Minneapolis eligible for loans, the bill lost 13 more votes, failing 48 to 86.

Supporters of the proposal said the bill must pass or Minnesota will lose federal transportation funds. They had planned to bring it before the House a third time before adjournment of the regular session.

Most opponents object to use of the cigarette tax to fund water treatment, and others said they feel Minneapolis and St. Paul should pay for their own problems.

THE SESSION WEEKLY

MINNESOTA HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Child abuse

Changes to the juvenile code that would give more protection to children and families who face allegations of child abuse passed on the House floor the last day of the 1985 legislative session in HF848 (Blatz, IR-Bloomington).

Bill author, Rep. Kathleen Blatz, said a House and Senate conference committee agreed to keep language in the bill that would require family members who are guilty of sex offenses (intrafamilial sex offenders) to spend some time in jail.

The conferees removed other House language that would have renamed the crime of intrafamilial sex abuse.

"What we did instead was merge the intrafamilial statute with the criminal sexual conduct statute so it's all under one statute now," said Blatz. "However, the Senate did concede to the House language dealing with minimum time in the local jail, and also with the requirement that a convicted offender complete treatment.

"We lost the mandatory taping provision in the House bill, but we replaced it with required written records of any meetings with a child abuse victim," Blatz told House members just prior to final passage of the bill.

Other child abuse legislation to get final approval is SF196 (Levi, IR-Dellwood), a bill that would clarify the standard for mandatory and voluntary child abuse reporting. Both bills have gone to the governor for his signature.

Retirement legislation

Retirement legislation getting final approval in the House May 20 incorporates a number of bills that had previous hearings in the House. One of those would provide lump-sum payments to public employees who retired prior to 1973.

"Within the recommendation of the governor's budget, it basically provides, very straightforward, for a payment of $18 per year of service payable on Dec. 1, 1985, and $19 per year of service payable on Dec. 1 of 1986," said Rep. Gerald Knickerbocker (IR-Hopkins), author of HF98.

That would mean a lump-sum payment for all the pre-1973 retirees, about 14,000 of them, Knickerbocker said.

Other provisions would remove the 30-year cap on the number of years of service credit for computing benefits for Minneapolis teachers and would recognize years of retirement in bonus checks for retired St. Paul teachers.

Also, the Duluth Teachers Retirement Fund Association could pay annual post retirement adjustments to its retirees.

Final say on the proposal now lies with the governor.

Baby Doe bill

Medical care for abandoned and/or seriously ill babies is the subject of HF1175*/SF1127 (Kiffmeyer, IR-Big Lake). The bill expands the definition of child neglect to include the withholding of medical treatment to infants with a life-threatening condition.

Its author, Rep. Ralph Kiffmeyer, says the bill keeps Minnesota on top as a leader in child abuse prevention. The measure had opposition from some lawmakers who objected to the lack of financing in the bill to help with care of possibly terminally ill infants. However, it passed, May 20, by a 124 to 5 vote and goes next to the governor's desk for his signature.

Lemon law

A bill, HF242 (Bennett, IR-Shoreview), that would make a change in the state's auto warranty law, or "lemon law," moved out of the House and Senate chambers on the last day of the '85 session, with recommendations to pass.

The bill had been in a conference committee where conferees were trying to decide on an amendment the Senate added that would extend the lemon law to cover farm vehicles.

That amendment, which at one time came over to the House from the Senate in bill form, failed to get approval in a House committee that laid it over for interim study.

House conferees, upholding that position, agreed to a motion to drop the amendment and add language to the bill that would require a division of the attorney general's office to study the issue over the interim and report back to the House and Senate Agriculture committees in November with the findings.

HF242, now on its way to the governor for approval, requires car manufacturers to give directly to new car buyers, a written notice of their rights under the lemon law.

Clarifications

In the highlight, "Underground development," on page 2 of last week's Session Weekly, the third paragraph should read:

During discussion of her bill (HF922/SF925) at the May 15 House session, Rep. Sidney Pauly (IR-Eden Prairie) exhibited a sample of soft St. Peter sandstone to House members. The ancient St. Peter sandstone is capped by a layer of equally ancient limestone, then topped off by more recent glacial drift and soil. She said this composition forms a unique subsurface under Minnesota's prairies, woodlands, lakes, and hills.

A correction regarding HF1640 on page 4 of last week's Session Weekly should read:

With permission of next of kin, attending physicians, and Ramsey County Medical Center, doctors could remove brain tissue from deceased medical assistance recipients who may have had Alzheimer's disease. Tissue samples would then be sent to Ramsey County Medical Center for study.

Farm issues

Farm legislation that came out of this session included a program that buys down interest costs on new operating loans for financially strapped farmers and a program that encourages banks to submit existing loans to the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) for loan guarantees and debt restructuring.

Other legislation offers: aid to farmers who can't make payments on Family Farm Security Program loans; funds for farm financial crisis intervention services; a fur farm registration system; and bills that increase the value of farm machines and implements exempt from garnishment, from the current $5,000 to $10,000, and that regulate soil conservation and excessive soil loss controls.

Also, a new law gives buyers of farm products relief from a double jeopardy uniform commercial code exemption that can cause buyers to pay twice for the same product.

History textbook

HF1243 (McPherson, IR-Stillwater), the bill that would authorize the Minnesota Historical Society to produce a Minnesota history textbook, faced an hour-long debate on the House floor May 17, before passing on a 100 to 2 vote.

The bill doesn't appropriate any funds for the book which schools would purchase. But it would allow per diem payments to a 15-member advisory committee. The bill must now pass in the Senate before it can be enacted into law.

About Session Weekly

This is the final issue of Session Weekly for the 1985 regular Legislative session.

The Minnesota House of Representatives publishes Session Weekly to inform constituents about legislative action.

It's a communication from 134 House members to the people in their districts and other publics about bills going through the Legislature. It covers bill introductions; committee and floor action on bills; advance committee schedules; and information on how a bill becomes law, committee assignments and schedules, members' office and phone numbers, and where to get answers to questions about legislation and the legislative process.

The Session Weekly results from the cooperation of house members and staff; committee chairs, administrators, and secretaries; the committee scheduler; the Chief Clerk's Office; the Index Department; and House Research — all of whom supply and verify information upon request.

The House Information Office staff collects, writes, verifies, coordinates, and reports information, and produces each issue of the Session Weekly.
