Airport improvements

A proposal that would pair the Metropolitan Airports Council (MAC) and Metropolitan Council to address short- and long-term air transportation needs received final approval from the full House May 11.

SF1358 (House author: Wynia, DFL-St. Paul) would require MAC and Metropolitan Council officials to work in tandem toward the more immediate improvement needs at the Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport (MSP), and explore the broader goal of preliminary planning and development if a new facility is needed in the future, says Rep. Ann Wynia.

The dual track set-up in the bill "makes sure there isn't bias in favor of the current airport location or a possible new facility," she says. "It isn't biased in favor of anyone."

The bill would direct officials to, among other things, report and make recommendations to the Legislature about MSP's status and any long-range policies on expanding the existing facility or building a new one. It also would set up an airport advisory council to review and comment on any MAC-Metropolitan Council recommendations.

Elections

Minnesota taxpayers could once again receive tax credit for political contributions under a bill the Taxes Committee recommended to pass May 11. HF629 (Scheid, DFL-Brooklyn Park) would authorize full tax credits — on both long and short forms — for campaign donations of $50 dollars per individual and $100 dollars per couple.

The bill would also tighten campaign contributions and solicitations for legislative candidates while the Legislature is in session. According to the measure, a candidate could neither solicit nor accept contributions from registered lobbyists, political committees, or political funds during a regular legislative session. Violators could face a fine up to $500.

To help school children understand the electoral process, the bill would direct county auditors to supply sample ballots to classrooms for educational instruction during a primary or general election.

The bill now moves to the Appropriations Committee for further consideration.

It's a fact!

People across the country call Minnesota the Gopher State, the Land of Sky Blue Waters, or the North Star State. Those of us who live here simply say Minnesota.

Some early frontier citizens had hoped to name our land of promise "Jackson." Others opted for "Washington" or "Chippeway."

But the name Minnesota won out. However, spellings differed. Minnesotor, Menesota, Minisotah, and Minnay sotor were among the variations. It was at an 1848 congressional convention that delegate Henry H. Sibley introduced the spelling we know today—Minnesota.

The name comes from two Dakota Indian words: "mini" meaning water, and "sota" meaning "varying color of a turbid, cloudy sky." Together, they mean "cloudy, churning water" or "sky-tinted waters," earmarking our state as river and lake country.

As he enters the House Chamber, Steve Bertrand, St. Paul, right, hands Rep. Doug Swenson (IR-Forest Lake) letters from handicapped organizations asking lawmakers to support rights for people with disabilities. A group of handicapped people came to the Capitol May 8 to gain support for HF950 (Orenstein, DFL-St. Paul), a bill important to the disabled community in areas of employment, housing, transportation, and public accommodations.

Healthspan

A bill that would have imposed a 1 percent payroll tax on Minnesota employers to finance a health care access program took on several amendments at the Taxes Committee meeting May 9. Rep. Paul Ogren (DFL-Aitkin) sponsors HF150, the Health Care Access Program (Healthspan) bill, that would have provided basic health insurance and preventive medical care to working people who don't have health insurance or those not eligible for general assistance medical care.

After reviewing the bill's proposed tax policy, the committee removed a provision that would have placed a payroll tax on employees, but retained a provision that would create a study commission to take a deeper look at Minnesota's health insurance situation.

According to Ogren, more than 300,000 Minnesotans are without health insurance; 61 percent are full-time working adults. And one-third of them are children who forego preventive care, immunizations, and basic medical and dental treatment.

The Healthspan study commission would consist of 11 members representing consumers, the health care field, and small businesses. The bill would direct the commission to explore program financing options, the payroll tax, and the makeup of those at risk of living without health insurance.

The Healthspan bill goes next to the Appropriations Committee for further consideration.

Lottery

Last fall, 57.2 percent of Minnesota residents voted to authorize the Legislature to establish a lottery. The Appropriations Committee, with much debate, recommended passage of a lottery bill May 10.

HF66 would create a state lottery department under the supervision of a director whom the governor would appoint. "It's very important that the first director of the lottery be depoliticized," says bill author Rep. Joe Quinn (DFL-Coon Rapids). The lottery would be a business, he says, and as such, should be run professionally.

Some provisions in the bill would:

- limit administrative costs to 15 percent;

- prohibit awarding prizes to winners under age 18; and
- regulate lottery advertising.

The state lottery department would receive $11.4 million from the general fund, and $2.6 million from the state lottery account. Also, the committee approved more than 170 positions for the state lottery department.

Rep. Mike Jaros (DFL-Duluth) sponsors an amendment that would establish treatment programs for compulsive gamblers. Lawmakers voted to appropriate $600,000 over the next two years for the program.

