Farm product liens

The Agriculture Committee Feb. 21 recommended a bill that would repeal the state’s lien-notification or so-called “double jeopardy” law.

Double jeopardy refers to an exception in the state’s Uniform Commercial Code (UCC). The UCC protects most buyers from lenders’ claims against property or goods. However, it doesn’t extend the protection to buyers of farm products. This means that farm-product buyers could be liable for liens on those products if lenders can’t collect from farmers. Buyers then pay twice—once to the farmer and again to the lender.

To offer some protection to buyers, the 1985 Legislature passed the double jeopardy law which subjects both buyers and lenders to a lien-notification process. To protect their secured interest, the law requires lenders to give registered buyers a listing of all secured interests they hold. If the lender fails to notify the buyer, the buyer can take the product free of a security interest.

HF1842 (Dimler, IR-Chanhassen) would repeal the UCC exception and the lien-notification law. Buyers, then, could buy products free and clear until December. A federal law would take control after that date.

Bob Stassen from the Minnesota Bankers Association argued that repeal of the law could reduce the availability of farm credit, and put lending institutions at risk of losing collateral.

At a Feb. 27 meeting, the committee approved HF2208, a bill that would allow anyone who provides new value to have a priority claim on it, e.g., fertilizer, fuel, or seed that enables farmers to produce a crop.

Supporters of the bill say it would free up a new source of credit for farmers who can’t borrow from banks. Opponents say it would destroy the current farm credit system.

Rep. Elton Redalen (IR-Fountain) is the author of the bill. It goes next to the Financial Institutions and Insurance Committee.

Budget balancing bill

The budget-balancing bill, HF1766 (Levi, IR-Dellwood) passed in the House Feb. 26 on a 70-61 vote.

The $349 million bill would reduce K-12 education by $11.5 million, mainly by eliminating summer school (except for special education), and would cut $35 million from the state’s higher education budget. The human services allotment would drop by $100 million, including a proposed $35 million cut in Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) that would lower benefits to 70 percent of the standard of need.

The bill would cut transportation funds $91.6 million, including a proposed $12 million reduction in metropolitan transit assistance. And state departments would lose over $78 million from their budgets, a cut that would eliminate the Department of Energy and Economic Development (DEED) and several legislative commissions.

The bill’s major allocation—$19.9 million—goes to tuition subsidies, legal services, and an interest buydown program for farmers.
General civil liability

A bill that targets reducing rising insurance costs by reforming Minnesota's civil justice system got the recommendation of the Judiciary Committee on Feb. 26, but not before the committee removed several provisions.

The committee deleted sections of HF1776 (Olsen, IR-St. Louis Park) that would have placed a $250,000 cap on non-economic damages, prohibited punitive awards in general liability lawsuits, and ended the “joint” obligation of a defendant in a civil suit to pay more than his/her share of an award if other defendants can’t pay their share—the so-called “joint and several liability.”

The amended bill would add several exceptions to state law to a municipalities' liability, prevent double recovery of damages through jury awards and other insurance, mandate periodic payments of future damages exceeding $100,000, and exempt future awards from prejudgment interest.

The bill now goes to the House floor.

Correction

The highlight “Rights for the mentally ill,” on page 2 of last week’s Session Weekly, erroneously attributed statements from the legislative auditor’s report on the mentally retarded to the auditor’s Feb. 7 report on the mentally ill.

The article’s reference to overuse of drugs, seclusion and restraints, and inadequate preparation for patient discharge, are from the report on Minnesota’s mentally retarded population, not from the auditor’s report on the mentally ill.

Driving while intoxicated

Chronic convicted drunk drivers would have to surrender their vehicle’s license plates under HF2339 (Rest, DFL-New Hope), a bill the Crime and Family Law Committee recommended to pass Feb. 26.

Drivers who have three DWI convictions in three years or have lost their licenses because of DWI offenses, would have to turn in license plates and registrations for vehicles they own, if HF2339 becomes law.