The bill received preliminary approval and now goes to the full House for further consideration.

Public employees' pensions

Lawmakers considered a bill May 10 that would make several changes to the benefits available to public employees who are members of the Minnesota State Retirement System (MSRS), Teachers Retirement Association (TRA), Public Employees Retirement Association (PERA), and first-class city teachers' funds. The Governmental Operations Committee approved SF783 (House author: Jaros, DFL-Duluth) May 10.

State employees who earn the same income and work the same number of years may receive different pensions when they retire under the current pension system, according to lawmakers.

Rep. Wayne Simoneau (DFL-Fridley) says proposed changes would ensure that employees who earn the same income for the same number of years would receive the same benefits. He says it's not fair that some people receive better benefits for the same service.

The pension proposal would provide uniformity in all major plans, offer early retirement benefits, develop a level formula, and remove future subsidies for new employees. Simoneau told the committee no "takeaways" would occur under the proposal.

Simoneau says the House and Senate plan to appoint a conference committee later in the session to settle on a final version of a pension bill.

State departments' funding

The House and Senate passed different versions of HF372 (Solberg, DFL-Bovey), the state departments funding bill, May 8. A 10-member conference committee is at work on a compromise. Here are two provisions regarding tourism loans and the Game and Fish Fund in the House version of the bill:

Tourism loans

The Department of Trade and Economic Development (DTED) could make loans to tourism-related businesses under one provision in HF372.

The provision would allocate funds to the DTED for loans to resorts, campgrounds, lodging facilities, and other tourism-related businesses. Businesses could use the money to pay up to 50 percent of the cost of projects, such as equipment purchases, building construction and improvement, site improvement, and other related construction and engineering undertakings. The maximum term of a loan could not exceed the property's useful life or 80 percent of the equipment's or machinery's useful life.

The provision appropriates $2 million to the DTED to create a tourism loan account; payments that borrowers make would go back into the account. The DTED would set interest rates for the loans, and require collateral to secure all loans.

Game, fish fund

Lawmakers would take a look each biennium at fees that go into the state Game and Fish Fund under another provision in HF372. Under current law, the Legislature randomly reviews fees.

Hunting and fishing license fees, fines, and other money related to game and fish activities finance the fund. The proposed change would allow the commissioner of natural resources to request fee changes as part of a biennial fee report to the Legislature. Supporters say this procedure would provide better management of the fund and help prevent yearly fluctuations. An earlier proposal would have allowed the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) to index fees annually.

The proposal would also direct Department of Finance to review and make recommendations about DNR fee requests, and submit a six-year projection on revenues and expenditures to the Legislature.

Drivers' licenses, I.D.s

Youths might have a harder time passing as someone else, and those who check identifications would have an easier time copying information from drivers' licenses and permits, if a bill the Appropriations Committee considered May 9 becomes law.

HF1461 (Kalis, DFL-Walters) would appropriate $120,000 to the Department of Public Safety (DPS) over the next two years to improve the security and legibility of drivers' licenses, instruction permits, and Minnesota identification cards. Improvements would include using a better quality ink for licenses, I.D.s, and permits. Kalis says the ink the DPS now uses tends to fade away over time. The bill would also direct the DPS to improve security in the cards' photo areas to make tampering more difficult.

The committee approved the bill and sent it to the full House where it passed without opposition May 10.

Dawn Carter of Waseca High School speaks at the Second Annual Governor's Youth Service Recognition Day program in the Capitol rotunda. The governor presented awards to young people from across the state May 9 in recognition of their community service.

Takeover resolution

Enough is enough, says one Minnesota lawmaker. It's time for the federal government to step in and revise its laws to help protect companies against hostile takeovers and stock acquisitions.

Rep. Wayne Simoneau (DFL-Fridley) guided HF1689 through committee hearings to a final vote on the House floor May 9. The measure is a resolution asking the president and Congress to do some housecleaning in federal laws to discourage hostile takeovers and stock accumulations. The resolution says such business transactions adversely affect stockholders, employees, creditors, suppliers, customers, and the state and national economy. The resolution also asks Congress to grant states the power to enact their own anti-takeover legislation.

"We're asking Congress to take a look at their policies and laws...and the policies of the SEC [Securities and Exchange Commission] regarding takeovers," Simoneau says. "We'd like the United States to look at its [federal] laws in an attempt to deter the takeover mania that's occurring now."

The House unanimously approved the resolution. It's one of several anti-takeover measures the hostile takeover bid for Northwest Airlines sparked.

Military spending

"Minnesota paid $4.7 billion in taxes in 1987 for federal defense spending and got back $2.9 billion. That's a net loss of $1.8 billion dollars in one year for Minnesota taxpayers," says Rep. Andy Dawkins (DFL-St. Paul).

On May 9, the Economic Development Committee heard Dawkins' proposal to convert Minnesota's defense tax dollars into social spending dollars.

"While Minnesota receives a low share of Pentagon spending, we receive a disproportionately high share of other government spending," Dawkins says. "So, if we spend less on defense and more on other government spending, [we] stand to benefit."

The seven-county metro area receives over 96 percent of the state's defense contract work, he says. The number of defense-related jobs totals 116,345 or 5.5 percent of all the jobs in Minnesota.

Citing a study from the Minnesota Task Force on Economic Conversion, Dawkins says Minnesota would net "an additional 9,400 jobs over and above what we have right now" if Congress would cut 20 percent from the military budget.

K-12 funding

Minnesota educators teaching kindergarten through grade 12 may get more money than they expected, according to lawmakers at a Ways and Means Committee meeting May 8.

Rep. Ann Wynia (DFL-St. Paul) moved to dedicate more than $10 million in unappropriated funds to K-12 education. Rep. Bob Vanasek (DFL-New Prague) says he wants to give schools some flexibility with the newly discovered funds. School districts would be able to spend the new money as they see fit.

The committee unanimously adopted the Wynia motion; the full House later amended it into HF654, the education finance omnibus bill.

A budget increase like this demonstrates Minnesota's commitment to education, says bill author Rep. Ken Nelson (DFL-Mpls). "We're providing for the education of at least 700,000 young people in...Minnesota for the next two years. That's a pretty tremendous task," says Nelson. "We're doing that with at least $3.3 billion of state monies matched...by local levy...[which] comprises 26 percent of the total state budget."

The amendment to add $10 million to the education budget may prevent personnel lay offs in schools, help reduce class sizes, and assist special education programs. The increase translates into a 3.4 percent budget increase in 1990 and a 3.3 percent increase in 1991. Increased appropriations send a message to local governments that lawmakers favor classroom size reductions and encourage discipline in local school spending, he says.

After long debates proposing changes to funding formulas and school levies, the House passed the bill; the Senate passed it May 9. A conference committee is now working toward a compromise.

Higher education

Provisions in the higher education appropriations bill should help correct some of the recently publicized problems in the technical college system, says Rep. Lyndon Carlson (DFL-Crystal).

On May 5, the full House approved SF1625 (House author: L. Carlson), the $2.0 billion higher education spending package. The bill includes provisions that would:

- direct postsecondary education systems to report on their responses to rapid enrollment growth;
- provide child care subsidies to qualified parents; and

- provide funds to address disabled students' needs.

Carlson says the bill also addresses some concerns about technical institutes' credibility and accountability, subjects in recent newspaper accounts. And it would direct the system to report on its newly developed tracking system for job placement after graduation.

The bill would also direct the Higher Education Advisory Council to set marketing standards for all postsecondary systems, and direct the Community College System and the University of Minnesota coordinate campuses to examine whether they can place more students in their technically oriented programs.

The bill goes next to a conference committee where House and Senate members will work on a compromise.

As the end of the session approaches, a member of the House of Representatives catches up on what's going on in the Senate while attending a House floor session.

Crime omnibus bill

After several hours of debate on the House Floor May 5, lawmakers passed HF59 (Kelly, DFL-St. Paul), the omnibus crime bill, on a vote of 127 to 4. The crime package would address, among other things, drug crimes, sexual assault and other violent crimes, drug abuse in schools, "cocaine babies," and the lack of community resources to deal with crime and poverty.

The bill proposes increased penalties for a variety of crimes, including car theft, drug dealing and possession, murder, and sexual assault. Key provisions would call for a sentence of life without parole for people whom courts convict of first-degree murder, and certain sex offenders who have a record of two consecutive convictions for criminal sexual conduct.

Lawmakers expect to settle differences between the House and Senate bills in a conference committee.

Sexual violence

A provision would require the commissioner of corrections to establish an intensive sex offender treatment program for certain prison inmates, and another similar program within a juvenile correctional facility. Juvenile courts would have to order both an independent professional assessment of juvenile sex offenders' treatment needs, and the necessary treatment.

It would also require the Bureau of Criminal Apprehension to develop uniform procedures for evidence collection in sexual assault cases, including collecting biological specimens for DNA analysis.