If a spouse uses the vehicle, the courts could issue temporary license plates with a special prefix—police officers, but not the general public would recognize. The plates are for vehicles of repeat drunk driving offenders only.

Such a procedure exists under current law, but this bill would make it mandatory instead of optional.

Steve Simon, president of a state task force on drunk driving, said a recent Minnesota study showed that 25 percent of the drunk drivers in traffic fatality cases had lost their licenses because of DWI convictions in the previous 26 months.

Crime victims

Crime victims would have the right to speak up in court under terms of a bill the Crime and Family Law Committee recommended to pass Feb. 26.

Under HF1958 (Kelly, DFL-St. Paul) crime victims could tell the court at the time of sentencing what he/she thinks is an appropriate sentence and voice objections to the proposed sentence.

The bill would also require a probation period to be extended if the defendant hasn’t made restitution. And it requires officials to return the victim’s property as soon as possible.

Victims would receive a number of other safeguards and special consideration under terms of the bill.

Live obscenity

A bill the Crime and Family Law Committee approved Feb. 26 would prohibit live, obscene performances.

Its author, Rep. Ralph Kiffmeyer (IR-Big Lake), said HF804 tries to close a gap in current obscenity laws, which outlaw obscene publications and movies but not live performances.

Communities would be able to form their own definition of obscenity and apply it to live performances.

Rep. Randy Staten (DFL-Mpls.) voted against the bill, saying he worries that the community standard provision would allow “witch hunts.”

A first offense would carry a fine of up to $10,000. A second offense carries a fine of up to $20,000.

The bill goes next to the House floor.
Gasohol

Is gasohol a potential boon to the Minnesota farm economy or an engine-eating fad fuel that irritates consumers and the oil industry alike?

The answer is "both," according to testimony Feb. 26 in the Agriculture, Transportation and Semi-States Division of the Appropriations Committee.

Gasohol, the commonly used term for ethanol-based gasoline, came into vogue during the energy crisis of the early 1970s. Midwesterners touted it as a new market for otherwise unusable corn and grains, while energy-conscious consumers saw it as a way to lessen the United States' dependence on foreign-bought oil.

The Minnesota Legislature responded two years ago by granting a tax credit to distributors of ethanol-based fuel. The idea was to stimulate state ethanol production, particularly on farms. To date, however, over 96 percent of the ethanol people use in Minnesota comes from other states, mainly Nebraska.

The governor's proposed elimination of the Agricultural Alcohol Gasoline Credit drew protest, nevertheless, from officials of state ethanol production plants. They say the media is overreacting to consumer reports of damaged car and snowmobile engines. Gasohol deserves the fair public hearing lead-free gasoline received over a decade ago, they contend.

Besides, asked Kathy Graf, owner of the Graf Feed & Fuel Alcohol plant in Watertown, "What are you going to do with the (unmarketable) corn" now being used to produce ethanol? Ethanol production nationwide has generated $850 million for the farm economy since 1978, according to a "Washington Post" article supporters distributed at the committee meeting.

Chair Merlyn Valan (IR-Moorhead) asked committee members to think about those issues as they consider the economic and environmental impact of ethanol use.

Judicial shifting

A 1985 law that says the Minnesota Supreme Court can move judgeships throughout the state wherever needed may be in jeopardy. On Feb.26, the Judiciary Committee approved a bill which would suspend the "sunset and transfer" law until Jan. 1, 1987.

Under the 1985 law, the Supreme Court can move judgeships to other judicial districts when judges leave office. According HFl797's author, Rep. Terry Dempsey (IR-New Ulm), the judges base their decisions on where to add or terminate positions largely on a 1980 complex study of the workload in each judicial district.

"There is some concern that the 1980 study is outdated and flawed," says Dempsey. Second Judicial District Judge Harold W. Schultz agrees, "I am appalled by the length of time since it was done." Schultz says changes have occurred since then, creating heavier workloads on the judicial system.