Drugs

A key measure would create a drug abuse prevention resource council. The council would develop guidelines for a statewide drug abuse prevention program, distribute information, and coordinate and provide technical assistance to local governments, groups, and individuals who seek funding for prevention programs. The council would also analyze the public and private costs of drug abuse prevention, enforcement, intervention, and treatment efforts.

Community resources program

The bill would also provide a community resources program to help stabilize families, increase self-sufficiency, reduce crime, and increase the capacity of neighborhood programs. Lawmakers say the program is designed to help neighborhoods deal with some of the underlying causes of crime and poverty.

Corrections

In the May 5 issue of the Session Weekly:

- page 3, first column, the highlight should refer to the Urban Revitalization Action Program or "URAP." The program is part of the governor's "Year of the Neighborhood" initiative, formerly called "Year of the City."

- page 6, first column, the note on the Battle Point Indian Historical Center should read:

"A provision in HF1758 (Rice, DFL-Mpls), the semi-states agencies funding bill, would provide $25,000 to the Leech Lake Chippewa Tribe for project planning assistance."

Notes

The House passed a resolution honoring Richard R. Green, former superintendent of the Minneapolis School District and most recently Chancellor of the New York City Schools. The resolution commemorates his achievements as an educator. Green died May 11 in New York at the age of 52.

Prisoners shouldn't spend their days in their cells, says Rep. Ron Abrams (IR-Minnetonka). Instead, they should work. Abrams successfully amended the omnibus health and human services budget bill May 4 to include a provision that would require inmates to work a full day. The amendment would also direct the corrections system to stay within its current budget when making necessary changes to bring about full-time employment for prisoners.

Corporate contributions through the "chickadee checkoff" would be possible under a provision in the state departments omnibus funding bill. Individual taxpayers can make contributions to Minnesota's Nongame Wildlife Management Account when they fill out state income tax forms. The contributions are either deducted from a scheduled refund or added to the taxes due.

Rattlesnake hunting will no longer be profitable in Minnesota. On May 9, the governor signed a bill into law that removes the bounty award for rattlesnakes. Rep. Bob Waltman (IR-Elgin) sponsored the House bill. County administrators will see a savings from the bounty's removal, he says.

Get ready to place your bets on races at Santa Anita, Churchill Downs, and Hialeah. Both the House and Senate approved a bill that would let Canterbury Downs conduct pari-mutuel betting on televised races on days when Canterbury isn't racing. The House agreed to changes the Senate made to HF707 (Kostohryz, DFL-North St. Paul), and repassed the measure on May 9.

A "computer virus" is a destructive program designed to destroy a computer's data, occupy its memory, or disable it. Those who pass along such programs could face criminal penalties ranging from 90 days in jail and a $700 fine to up to 10 years in jail and a $2,500 fine, under a bill both the House and Senate passed. The bill now goes to the governor for his signature.

U.S. marshalls will celebrate their bicentennial Sept. 24. President George Washington created and appointed the first 13 U.S. marshalls 200 years ago. Presently, 94 marshalls, whom the president appoints, serve in 94 judicial districts.

Employees would have guaranteed meal breaks under a bill both the House and Senate approved. HF30 (Carruthers, DFL-Brooklyn Center) would direct employers to provide a meal break to employees for every eight hours on the job. The House repassed the Senate-amended bill May 10.

State employees could donate vacation time to other employees to help pay for their noninsured medical expenses under a bill on its way to the governor for his signature. HF1027 (Janezich, DFL-Chisholm) would transform the time into a cash pool to pay the bills. The time/cash pool would benefit other state employees, their spouses, or dependents, and would help pay unreimbursed medical costs that total a minimum of $10,000.

Minnesotans celebrated "Statehood Day" May 11. President James Buchanan signed the bill to make Minnesota the 32nd state on May 11, 1858. Southern politicians opposed statehood for a free state. So Minnesota had to wait a year until the U.S. admitted Kansas, a slave state.

Do you know

Many people have come to know Minnesota as "the land of 10,000 lakes." They've seen that inscription on everything from license plates to souvenir cups and tee-shirts. But what most don't know is that Minnesota has more than 12,000 lakes within its boundaries.

According to P.S. Welch, an authority on lake terminology in the mid-1900s, a lake is "an area of open, relatively deep water, sufficiently large to produce somewhere on its periphery (outer surface) a barren wave-swept shore." Welch described ponds as "very small, very shallow bodies of standing water in which quiet water and extensive occupancy by higher aquatic plants are common characteristics."

Minnesota's largest lake is Red Lake in Beltrami County, with a water surface area of 451 square miles. In all, Minnesota has more than 90,000 miles of lake and river shoreline.