Supreme Court Chief Justice Douglas Amdahl said the Supreme Court has transferred three judgeships since the '85 law went into effect. "We have transferred them to the metropolitan areas where the need has been a chronic problem," he said. "These actions were taken only after a public hearing in the affected district."

The bill originally repealed the "sunset and transfer" law, but the committee amended it to suspend the law until completion of a new judicial workload study.

The bill now goes to the floor of the House.

Postsecondary options

The state would no longer foot the bill on courses high schoolers take for college credit under proposed amendments to last year's postsecondary options legislation. The amendments to HF1919 (Levi, IR-Dellwood) which the Education Committee recommended to pass Feb. 25 would, however, require colleges and universities to grant postsecondary credit for courses pupils took for secondary credit—if those students enrolled in their institutions after high school.

Additional amendments committee members offered and adopted during the Feb. 25 meeting, would allow juniors and seniors in private schools to participate in the postsecondary options program if they do so in shared time programs with nearby public schools.

The mandatory age for compulsory attendance in Minnesota would also rise from 16 to 18 years of age or high school graduation.

Amendments to HF1919 resulted from testimony pointing out program misuse and loopholes. The amended bill would also call for:

- limiting participation in the program to six quarters or four semesters for high school juniors and three quarters or two semesters for high school seniors;
- including two-year institutions in the definition of eligible postsecondary colleges and universities;
- setting deadlines for high schools to inform students about the program;
• setting deadlines for students to inform high schools about their intent to participate in the program;
• requiring the school districts to provide counseling services and specifying the type of information they should give to students and parents or guardians; and
• granting postsecondary students course-scheduling priority over the program’s high schoolers.

Ramsey County Medical Center

A bill that would reorganize the Ramsey County Medical Center into a competitive health care provider got approval Feb. 25 from the Local and Urban Affairs Committee.

Rep. Randy Kelly (DFL-St. Paul) is author of HF1875, the bill that would restructure the medical center into a corporate entity. The center could then begin health care enterprises like home health care, research, and emergency services.

The corporation’s governing board would be exempt from the open meeting law for activities that relate to economic competition, marketing, and strategic planning.

“We’re proposing to change the medical center’s governance structure, and to provide the hospital with tools and flexibility they’ll need to compete and survive in the competitive metropolitan health care field,” said Kelly.

Currently, a commission of legislative and county board appointees governs Ramsey County Medical Center.

Public Utilities Commission

Public utilities commissioners may face gross misdemeanor charges if they accept jobs in Minnesota’s regulated industries within a year after leaving a commission post under a possible new law.

Legislation that would create that law came out of the Regulated Industries and Energy Committee Feb. 25 with a recommendation to pass.

Author of HF2221, Rep. Elton Redalen (IR-Fountain), says, “I am not satisfied with the actions of the public utilities, various former commissioners, the Department of Public Service, and media sensationalization. “The purpose of the bill is to make some changes to restore confidence in the system and make the system more accountable.”

The bill includes these provisions which would:
• expand qualifications for commissioners to include professions from finance, physical and natural sciences, production agriculture and natural resources;
• extend the term of the commission chair to two years with a limit of two terms;
• deny candidates commission posts if, in the year prior to commission candidacy, they have been employees, consultants, witnesses for or representatives of industries the commission regulates;
• require the commission to adopt, by rule, a code of conduct for commission members and employees. The commission may also adopt rules governing ex parte communications during times when a rate case is pending; and
• redefine settlement criteria for gas, electric, and telecommunications rate cases.

HF2221 is now in the Governmental Operations Committee which expects to hear testimony on the bill and take action by Feb. 28.

Airport noise

The airport noise issue landed in the State Legislature Feb. 25.

The bill, HF1804, by Rep. Ken Nelson (DFL-Mpls.), would force the Metropolitan Airport Commission (MAC) to get permission from the Pollution Control Agency (PCA) for building projects.

Whenever MAC wants to make capital improvements at the Minneapolis/St. Paul Airport that may result in increased aircraft noise, it would need permission from the PCA.

Richard Jellinger, a south Minneapolis homeowner, told the Environment and Natural Resources Committee that when he moved to the area, airport noise was a four-hour-a-day nuisance. Now, peak noise hours extend all day, except for the noon hour.

“If you can imagine one airplane taking off or landing directly overhead and multiply that and have it go all day, every day, except for an hour and a half, you have my home,” he said.

But Jeff Hamiel, airport executive director, said MAC recently formed a task force to resolve the problem. He said the bill is too drastic, and he questioned whether the PCA is the appropriate agency to oversee MAC building projects.

Convention centers

At a Feb. 25 meeting of the Sales Tax Subcommittee, the St. Cloud City Council proposed an increase in the city’s food/beverage and hotel/motel sales taxes to build, operate, and maintain a new convention center.

HF2126 (Gruenes, IR-St. Cloud) would authorize the tax increase to finance the project which would help make St. Cloud a tourist and convention center resource in the state.
Jack Fischer of the St. Cloud City Council described the proposed facility as a multi-function center totaling 50,000 square feet and costing an estimated $4.2 million. He says construction will be on city property that the city had already earmarked for a convention site.

Fischer figures the project would induce $8 million in private development. He says the need for more restaurants, offices, and motel rooms would create 200 new jobs in the area.

Likewise, the City of St. Paul seeks to raise the hotel/motel sales tax from three to five percent which would raise an estimated $500,000. According to HF2248 (Kelly, DFL-St. Paul), half the revenue the tax would generate would fund a convention bureau to promote the city as a tourist and convention center.

The subcommittee recommended passage of both HF2126 and HF2248 to the full Taxes Committee.

Sex discrimination

Private golf clubs could pay up to four or five times more in property taxes if they discriminate on the basis of sex. On Feb. 25, the Local Government Finance Division recommended to the full Taxes Committee a bill that would take away a discriminating club’s favorable property tax status.

“Golfing at a private club for a single woman is nearly impossible,” said Joan Archer, a trade association lobbyist and avid golfer. She says women can get social or tennis memberships and use swimming and dining facilities, but most private clubs won’t allow women to get a golf membership.

Richard Keenan, an attorney representing the Minnesota Golf Association (MGA), told the committee that his association is very concerned about the bill. “We think it has the potential to do a great deal of damage to golf and private clubs throughout the state,” he said.

To meet some of MGA’s concerns, the committee amended the bill to allow golf clubs to have separate events for men and women as long as the hours, days, and conditions are equal for each sex. Several members questioned whether the amendment would be workable. Author of HF2077, Rep. Dave Bishop (IR-Rochester), said, “We have to have a willingness to comply with the intent of the bill without trying to detail everything for the golf courses.”

On Feb. 27, the full Taxes Committee recommended passage of the bill and sent it to the House floor.

DNR reorganization

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) would reorganize and decentralize under terms of a bill that went through a six-hour hearing Feb. 24.

The Governmental Operations Committee sent HF 2124 (Carlson, D., IR-Sandstone) to the Environment and Natural Resources Committee with a recommendation to pass.

The bill would allow the St. Paul DNR home office no more than one-sixth of the department’s workforce and would transfer the other employees to the six DNR regional offices across the state.

It would strengthen outstate administration and create seven-member citizen advisory boards in each region.

Workers’ compensation

Professional athletes would have limited workers’ compensation benefits under a bill the Labor-

Management Committee recommended to pass Feb. 24.

Attorneys for various players’ associations said HF1873 (Sviggum, IR-Kenyon) singles out athletes, while allowing other highly paid professionals to collect workers’ compensation. In earlier testimony, Minnesota AFL-CIO President Dan Gustafson, said, “Insurance is insurance. The law is the law that (all workers) ought to be covered, and they should be covered.”

Rep. Steve Sviggum cited what he called other “?? flag” provisions, which would:

• allow, in certain cases, injured workers to draw unemployment compensation benefits while waiting for their workers’ comp benefits to begin;
• replace the maximum benefit of 66.6 percent of gross wages with 80 percent of net pay, or spendable earnings;
• hold insurance companies liable for some of a worker’s legal fees if court action reverses a company’s original decision to deny the worker’s claim; and
• provide retroactive permanent partial disability benefits for a worker’s loss of taste and smell.

Ticket quotas

If you think state troopers ticket motorists to meet a ticket quota, you’d favor a bill the House passed on Feb. 24.

The bill, HF1930, would prohibit state patrollers from ordering, or in any manner suggesting, that a trooper issue a certain number of traffic tickets.
The issue sparked a two-hour Transportation Committee debate over whether the state's 450 troopers must meet a quota. Author of the bill, Rep. Doug Carlson (IR-Sandstone) says, a law like this on the books would clear up any doubt. Nobody could accuse Minnesota of having a quota system.

In other action on the same evening, the committee gave an okay to a HF2156 that would prohibit bicyclists from wearing headphones while riding.

The bill's author, Rep. Phyllis Kahn (DFL-Mpls) said last summer she was almost hit by a biker wearing headphones who didn't see her, nor hear her shouting at him to watch out. She says, bicyclists, like other traveling motorists, need to be on the alert.

The committee also recommended passage of HF1803 (Uphus, IR-Sauk Centre), a bill that would allow handicapped persons to operate four-wheel, all-terrain vehicles on city streets.

Charitable gambling law
Charitable organizations could have up to five events a year, award prizes of not more than $50,000, and not have to register with the state's Charitable Gambling Control Board. On Feb. 24, the General Legislation and Veterans Affairs Committee recommended a bill which would exempt these organizations from the current charitable gambling law.

Author of HF2027, Rep. Dave Fjoslien (IR-Brandon), says even though small fundraising organizations hold one or two events a year, they're subject to the same reporting requirements as organizations with ongoing charitable gambling activities. He says this aspect of the law discourages people from volunteering to raise funds for these organizations.

Rep. Dick Kostohryz (DFL-No. St. Paul) offered an amendment which would permit "casino night" gambling under the state's charitable gambling law. Current law allows charitable organizations to conduct bingo games, raffles, pull-tabs, tipboards, and pull-tabs to raise money for a charitable purpose.

Kostohryz says casino night gambling, which includes other types of gambling like blackjack, poker, and dice games, goes on in many communities. He says the Legislature should either legalize it or make it clear to local governments that such gambling is not legal.

The amendment failed, but the bill now goes to the House floor.

Rural aid
On Feb. 21, the Commerce and Economic Development Committee recommended passage of HF2095 (Carlson, D., IR-Sandstone), a bill that aims at helping rural Minnesota by addressing four different topics.

The bill would create a new agency, The Greater Minnesota Corporation, which would:
- sell bonds to promote economic development in distressed areas;
- fund a natural resource exploration and development program in northern Minnesota counties;
- give funding priority to wastewater treatment plants in distressed areas; and
- provide education retraining for unemployed rural residents.

The bill awaits funding amounts; then it goes to the Appropriations Committee.

Committee deadlines
On Feb. 10, the full House adopted a Senate concurrent resolution providing session deadlines for the Legislature in accordance with Joint Rule 2.03.

Deadlines are:
- After Feb. 28, neither the Senate nor the House will act on committee reports on bills in the house of origin.
- After March 8, neither the Senate nor the House will act on committee reports on bills originating in the other house.
- After March 13, neither house shall act on bills other than those in: 1) reports of conference committees; 2) messages from the other house; 3) reports of the Committee on Rules and Administration in the Senate or the Committee on Rules and Legislative Administration in the House; or 4) messages from the governor.
